

The West Of Ireland And The Atlantic Coast

Sea, Sky and Mountain

The Cliffs of Moher, Wm. Turner

The winds that blow so frequently over Ireland have played a major part in shaping both her landscape and history. They are a constant factor in the climate and there are few days in the year when the air is still. Savage western gales from the Atlantic, icy gusts crossing Europe from Siberia and warm African breezes originating in the Sahara, all end up on the Irish shores. These never-ending patterns of winds cause the changes in light which make the landscape hazy and moored on one day and bright and clear on another.

Donough, Wm. Turner

Ireland, particularly in its western regions, is a land of horizons made glorious by towering, cloudy skies. The artist Paul Henry captured this aspect brilliantly in his landscape paintings, placing huddled cottages against dark hills and mountains dwarfed by huge skies. More than anything else, perhaps, the relationship between the western coasts and the world beyond is defined by the vast emptiness that stretches to the western horizon from cliffs where the land deeply meets the wild Atlantic sea.

The unique western Irish landscape must be amongst the most beautiful in the world. Since man first arrived on these coasts, great forests of oak and elm have disappeared from the slopes of the mountains, whilst blanket bogs have formed a shroud over arable lands that once held the settlements of Neolithic pastoralists. Yet the bones of the land remain the same; now, as then, its impressive peaks still rise from the western edge of Ireland to break the flatness of her central plains.

The Gallarus Window, Dingle, Co. Kerry

Like human beings everywhere, the Irish have given a central role to mountains in their mythology as the homes of the Gods. Yet the meanness of the comparatively low Irish peaks suggests an unconscious intimacy between the deities of the high places and

Real Ireland People Landscape:

Real Ireland Liam Blake, Brendan Kennelly, 1984 Real Ireland Brendan Kennelly, 1984-03-01 The Real Ireland Harvey O'Brien, 2004 The Real Ireland is the first study of Irish documentary film but more than that it is a study of Ireland itself of how the idea of Ireland evolved throughout the twentieth century and how documentary cinema both recorded and participated in the process of change More than just a film studies work it is a discussion of history politics and culture which also explores the philosophical roots of the documentary idea and how this idea informs concepts of society self and nation It features rare and previously unseen illustrations and a detailed documentary filmography the first of its kind in print anywhere Landscapes of Neolithic Ireland Gabriel Cooney, 2012-12-06 Landscapes of Neolithic Ireland is the first volume to be devoted solely to the Irish Neolithic using an innovative landscape and anthropological perspective to provide significant new insights on the period Gabriel Cooney argues that the archaeological evidence demonstrates a much more complex picture than the current orthodoxy on Neolithic Europe with its assumption of mobile lifestyles suggests He integrates the study of landscape settlement agriculture material culture and burial practice to offer a rounded realistic picture of the complexities and the realities of Neolithic lives and societies in Ireland Rural Ireland, Real Ireland? Jacqueline Genet, 1996 This collection draws a picture of rural Ireland through Irish literature from the 18th century with William Chaigneau Maria Edgeworth and Lady Morgan through the numerous rich productions of the 19th century up to the present time with Patrick Kavanagh and Flann O'Brien Ireland Andy O'Halpin, Conor Newman, 2006-10-26 Ireland is a country rich in archaeological sites Ireland An Oxford Archaeological Guide provides the ultimate handbook to this fascinating heritage Covering the entire island of Ireland from Antrim to Wexford Dublin to Sligo the book contains over 250 plans and illustrations of Ireland's major archaeological treasures and covers sites dating from the time of the first settlers in prehistoric times right up to the seventeenth century The book opens with a useful introduction to the history of Ireland setting the archaeological material in its wider historical context and then takes the reader on an unparalleled journey through the major sites and places of interest Each chapter focuses on a particular geographical region and is introduced by a useful survey of the history and geography of the region in question This is followed by detailed descriptions of the major archaeological sites within each region arranged alphabetically and including travel directions historical overview of the site and details of the site's major features and the latest available archaeological evidence As the most comprehensive and detailed compact guide to the archaeological sites of Ireland this new volume will prove invaluable to archaeologists students of Irish history and tourists alike Medbh McGuckian Borbála Faragó, 2014-03-27 This book offers a wide ranging analysis of the entire corpus of Medbh McGuckian's published work Its objective is to provide both a readable synthesis of existing criticism in a fashion which will be generally useful to academics and students and also to offer an original contribution to the field of contemporary Irish literary studies on the basis of new research The book investigates a variety of previously neglected themes in particular McGuckian's exploration of ideas of creativity and performativity in her poetry. Over the past two decades McGuckian has been recognized by both her fellow poets and by literary critics as one of the most original, daring and important poetic voices in contemporary Ireland. Since 1982 she has published fifteen volumes of poetry, extraordinary not merely for its sustained quality and linguistic and technical virtuosity but also for its constant evolution and reinvention. This book provides an original perspective on her work both thematically and methodologically. From a thematic perspective the process of artistic creation is a key preoccupation of McGuckian's poetry which recurs in every volume of her oeuvre but has previously escaped critical attention. By adapting and refining theories of singularity and creativity the book allows for a coherent analysis of this central aspect of McGuckian's work. Methodologically it differs from previous studies in the scope of its approach. Uniquely it pursues its investigation across the entire breadth of the poet's published output and emphasizes the thematic unity of individual volumes in the light of the poet's constant change and development. Throughout the book the reading of McGuckian's work concentrates on poems in their entirety, an approach which has not figured to any notable degree in the existing secondary literature on the poet, not least because of the perceived difficulty of her writing. A critical investigation, however, which respects both the integrity of the individual poems and the internal coherence of her various volumes allows for a far deeper understanding both of the poet's thematic preoccupations and of the evolution of her distinctive poetic voice. Environmental Issues in Political Discourse in Britain and Ireland Gilles Leydier, Alexia Martin, 2013-09-17 This book examines the political response to current environmental concerns in the context of the British Isles. How have the issues been assimilated by political parties? Which ones have been given priority? Who are the main actors and what is the role of ecologists? Answers to questions such as these are provided in this collective work, not only through valuable insights into the theories and concepts found in political ecology but also with specific examination of present political debates such as the Liberal Democrats' stance on the question of nuclear energy or the salient issue of climate change. A recurring theme is the link between landscape and identity explored in the contexts of Welsh, Scottish and Irish nationalisms. While this volume reveals some cases of genuine commitment and effective action, it also highlights discrepancies between statements of intent on the one hand and implemented policies on the other. The authors' aim is to promote dialogue among politicians, experts and academics in the field of environmental issues, political and social sciences, linguistics and discourse.

