Photographic Heritage Of The Holy Land 1839-1914:

Photographic Heritage of the Holy Land, 1839-1914 Eyal Onne, 1980      Visualising Britain's Holy Land in the Nineteenth Century Amanda M. Burritt, 2020-04-11 This book demonstrates the complexity of nineteenth century Britain's engagement with Palestine and its surrounds through the conceptual framing of the region as the Holy Land. British engagement with the region of the Near East in the nineteenth century was multi-faceted and part of its complexity was exemplified in the powerful relationship between developing and diverse Protestant theologies, visual culture and imperial identity. Britain's Holy Land was visualised through pictorial representation which helped Christians to imagine the land in which familiar Bible stories took place. This book explores ways in which the geopolitical Holy Land was understood as embodying biblical land, biblical history and biblical typology. Through case studies of three British artists: David Roberts, David Wilkie and William Holman Hunt, this book provides a nuanced interpretation of some of the motivations, religious perspectives, attitudes and behaviours of British Protestants in their relationship with the Near East at the time.

Revealing the Holy Land Kathleen Stewart Howe, Santa Barbara Museum of Art, St. Louis Art Museum, 1997 This is the catalog for an exhibition of ninety nineteenth century photographs drawn primarily from the world class collection of Michael G. Wilson. Included are the starkly beautiful photographs of Sergeant James McDonald's surveys of Palestine and Jerusalem, recently discovered photographs by Ernest Benecke and the rare photographs by Maxime Du Camp taken in 1850 as he traveled with Flaubert. With the invention of photography and the increasing popularity of travel in the mid nineteenth century, the Holy Land became one of the most photographed places on earth. Interest in Jerusalem and Palestine was particularly pronounced in England, partly because of England's need to control its routes to the riches of India, but also because of Britain's cultural identification with the people and lands of the Bible. Imperial ambition and deeply ingrained cultural associations resulted in a surge of photographic activity in Palestine. McDonald's photographs from surveys of Jerusalem and the Sinai epitomize the dual imperatives of Bible and Empire. Photography provided a new standard for authenticity in pictorial representations. Early photographs were considered the ultimate bearers of reality at a time when viewers had not yet lost their naive faith in the objective accuracy of photography. Throughout the last half of the nineteenth century, the Holy Land drew legions of photographers, amateurs recording a stop on the Grand Tour, academics pursuing archaeological theories, military surveyors, all trying to capture the truthfulness of a land that had enormous spiritual, emotional and political connotations for most of the Western world. What they saw and how they saw it are the themes of this beautifully recorded collection.      Francis Bedford, Landscape Photography and Nineteenth-century British Culture Stephanie Spencer, 2011 Focusing on one representative figure, Francis Bedford, this study emphasizes how photographs operated to form and transmit cultural ideas and values. The first writing on Bedford since the 1970s, the book examines this premier photographer who was also commercially successful. Major themes include the intersection of nature and culture, the practice of nineteenth century tourism attitudes toward historical identity and the formation of a national identity in England and Wales      Travel Writing, Visual Culture, and Form, 1760-1900 Brian H. Murray, Mary Henes, 2016-03-18 This collection reveals the variety of literary forms and visual media through which travel records were conveyed in the long nineteenth century bringing together a group of leading researchers from a range of disciplines to explore the relationship between travel writing visual representation and formal innovation      Gender, Orientalism and the Jewish Nation Lynne M. Swarts, 2020-01-23 Ephraim Moses Lilien 1874 1925 was one of the most important Jewish artists of modern times As a successful illustrator photographer painter and printer he became the first major Zionist artist Surprisingly there has been little in depth scholarly research and analysis of Lilien s work available in English making this book an important contribution to historical and art historical scholarship Concentrating mainly on his illustrations for journals and books Lynne Swarts acknowledges the importance of Lilien s groundbreaking male iconography in Zionist art but is the first to examine Lilien s complex and nuanced depiction of women which comprised a major dimension of his work Lilien s female images offer a compelling glimpse of an alternate independent and often sexually liberated modern Jewish woman a portrayal that often eluded the Zionist imagination Using an interdisciplinary approach to integrate intellectual and cultural history with issues of gender Jewish history and visual culture Swarts also explores the important fin de si cle tensions between European and Oriental expressions of Jewish femininity The work demonstrates that Lilien was not a minor figure in the European art scene but a major figure whose work needs re reading in light of his cosmopolitan and national artistic genius      Modern Art and the Idea of the Mediterranean Vojtech Jirat-Wasiuty?ski, Anne Elizabeth Dymond, Vojt?ch Jirat-Wasiuty?ski, 2007-01-01 The Mediterranean is an invented cultural space on the frontier between North and South West and East Modern Art and the Idea of the Mediterranean examines the representation of this region in the visual arts since the late eighteenth century placing the idea of the Mediterranean a cultural construct rather than a physical reality at the centre of our understanding of modern visual culture This collection of essays features an international group of scholars who examine competing visions of the Mediterranean in terms of modernity and cultural identity questioning and illuminating both European and non European representations An introductory essay frames the analysis in terms of a new spatial paradigm of the Mediterranean as a geographic historical and cultural region that emerged in the late eighteenth century as France and Britain colonized the surrounding territories Essays are grouped around three vital themes visualization of the space of the new Mediterranean varied uses of the classical paradigm and issues of identity and resistance in an age of modernity and colonialism Drawing on recent geographical historical cultural and anthropological studies contributors address the visual representation of identity in both the European and the Oriental the colonial and post colonial Mediterranean      Jerusalem Tamar Mayer, Suleiman A. Mourad, 2008-05-09 With contributions from many noted scholars in a wide range of fields this is a multidisciplinary study of one of the world s great cities that is of enormous historical religious and political significance      Tracing the Jerusalem

Picturing Empire James R. Ryan, 2013-06-01 Coinciding with the extraordinary expansion of Britain's overseas empire under Queen Victoria the invention of photography allowed millions to see what they thought were realistic and unbiased pictures of distant peoples and places This supposed accuracy also helped to legitimate Victorian geography's illuminations of the darkest recesses of the globe with the light of scientific mapping techniques But as James R Ryan argues in Picturing Empire Victorian photographs reveal as much about the imaginative landscapes of imperial culture as they do about the real subjects captured within their frames Ryan considers the role of photography in the exploration and domestication of foreign landscapes in imperial warfare in the survey and classification of racial types in hunting with the camera and in teaching imperial geography to British schoolchildren Ryan's careful exposure of the reciprocal relation between photographic image and imperial imagination will interest all those concerned with the cultural history of the British Empire

Cities of God David Gange, Michael Ledger-Lomas, 2013-10-17 The history of archaeology is generally told as the making of a secular discipline In nineteenth century Britain however archaeology was enmeshed with questions of biblical authority and so with religious as well as narrowly scholarly concerns In unearthing the cities of the Eastern Mediterranean travellers archaeologists and their popularisers transformed thinking on the truth of Christianity and its place in modern cities This happened at a time when anxieties over the unprecedented rate of urbanisation in Britain coincided with critical challenges to biblical truth In this context cities from Jerusalem to Rome became contested models for the adaptation of Christianity to modern urban life Using sites from across the biblical world this book evokes the appeal of the ancient city to diverse groups of British Protestants in their arguments with one another and with their secular and Catholic rivals about the vitality of their faith in urban Britain
