Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation; a Book for the Times James Barr Walker, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1799 edition Excerpt CHAPTER XVI CONCERNING THE INFLUENCE OF FAITH IN CHRIST UPON IBB MORAL DISPOSITION AND MORAL POWERS OF THE SOUL It has been demonstrated that the teaching and atonement of God the Saviour would draw to him by faith the affections of the human heart We will now inquire what particular effect that faith in Christ which works by love has upon the moral disposition the conscience the imagination and the life of believers Would faith in Christ as a Divine suffering Saviour quicken and regulate and harmonize the moral powers of the soul 1 The influence of faith in Christ upon the moral disposition of the soul When its disposition Is affected the soul is affected to the centre of its being By disposition is meant the desires or predilections of the heart which influence the choice of the will to good or evil The radical difference of character in spirits depends upon their disposition The spirit that has a settled love for sin and hatred for holiness is a devil whether it be in time or eternity embodied or disembodied And that spirit which has a settled love for holiness is a benevolent spirit in whatever condition it exists A devil or malignant spirit is one that seeks its gratification in habitually doing evil A holy being or benevolent spirit is one that finds its gratification in habitually doing good Whatever therefore affects the moral disposition of the soul affects radically the character of the soul It becomes therefore a question of the deepest interest What effect will faith in Christ have upon man s moral disposition The solution of this inquiry is not difficult Is Jesus Christ holy All Christendom sceptics and believers answers in the affirmative Now the love of a holy being

Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation James Barr Walker, Walker, James Barr, 1866 Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation James B. James B. Walker, 2018-05-05 During some of the first years of the writer s active life he was a sceptic he had a friend who has since become well known as a lawyer and legislator who was also sceptical in his opinions We were both conversant with the common evidences of Christianity None of them convinced our minds of the Divine origin of the Christian religion although we both thought ourselves willing to be convinced by sufficient evidence Circumstances which need not be named led the writer to examine the Bible and to search for other evidence than that which had been commended to his attention by a much esteemed clerical friend who presided in one of our colleges The result of the examination was a thorough conviction in the author s mind of the truth and Divine authority of Christianity He supposed at that time that in his inquiries he had adopted the only true method to settle the question in the minds of all intelligent inquirers in relation to the Divine origin of the Christian religion Subsequent reflection has confirmed this opinion Convinced himself of the Divine origin of the religion of the Bible the author commenced a series of letters to convey to his friend the evidence which had satisfied his own mind beyond the possibility of doubt The correspondence was by the pressure of business engagements interrupted The investigation was continued however when leisure would permit for a number of years The results of this investigation are contained in the following chapters The epistolary form in which a portion of the book was first written will account for some repetitions and some varieties in the style which otherwise might
