The Philosophy of Fasting Edward Earle Purinton, 1906      PHILOSOPHY OF FASTING EDWARD EARLE. PURINTON, 2018      The Philosophy of Fasting Edward Purinton, 2016-06-06 The Philosophy of Fasting originally published by Edward Earle Purinton      The Philosophy of Fasting Edward E. Purinton, 1996-09      The Philosophy of Fasting (Classic Reprint) Edward Earle Purinton, 2017-09-17 Excerpt from The Philosophy of Fasting They endure only when cemented by feeling and aligned by purpose The field of literature is mostly a dreary brick yard with chipped and broken bits scattered about to mark what might have been had the builder known Life is the only literature that lives And if I had not first lived this book it would never be worth the writing To write for any other reason than that one must is to insult oneself and to martyr one's friends If you write only when you must you may not always be considerate to your friends But you will at least be true to yourself And the perusal of your writings can never be too hard a price to pay for knowing some one who is sincere Sincere humans are about as common as brave gazelles or compassionate tigers The Philosophy of Fasting is a plea for human sincerity and a treatise on human wholeness The first twenty five years of my life I was anything but whole Because I was anything but sincere I did not dare be true to myself or with my fellows Civilization classicism and orthodoxy had combined to make me appear what I was not and crucify what I was Body brain and soul I was burdened with a mass of externals that weighed heavier and sunk deeper day by day until the life was almost crushed out of me Born a weakling I was a semi invalid and chronic sufferer during most of my boyhood and youth Some fifteen forms of constitutional disease took turns troubling me until family friends and physicians began to despair of the outcome At one time I was taking six kinds of medicine weighed 110 pounds instead of 150 spent most of the time beside the fire or on the couch and threatened to become useless to myself and everybody else The ailments were chiefly nervous and digestive and were caused by inequalities of make up Inheriting from my father a brain incessantly active from my mother a soulsupersensitive and a physique small and tremulous from both an insatiable ambition I seemed unable to balance myself at all Wearing a man's hat at twelve I had the body of a boy of eight with a soul older than any I had ever met Naturally no one understood me And the greatest puzzle to me in the Universe was I to myself About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      Philosophy of Fasting Edward Earle Purinton, 1986-07-01      The Philosophy of Fasting; a Message for Sufferers and Sinners HardPress, Purinton Edward Earle 1878-, 2013-06 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy The Philosophy of Fasting Edward Purinton, 2003-02-01 Spiral Bound with card stock covers Acid free paper classic reprint Available in hardcover as well The Methodist new connexion magazine and evangelical repository, Fasting the Mind Jason Gregory, 2017-05-25 Combines cognitive psychology with Zen Taoist and Vedic practices to empty the mind Explains how eliminating external stimulation can alleviate stress and anxiety for a calmer state of mind Details meditation practices such as open awareness meditation contemplation of Zen koans and Vipassana meditation and explores methods of digital detox Draws on classical yoga Hinduism Buddhism and Taoism as well as cognitive science to explain how and why to fast the mind Stop planning stop comparing stop competing stop thinking and just breathe deeply for a minute Our undivided attention is something we are rarely able to give for reasons ranging from digital overload to the cultural conditioning of equating busyness with purpose Just as you might choose a fast from eating to detoxify the body the best way to overcome this modern mental overload is to periodically fast the mind Drawing on the spiritual philosophies and meditative practices of classical yoga Hinduism Buddhism and Taoism Jason Gregory explains how fasting the mind directly impacts your habits and way of being in the world to create peace and calmness in your life as well as allow you to build a firm psychological defense against the increasing bombardment of distractions in our world Applying psychology and cognitive science to samsara the cycle of suffering created by our attachment to the impermanent he explains how overreliance on the rational mind causes imbalances in the autonomic nervous system and suppresses our natural spontaneity feelings and intuition When we are unable to relax the mind deeply we enter a destabilizing state of stress and anxiety and are unable to liberate the true Self from the impermanence and limitations of the material world Sharing Zen Taoist and Vedic practices to help you empty your mind and gradually restore your natural rhythms the author shows how to give the mind time to truly relax from stimulation so it can repair itself and come back into equilibrium He details simple meditation practices that are easy to implement in daily life such as open awareness meditation and contemplation of Zen koans as well as the advanced techniques of Vipassana a Theravadic Buddhist discipline centered on seclusion from all worldly stimuli He also offers methods for digital detox and ensuring a good night's sleep a major support for healing cognitive impairment and restoring a state of equanimity By fasting the mind we strip away the distractions and stresses of modern life and return to our original nature as it exists deep within We become more consciously awake in every moment allowing us to feel the real beauty of the world and in turn to live life more fully authentically and peacefully American Phrenological Journal and Life Illustrated, 1908 Rational Therapy Alva A.
