Reading for Rhetoric: Applications to Writing, 1972 Reading and Writing for Civic Literacy Donald Lazere, 2015-12-03

This brief edition of a groundbreaking textbook addresses the need for college students to develop critical reading, writing, and thinking skills for self-defense in the contentious arena of American civic rhetoric. Designed for first-year or more advanced composition and critical thinking courses, it is one-third shorter than the original edition, more affordable for students, and easier for teachers to cover in a semester or quarter. It incorporates up-to-date new readings and analysis of controversies like the growing inequality of wealth in America and the debates in the 2008 presidential campaign expressed in opposing viewpoints from the political left and right. Exercises help students understand the ideological positions and rhetorical patterns that underlie such opposing views. Widely debated issues of whether objectivity is possible and whether there is a liberal or conservative bias in news and entertainment media as well as in education itself are foregrounded as topics for rhetorical analysis.

How to Talk About Spiritual Encounters Peter J. Adams,2020-07-27 This book develops a new and innovative way of understanding how language is used when people describe their spiritual and mystical encounters Early chapters provide overviews of the nature of spiritual encounters how commonly they occur and the role of language The book then develops a unique way of understanding the dynamics of talking about spirituality using original research to support this perspective In particular Peter J Adams explores how this characteristically vague way of speaking can be viewed as an intentional and not an incidental aspect of such communications because certain types of vagueness have the capacity to engage the imaginative participation of receptive listeners This expressive vagueness is achieved by embedding missing bits or gaps in the flow of what is described and these in turn provide sites for listeners to insert their own content Later chapters focus on practical ways people including helping professionals can improve their skills in talking about their spiritual encounters All content is situated in caf conversations between four people each of whom is in their own way concerned with the challenges they face in converting the content of their encounters into words
