Making Of A Special Relationship The Uni:

Japan's Cultural Policy Toward China, 1918-1931 See Heng Teow, 2020-03-23 Most existing scholarship on Japan's cultural policy toward modern China reflects the paradigm of cultural imperialism. In contrast, this study demonstrates that Japan, while motivated by pragmatic interests, international cultural rivalries, ethnocentrism, moralism, and idealism, was mindful of Chinese opinion and sought the cooperation of the Chinese government. Japanese policy stressed cultural communication and inclusiveness rather than cultural domination and exclusiveness and was part of Japan's search for an East Asian cultural order. China, however, was not a passive recipient and actively sought to redirect this policy to serve its national interests and aspirations. The author argues that it is time to move away from the framework of cultural imperialism toward one that recognizes the importance of cultural autonomy, internationalism, and transculturation.

Montana: A Cultural Medley Robert R. Swartout, Jr., 2015-06-15 The whole is greater than the sum of the parts when Montana historian Robert Swartout gathers the fascinating stories of the state's surprisingly diverse ethnic groups into this thought-provoking collection of essays. Fourteen chapters showcase an African American nightclub in Great Falls, a Japanese American war hero, the founding of a Métis community, Jewish merchants and Dutch settlement in the Gallatin Valley, as well as stories of Irish Scots, Chinese Finns, Mexican Americans, European war brides, and more. This Rebellious House Steven J. Keillor, 1996-10-03 Examining United States history from Columbus to Clinton, Steven J. Keillor disabuses us of the notion that our nation has ever been a genuinely Christian one. He focuses on various political, economic, and cultural policies or events, the Civil War, westward expansion, that are now often cited to disprove or debunk Christianity. The Law of Higher Education, A Comprehensive Guide to Legal Implications of Administrative Decision Making William A.
