Feeling Strangely in Mid-Century Spanish and Latin American Women's Fiction Tess C. Rankin,2023-12-15 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library as part of the Opening the Future project with COPIM The early twentieth century was awash in revolutionary scientific discourse and its uptake in the public imaginary through popular scientific writings touched every area of human experience from politics and governance to social mores and culture Feeling Strangely argues that these shifting scientific understandings and their integration into Hispanic and Lusophone society reshaped the experience of gender The book analyzes gender as a felt experience and explores how that experience is shaped by popular scientific discourse by examining the strange femininity of young protagonists in four novels written by women in Spanish and Portuguese Rosa Chacel's Memorias de Leticia Valle published in Argentina in 1945 Norah Lange's Personas en la sala Argentina 1950 Carmen Laforet's Nada Spain 1945 and Clarice Lispector's Perto do cora o selvagem Brazil 1943 It pairs each novel with a broad scientific theme selected from those that captured the contemporary popular imagination to argue that the young female protagonists in these novels all put forth visions of young womanhood as an experience of strangeness Building on Carmen Mart n Gaite's term chicas raras Rankin proposes this strangeness as constitutive of a gendered experience inextricable from affective and material engagements with the world

Nomadic Text Brennan W. Breed, 2014-05-13 Brennan W Breed claims that biblical interpretation should focus on the shifting capacities of the text viewing it as a dynamic process rather than a static product Rather than seeking to determine the original text and its meaning Breed proposes that scholars approach the production transmission and interpretation of the biblical text as interwoven elements of its overarching reception history Grounded in the insights of contemporary literary theory this approach alters the framing questions of interpretation from What does this text mean to What can this text do
