Graaskamp: Ten Years After* James R. DeLisle, Elaine Worzala, 2012-12-06 As the title indicates Essays in Honor of James A Graaskamp Ten Years After is a collection of essays written to honor Graaskamp s major contributions to the field of real estate education and practice over the course of three decades Upon his death in 1988 the industry lost a major influence for advancing the real estate discipline both as an academic field and a professional field The authors in this volume seek to extend Graaskamp s contributions and move the real estate discipline forward The papers address the challenges posed by the market to return our attention to real estate fundamentals and to strike a proper balance between Main Street and Wall Street The authors and editors hope that this book will influence the industry to incorporate many of Graaskamp s ideas into mainstream real estate education and practice

Over the course of his career Graaskamp made many noteworthy contributions to real estate theory and practice ideas that if resurrected could offset some of the pressure in the industry to move away from market fundamentals The authors try to capture the essence of Graaskamp's messages and intend that the papers serve as a point of departure for discussing the future role and nature of real estate education Part I focuses on the major contributions to the real estate discipline made by Graaskamp and the Wisconsin Real Estate Program Part II contains some personal recollections and photos of Graaskamp and also a summary of the groups that make up the Wisconsin Real Estate Program a major co sponsor of this volume The rest of the book's three main parts are structured around major topics that reflect the multidisciplinary nature of real estate as espoused by Graaskamp Part III treats real estate feasibility and development Part IV concentrates on real estate valuation and Part V discusses institutional economics

The Nature of Urban Land Economics and Its Relation to Urban Land Use Richard Bruce Andrews, 1978 Urban Land Rent Anne Haila, 2015-12-14 In Urban Land Rent Anne Haila uses Singapore as a case study to develop an original theory of urban land rent with important implications for urban studies and urban theory Provides a comprehensive analysis of land rent theory and the modern city Examines the question of land from a variety of perspectives as a resource ideologies interventions in the land market actors in the land market the global scope of land markets and investments in land Details the Asian development state model historical and contemporary land regimes public housing models and the development industry for Singapore and several other cities Incorporates discussion of the modern real estate market with reference to real estate investment trusts sovereign wealth funds investing in real estate and the fusion between sophisticated financial instruments and real estate Urban Land, 2009-09 2014

Deborah L. Brett, Adrienne Schmitz, 2009 First ed entered under Adrienne Schmitz Urban and Regional Data Management Massimo Rumor, Volker Coors, Elfriede M. Fendel, Sisi Zlatanova, 2007-10-04 Spatial technologies like GIS CAD and spatial DBMS have proved their applicability and usability in almost every sector of urban development Urban Planning Systems Public Participation Systems and others have been continuously developed and improved contributing to better decision making communicating ideas between different actors as well as Privatization of Urban Land in Shanghai Ling Hin Li, 1996-10-01 This book provides researchers and practitioners with an informed study of the land and real estate market in Shanghai While there are a number of well researched books devoted to studying the economic consequences of China's transition to the capitalist market system few are written about the country's privatization of land control This book fills the gap by examining the land market mechanism arising from the land use rights reform in Shanghai which has important implications for real estate development in China as a whole Urban Land Reform in China L. Hin, 1999-05-10 Provides an authoritative account of urban land reform in China which is unique in merging the existing socialist landowner system with market mechanisms The book starts with an historical account of the land tenure system in China followed by discussions of the reform within its legal administrative and financial frameworks Routledge Revivals: Urban Land and Property Markets in Italy (1996) Gastone Ave, 2018-06-12 Originally published in 1996 Urban Land and Property Markets describes the intricacies of the Italian urban planning system and the interconnections between the property sector the national economy and recent historical developments including the new challenges facing Italy after the early 1990s collapse of the party system The book's underlying thesis is that property values are ultimately created by urban planning and investment in infrastructure Negotiations between local government and developers focus on three basic issues the ultimate use of urban land the quantitative control of development via planning permissions relating to city master plans and the nature of public investment to support growth and property values Mass Appraisal Methods Tom Kauko, Maurizio d'Amato, 2009-01-28 This book takes a cross disciplinary and cross cultural look at mass appraisal expertise for property valuation in different market conditions and offers some cutting edge approaches The editors establish an international platform and present the scientific debate as well as practical feasibility considerations Heretic and orthodox valuation methods are assessed based on specific criteria partly technical and partly institutional Methodological evaluation is approached using two types of criteria operational concerns about how to determine property value differentials between spatial and functional units of real estate in a valid and reliable way technical criteria and the kind of market circumstances being operated in institutional criteria While technical criteria are relatively well researched there is little theoretically informed work on the connection between country context and selection of property appraisal methods The book starts with an examination of current mass property appraisal practices presenting case studies from widely differing markets from the American and Dutch where regression based methods have been used successfully for some time to the Eastern European and other emerging economies where limitations have to be compensated by focusing on the modelling assumptions The second part of the book looks at sophisticated modelling approaches some of which represent combinations of elements from two or more techniques Whatever the exact modelling approach the requirements are always high for the quality of the data and suitability of the method In the final section methods are evaluated and compared according to technical criteria and against institutional contexts With its exceptionally wide coverage of valuation issues Mass Appraisal Methods an international perspective for property valuers addresses property valuation problems common to different countries and approaches applicable in both developed and emerging economies Urban Ecology John Marzluff, Eric Shulenberg, Wilfried Endlicher, Marina Alberti, Gordon Bradley, Clare Ryan, Craig ZumBrunnen, Ute Simon, 2008-01-03 Urban Ecology is a rapidly growing field of academic and practical significance Urban ecologists have published several conference proceedings and regularly contribute to the ecological architectural planning and geography literature However important papers in the field that set the foundation for the discipline and illustrate modern approaches from a variety of perspectives and regions of the world have not been collected in a single accessible book Foundations of Urban Ecology does this by reprinting important European and American publications filling gaps in the published literature with a few targeted original works and translating key works originally published in German This edited volume will provide students and professionals with a rich background in all facets of urban ecology The editors emphasize the drivers patterns processes and effects of human settlement The papers they synthesize provide readers with a broad understanding of the local and global aspects of settlement through traditional natural and social science lenses This interdisciplinary vision gives the reader a comprehensive view of the urban ecosystem by introducing drivers patterns processes and effects of human settlements and the relationships between humans and other animals plants ecosystem processes and abiotic conditions The reader learns how human institutions health and preferences influence and are influenced by the others members of their shared urban ecosystem California.