Landscapes and Landmarks of Canada Maeve Conrick, Munroe Eagles, Jane Koustas, Caitríona Ní Chasaide, 2017-03-28 The image of the land is an ongoing trope in conceptions of Canada, from the national anthem and the flag to the symbols on coins. The land and nature remain linked to the Canadian sense of belonging and to the image of the nation abroad. Linguistic landscapes reflect the multi-faceted identities and cultural richness of the nations. Earlier portrayals of the land focused on unspoiled landscape depicted in the paintings of the Group of Seven, for example. Contemporary notions of identity, belonging and citizenship are established contested and legitimized within sites and institutions of public culture heritage and representation that reflect integration with the land transforming landscape into landmarks The Highway of Heroes originating at Canadian Forces Base Trenton in Ontario and Grosse Ile and the Irish Memorial National Historic Site in Quebec are examples of landmarks that transform landscape into a built environment that endeavours to respect the land while using it as a site to commemorate celebrate and promote Canadian identity Similarly in literature and the arts the creation of the built environment and the interaction among those who share it is a recurrent theme This collection includes essays by Canadian and international scholars whose engagement with the theme stems from their disciplinary perspectives as well as from their personal and professional experience rooted at least partially in their own sense of national identity and in their relationship to Canada

Signifying Place Sheila Gaffey, 2017-11-28 Through a socio semiotic analysis of promotional materials used by both producers of quality products and their support organizations this book investigates the use of imagery especially images of place in three contrasting regions of Ireland It highlights the role of place particularly rural imagery in the promotion of handcrafts and rural tourism services and suggests some of the meanings which may be contacted through the use of such imagery Much of the research to date in this field has concentrated on the use of imagery to promote particular places rather than products and in an Irish context on the promotion of Ireland as a tourism destination This book focuses on the regional and local level to examine the creation and use of more micro place specific images both real and mythical by small and medium sized businesses and explores the extent to which the two industries borrow from and feed into firstly each other and secondly macro place myths and iconographies Back Roads Ireland DK Publishing, 2010-02-15 Back Roads of Ireland opens with a brief portrait of the country and then moves on to provide all the practical information required to plan a driving vacation how to get there bringing your own vehicle and options for renting and detailed driving advice The main section divides into numbered drives following a logical progression around the country Each drive features highlights and itinerary spreads for an overview and planning followed by extensive descriptions of each sight and activity with clear driving instructions between A language section at the back of the guide lists essential words and phrases with a particular emphasis on road signs and driving related vocabulary

