Reading List on Modern Dramatists: D'Annunzio, Hauptmann, Ibsen, Maeterlinck, Phillips, Rostand, Shaw and Sudermann Clara A. Mulliken Norton, 1907 Cyrano de Bergerac , 1990 Cyrano de Bergerac Edmond de Rostand, 2024-05-27 On December 27 1897 Cyrano de Bergerac premiered in Paris with resounding success The play freely inspired by the life and work of the libertine writer Savinien de Cyrano de Bergerac 1619 1655 became one of the most popular works in French theater and the most famous work of its author Edmond Rostand It has also been adapted into numerous and award winning film versions Theater critics say that the success of Cyrano de Bergerac is mainly due to its conversion into a popular symbol embodying the ideal of the people by presenting a man who despises the powerful is courageous noble in sentiment sensitive and capable of sacrificing himself for others happiness The undeniable fact is that Cyrano in its multiple versions has captivated millions of people worldwide It is a timeless work that undoubtedly deserves to be seen and read Reading with a Purpose , 1927 The Temple University Catalogue Temple University, 1911 The Guide to Reading Lyman Abbott, Asa Don Dickinson, 1924 Manual to Readings in Contemporary Literature Ernest Hanes, Martha Jane McCoy, 1928 Conrad's Reading Helen Chambers, 2018-04-18 This book aligns concepts and methods from book history with new literary research on a globally studied writer An innovative three part approach combining close reading the evidence of reading scrutiny of international book distribution circuits and of Conrad's many fictional representations of reading illuminates his childhood maritime and later shore based reading After an overview of the empirical evidence of Conrad's reading his sparsely documented twenty years reading at sea and in port is reconstructed An examination the reading practices of his famous narrator Marlow then serves to link Conrad's own maritime and shore based reading Conrad's subsequent networked reading shared with his closest male friends and with literate multilingual women is examined within the context of Edwardian reading practices. His fictional representations of reading and material texts are highlighted throughout including genre trends, periodical reading, reading spaces and their lighting and the use of reading as therapy. The book should appeal both to Conrad scholars and to historians of reading.

Readers and Society in Nineteenth-Century France M. Lyons, 2001-07-24 In the nineteenth century the reading public expanded to embrace new categories of consumers especially of cheap fiction. These new lower class and female readers frightened liberals, Catholics and republicans alike. The study focuses on workers, women and peasants and the ways in which their reading was constructed as a social and political problem to analyse the fear of reading in nineteenth century France. The author presents a series of case studies of actual readers to examine their choices and their practices and to evaluate how far they responded to or subverted attempts at cultural domination.

Powers of Reading Peter Szendy, 2025-03-11 A historical literary and philosophical study that transforms our understanding of reading. Peter Szendy offers a subtle persuasive and unprecedented account of the time of reading and its scene of address, one that is as archaic as it is contemporary. When we read, are we listening to a voice or being read to? If it is not a private and monologic exercise, how do we understand the populated scene of reading? What reads when we read and how does reading push and pull between temporalities and voices? Why do we keep leaving the text when we seek to obey the injunction to stay within its terms? Questions such as these produce a fresh even startling consideration of a wide range of literary and popular texts including Hobbes' Leviathan, Flaubert's Madame Bovary, Kant's moral injunctions, Sade, Valéry, Blanchot and de Certeau but also modern fiction, film, audiobooks and hypertext. The power of reading turns out to belong to its surprising engagement with time and direction: the deliberate reader stays close but strays, tries to fill in the gaps but gets pushed back by a countercurrent. The key to the text is sought outside only to be led back to the text and its failure to deliver a final answer. Equally at odds with older versions of literary formalism that insist on the self-referentiality of the text as well as contextualists who scour an external social order to discover the truth of the text, Szendy approaches that very conflict as an oscillation constitutive of reading itself. Paradoxically, reading is sustained precisely by what interrupts its teleological flow. The result is a comic, profound and timely reconceptualization of reading which rushes forward only to find itself pushed back into the heart of the text which discovers that this incessant breaking from the text, this headlong rushing ahead to the world outside the text, is a sequence of overreach, delay and return that forms the ragged rhythm of reading itself. Powers of Reading is a patient, brilliant and illuminating inquiry into the crosscurrents of voice and address, one that speaks to the speed and complexity of our time, how we are upended by our forward propulsions to consider how multiple voice, action and passivity are all rearranged in the scene of reading.
