

Real Estate Case Study

Overview
Rutherford Estate is one of the country's leading real estate companies. Since its start in 1950, the company has earned its spot in the Top 5 most reliable real estate companies in the country. Rutherford currently employs 30 licensed real estate agents who all gained their licenses through a national program from working with the company.

For the past five years, the company made over $84.5 million from the sale of 23 residential properties. This is one of the lowest in the history of Rutherford. The company has a large gap in ensuring the continuity of good workforce skills by not actively recruiting young agents in the previous years. Approximately half of the older real estate agents are retiring.

Challenges
Rutherford understood the three challenges of the situation. First, the company must implement a training and development course for the new real estate agents so they can acquire the techniques of Rutherford's past agents. Second, Rutherford must outsource its recruitment to a professional recruitment agency to ensure a steady workforce and skills continuity. Third, in this phase of operations, the company must rectify its strategies to meet the capabilities of its largely new workforce and the overhead expenses associated with this.

Solutions
Rutherford launched the Rutherford Technique Development Programme which contained three modules: theoretical knowledge of real estate, the Rutherford technique, and practical applications. All 23 new real estate agents passed the practical applications. After a month, Rutherford saw a 48% improvement in its operations relative to the past three months. More equipped teams were created based on their performances in the program and they made 43 leads where 31 of which were successfully closed. Meanwhile, the company partnered with Keeling Recruitment. Because of the rapid improvement, Rutherford stuck to its original target but allocated the needed resources for the program.

Conclusion

Even though Rutherford adapted to the challenge, it learned to always keep a good foresight of its operations to prevent unnecessary problems to arise.

Mass Appraisal Methods Tom Kauko, Maurizio d'Amato, 2009-01-28 This book takes a cross disciplinary and cross cultural look at mass appraisal expertise for property valuation in different market conditions and offers some cutting edge approaches The editors establish an international platform and present the scientific debate as well as practical feasibility considerations Heretic and orthodox valuation methods are assessed based on specific criteria partly technical and partly institutional Methodological evaluation is approached using two types of criteria operational concerns about how to determine property value differentials between spatial and functional units of real estate in a valid and reliable way technical criteria and the kind of market circumstances being operated in institutional criteria While technical criteria are relatively well researched there is little theoretically informed work on the connection between country context and selection of property appraisal methods The book starts with an examination of current mass property appraisal practices presenting case studies from widely differing markets from the American and Dutch where regression based methods have been used successfully for some time to the Eastern European and other emerging economies where limitations have to be compensated by focusing on the modelling assumptions The second part of the book looks at sophisticated modelling approaches some of which represent combinations of elements from two or more techniques Whatever the exact modelling approach the requirements are always high for the quality of the data and suitability of the method In the final section methods are evaluated and compared according to technical criteria and against institutional contexts With its exceptionally wide coverage of valuation issues Mass Appraisal Methods an international perspective for property valuers addresses property valuation problems common to different countries and approaches applicable in both developed and emerging economies