The Routledge Companion to Media and Tourism Maria Månsson, Annæ Buchmann, Cecilia Cassinger, Lena Eskilsson, 2020-07-07 The Routledge Companion to Media and Tourism provides a comprehensive overview of the research into the convergence of media and tourism and specifically investigates the concept of mediatized tourism This Companion offers a holistic look at the relationship between media and tourism by drawing from a global range of contributions by scholars from disciplines across the humanities and social sciences The book is divided into five parts covering diverse aspects of mediatization of tourism including place and space representation cultural production and transmedia It features a comprehensive theoretical introduction and an afterword by leading scholars in this emerging field delving into the ways in which different forms of media content and consumption converge and the consequential effects on tourism and tourists The collection is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of tourism studies cultural studies and media and communication as well as those with a particular interest in mediatization convergence culture and contemporary culture Cyber Ireland C. Lynch,2015-12-29 Cyber Ireland explores for the first time the presence and significance of cyberculture in Irish literature Bringing together such varied themes as Celtic mythology in video games Joycean hypertexts and virtual reality Irish tourism the book introduces a new strand of Irish studies for the twenty first century Spacing Ireland Caroline Crowley,Denis Linehan,2016-05-16 In light of the innumerable interventions that characterise the transformation of Ireland over the last two decades Spacing Ireland Place society and culture in a post boom era explores questions of space and place to understand the nature of major social cultural and economic change in contemporary Ireland The authors explore the intersections between everyday life and global exchanges through the contexts of the stuff of contemporary everyday encounters food housing leisure migration music shopping travel and work These are the multiple layers of space we now inhabit Ireland is a turbulent place It is fruitful to consider the contemporary geographies of the island through the various forms where change is expressed The wide range of topics addressed in the collection and the plurality of spaces they represent make the book appealing not only to students and academics but to anyone who follows social cultural and economic developments in Ireland Ireland and Ecocriticism Eóin Flannery,2015-10-05 This book is the first truly interdisciplinary intervention into the burgeoning field of Irish ecological criticism Providing original and nuanced readings of Irish cultural texts and personalities in terms of contemporary ecological criticism Flannery s readings of Irish literary fiction poetry travel writing non fiction and essay writing are ground breaking in their depth and scope Explorations of figures and texts from Irish cultural and political history including John McGahern Derek Mahon Roger Casement and Tim Robinson among many others enable and invigorate the discipline of Irish cultural studies and international ecocriticism on the whole This book addresses the need to impress the urgency of lateral ecological awareness and responsibility among Irish cultural and political commentators to highlight continuities and disparities between Irish ecological thought writing and praxis and those of differential international writers critics and activists and to establish both the singularity and contiguity of Irish ecological criticism to the wider international field of ecological criticism With the introduction of concepts such as ecocosmopolitanism deep history ethics of proximity Gaia Theory urban ecology and postcolonial environmentalism to Irish cultural studies it takes Irish cultural studies in bracing new directions Flannery furnishes working examples of the necessary interdisciplinarity of ecological criticism and impresses the relevance of the Irish context to the broader debates within international ecological criticism Crucially the volume imports ecological critical paradigms into the field of Irish studies and demonstrates the value of such conceptual dialogue for the future of Irish cultural and political criticism This pioneering intervention exhibits the complexity of different Irish cultural and historical responses to ecological exploitation degradation and social justice Ireland Beyond

Boundaries Liam Harte, Yvonne Whelan, 2006-11-20 This is an authoritative up to date account of the development of Irish Studies over the past two decades The authors examine the key debates that have underpinned recent scholarship and analyse critical concerns that have shaped the subject's remarkable growth They trace the institutional fortunes of Irish Studies in Ireland the USA Canada Australia and Britain and features in depth critical accounts of specific trends and themes within Irish historiography literary criticism religion migration music cultural geography sport and media culture The Real Peace Process Siobhan Garrigan, 2016-04-01 The Good Friday Agreement resulted in the cessation of paramilitary violence in Northern Ireland However prejudice and animosity between Protestants and Catholics remains The Real Peace Process draws on extensive fieldwork in Protestant and Catholic churches across Ireland to analyse how Christian worship can become caught up in sectarianism The book examines the need for a peace process that changes hearts and minds and not merely civic structures of their inhabitants Aspects of everyday worship ranging from the spatial and symbolic to the verbal musical and interpersonal are explored as the means by which sectarianism can be challenged and transformed

Irish Publishing Record, 1984 Trollope On the Net Ellen Moody, 1999-01-01 This book takes up two topics The first is the British novelist Anthony Trollope 1815-1882 author of 47 novels and five volumes of short stories The second is the Internet specifically the creation of virtual communities through email and discussion lists focusing naturally enough on discussion of the works of Trollope The first chapter tells how the group began and focuses on the conversation that ensued on Trollope's first novel The Macdermots of Ballycloran The second chapter widens the discussion to take in all of Trollope's Irish novels The third records the conversation of the group on Trollope's novel of jealousy He Knew He Was Right The fourth chapter discusses Trollope's shorter novels The fifth returns to the group conversations this time the discussion of The Claverings The sixth chapter discusses the illustrations of Trollope's novels The seventh chapter records the group conversation on Trollope's most class ridden novel Lady Anna The eighth chapter discusses Trollope's life through his An Autobiography The last chapter sets the group conversation on Can You Forgive Her into the context of the Palliser or Parliamentary novel sequence The Preface is by John Letts Chairman of the British Trollope Society The book contains twenty four illustrations from the original editions of Trollope's novels
