Stephen Kelly, 2004-08     The IMC Sourcebook Susan Jones, 2018-03-30 Some of the world's most respected marketing and advertising professors combined their talents to create the 11 fresh and relevant cases in this Integrated Marketing Communications text. The book also features authoritative readings to prepare students and instructors to get the most out of the cases they study and discuss. The cases subjects include some of the world's most dynamic marketing organizations including Burger King, Shinola, and Pacific Gas and Electric. It also introduces some fascinating lesser-known organizations such as BowTie, Cause Flowers for Dreams, and Save the Redwoods. Topics for the readings include social media, the future of advertising, diversity and multiculturalism, and omnichannel marketing. This book is ideal for courses in marketing, advertising, integrated marketing communications, and communications at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. The readings and cases also are excellent for use by seminar companies and for internal marketing training. A comprehensive set of Teaching Notes is available upon request from the Midwest Marketing Education Foundation <https://www.mefgroup.org>     The IMC Handbook J. Stephen Kelly, Susan K. Jones, Richard A. Hagle, 2015 A collection of essays and cases on customer-centered marketing by educators and practitioners in the field. As long as there have been buyers, makers, and sellers, there have been marketing challenges and opportunities. Historically, the seller had immediate and personal contact with the buyer in the market or the bazaar. While the system was personal, it wasn't very efficient. As the marketplace evolved, it became more complex, and the makers and sellers invented what we now call marketing to solve the lack of maker-buyer closeness. In its simplest form, marketing is a number of activities makers/sellers use in an attempt to close the gap between themselves and the buyer. For example, the maker/seller now uses tools such as customer research, logistics, and distribution, marketing communication, and the like. From Part I Reading 1     Marketing Communications Lynne Eagle, Barbara Czarnecka, Stephan Dahl, Jenny Lloyd, 2014-08-27 With the proliferation of digital and social media, there has never been a more dynamic time to engage with marketing communications, and never has the integration of marketing communications principles into a strategic marketing plan been more challenging.
