Photographic Glimpses Of The North West:

The Land of Ridge and Valley: A Photographic History of the Northwest Georgia Mountains Donald S. Davis, 2000-11-08
The mountains of Northwest Georgia encapsulate a lifetime of rich and varied stories both of the land and its own natural bounty and the countless people who have drawn sustenance from its resources The historic photographs within these pages depict all facets of life in the region and recall the tumultuous changes that came along with the advent of mining the demise of the Native American community and the appearance of new industries Today as technology paves the way for a bright future the signs of life in an earlier era are scattered throughout this mountainous region abandoned homesteads and forlorn mining sites evoke memories of a past when the first mine prospectors dug deep into the mountains uncovering thousands of tons of precious ores for the insatiable engines of commerce and industry The discovery of valuable minerals such as talc bauxite and shale put the region at the forefront of domestic mining and shaped the overall character of the growing community Captured in this volume are the enterprising settlers who first worked the land the homes farms and industries they built and the major environmental social and cultural transformations that occurred in Northwest Georgia throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Coupled with an informative text these snapshots of days gone by shed new light upon two centuries of progress marked by triumphs and setbacks and the collective spirit of an unyielding and determined people

Go Do Some Great Thing Kilian Crawford, 2020-10-10 Living in pre Civil War Philadelphia young Black activist Mifflin Gibbs was feeling disheartened from fighting the overwhelming tide of White America's legalized racism when abolitionist Julia Griffith encouraged him to go do some great thing These words helped inspire him to become a successful merchant in San Francisco and then to seek a more just society in the new colony of Vancouver Island where he was to become a prominent citizen and elected official Gibbs joined a movement of Black American emigrants fleeing the increasingly oppressive and anti Black Californian legal system in 1858 They hoped to establish themselves in a new country where they would have full access to the rights of citizenship and would be free to seek success and stability Some six hundred Black Californians made the trip to Victoria in the midst of the Fraser River Gold Rush but their hopes of finding a welcoming new home were ultimately disappointed They were to encounter social segregation disenfranchisement limited employment opportunities and rampant discrimination But in spite of the opposition and racism they faced these pioneers played a pivotal role in the emerging province establishing an all Black militia unit to protect against American invasion casting deciding votes in the 1860 election and helping to build the province as teachers miners artisans entrepreneurs and merchants Crawford Kilian brings this vibrant period of British Columbia's history to life evoking the chaos and opportunity of Victoria's gold rush boom and describing the fascinating lives of prominent Black pioneers and trailblazers from Sylvia Stark and Saltspring Island's notable Stark family to lifeguard and special constable Joe Fortes who taught a generation of Vancouverites to swim Since its original publication in 1978 Go Do Some Great Thing has remained foundational reading on the history of Black pioneers in BC Updated and with a new foreword by Adam Rudder the third edition of this under told story describes the hardships and triumphs of BC's first Black citizens and their legacy in the province today Partial proceeds from each copy sold will be donated to the Hogan's Alley Society

Photography and American Coloniality Raoul J. Granqvist, 2017-04-01 This book is the first to question both why and how the colonialist mythologies represented by the work of photographer Eliot Elisofon persist It documents and discusses a heterogeneous practice of American coloniality of power as it explores Elisofon's career as war photographer correspondent and staff photographer for LIFE filmmaker author artist and collector of primitive art and sculpture It focuses on three areas Elisofon's narcissism voyeurism and sexism his involvement in the homogenizing of Western social orders and colonial legacies and his enthused mission of sending home a mass of still life photographs annexed African artifacts and assumed vintage knowledge The book does not challenge his artistic merit or his fascinating personality what it does question is his production and imagining of difference As the text
