Religion Of Art In Proust:

The Religion of Art in Proust Barbara J. Bucknall, 1969 Proust's Way: A Field Guide to In Search of Lost Time Roger Shattuck, 2011-02-07 Shattuck leaves us not only with a deepened appreciation of Proust's great work but of all great literature as well. Richard Bernstein New York Times For any reader who has been humbled by the language the density or the sheer weight of Marcel Proust's In Search of Lost Time Roger Shattuck is a godsend. Winner of the National Book Award for Marcel Proust a sweeping examination of Proust's life and works Shattuck now offers a useful and eminently readable guidebook to Proust's epic masterpiece and a contemplation of memory and consciousness throughout great literature. Here Shattuck laments Proust's defenselessness against zealous editors praises some translations and presents Proust as a novelist whose philosophical gifts were matched only by his irrepressible comic sense. Proust's Way the culmination of a lifetime of scholarship will serve as the next generation's guide to one of the world's finest writers of fiction Proust, China and Intertextual Engagement Shuangyi Li, 2017-08-25 The book traces the literary journey that Proust's work made to China and back by means of translation intertextual engagement and the creation of a transcultural dialogue through migrant literature. It begins with a translation history of Proust's work in China and studies the different re-translations and editions of La Recherche highlighting their culturally conditioned thematic emphases and negligence such as time and memory over anti-Semitism and homosexuality. The book then moves on to explore three contemporary mainland Chinese writers' creative intertextual engagement with Proust against the backdrop of China's explosive development from modernity to post-modernity in the 1990s. Finally back to France the book examines the multifarious literary relations between Proust and the Franco-Chinese migrant writer François Cheng. It demonstrates how the cultural heritages of China and the West can be re-negotiated and put into dialogue through the fictional and creative medium of literature as well as providing a means of understanding the economic political and cultural exchanges in our current global context A Reader's Guide to Proust's 'In Search of Lost Time' David Ellison, 2010-02-18 A detailed analysis of Proust's masterpiece aimed at students coming to the work for the first time French Literature and the Arts, 2024-10-07 The Absence of God in Modernist Literature G. Erickson, 2007-05-14 Uses recent thought in continental philosophy and postmodern theology to interpret hidden and contradictory god ideas in texts of modernism such as Henry James's The Golden Bowl Marcel Proust's In Search of Lost Time James Joyce's Portrait of the Artist As a Young Man and Arnold Schoenberg's opera Moses und Aron Music and Literary Modernism Robert P. McParland, 2009-10-02 In Music and Literary Modernism the intersections of music literature and language are examined by an international group of scholars who engage in studies of modernist art and practice. The essays collected here present the significant place of music in the writing of T. S. Eliot Ernest Hemingway James Joyce James Weldon Johnson Mina Loy Stephen Mallarmé Ezra Pound Marcel Proust Gertrude Stein Wallace Stevens and Virginia Woolf as well as the importance of literary art for composers such as George Antheil Pierre Boulez Olivier Messiaen.

and The Beatles Contributors explore the role of music and literary modernism in the postmodern sublime sound and music in language the uneasy alliance of jazz and pop song in high modernist work the Beatles as modernists and other topics This is a revised and updated second edition Religious Experience and the Modernist Novel Pericles Lewis,2010-01-07

Considers the development of modernism in the novel in relation to changing attitudes to religion Romancing the Cathedral Elizabeth Emery,2001-09-20 Through an analysis of political art historical and literary discourse this book considers French fascination with the Gothic cathedral Proust's Self-reader Phillip Bailey,1997 Merleau-Ponty at the Limits of Art, Religion, and Perception Kascha Semonovitch,Neal DeRoo,2010-05-20 A timely and important collection of essays examining Merleau Ponty's interrogation of the limits of philosophy Religion and Art Davor Džalto,2019-06-18 How can we think of the aura of sacred contexts and sacred works How to think of individual and collective esthetic religious experiences What to make of the manipulative dimension of religious and esthetic auratic experiences Is the work of art still capable of mediating the experience of the sacred and under what conditions What is the significance of the eschatological dimension of both art and religion the sense of ending Can theology offer a way to reaffirm the creative capacities of the human being as something that characterizes the very condition of being human This Special Issue aspires to contribute to the growing literature on contemporary art and religion and to explore the new ways of thinking of art and the sacred in their esthetic ideological and institutional dimensions in the context of contemporary culture

From Dickinson to Dylan Glenn Hughes,2020-12-01 Glenn Hughes examines the ways in which six literary modernists Emily Dickinson Marcel Proust T S Eliot Ezra Pound Samuel Beckett and Bob Dylan have explored the human relationship to a transcendent mystery of meaning Hughes argues that visions of transcendence are perhaps surprisingly a significant feature in modernist literature and that these authors works account for many of the options for interpreting what transcendent reality might be This work is unique in its extended focus in a comparative study spanning a century on the persistence and centrality in modernist literature of the struggle to understand and articulate the dependence of human meaning on the mystery of transcendent meaning Hughes shows us that each of these authors is a mystic in his or her way and that none are tempted by the modern inclination to suppose that meaning originates with human beings Together they address one of the most difficult and important challenges of modern literature how to be a mystic in modernity

Composing the Citizen Jann Pasler,2009-07-06 In a book that challenges modernist ideas about the value and role of music in Western society Composing the Citizen demonstrates how music can help forge a nation Deftly exploring the history of Third Republic France Jann Pasler shows how French people from all classes and political persuasions looked to music to revitalize the country after the turbulent crises of 1871 Embraced not as a luxury but for its public utility music became an object of public policy as integral to modern life as power and water a way to teach critical judgment and inspire national pride It helped people to forget the past voice conflicting aspirations and imagine a shared future Based on a dazzling survey of archival material Pasler's rich interdisciplinary work looks beyond elites and the histories their agendas have dominated to open new windows onto the musical tastes and practices of amateurs as well as professionals A fascinating history of the period emerges one rooted in political realities and the productive tensions between the political and the aesthetic Highly evocative and deeply humanistic Composing the Citizen ignites broad debates about music's role in democracy and its meaning in our lives

The Age of Atheists Peter Watson, 2014-02-18 Examines atheism as a modern intellectual achievement that has motivated individuals to pursue invention and self reliance citing the accomplishments of secular philosophers scientists and artists who have worked in the absence of religious belief

Venice Desired Tony Tanner, 1992 If there is one city that might be said to embody both reason and desire it would surely be Venice a thousand year triumph of rational legislation aesthetic and sensual self expression and self creation powerful lovely serene Unique in so many ways Venice is also unique in its relation to writing London has Dickens Paris has Balzac Saint Petersburg has Dostoevsky Dublin has Joyce but there is simply no comparable writer for or out of Venice Venice effectively disappeared from history altogether in 1797 after its defeat by Napoleon From then on it seemed to exist as a curiously marooned spectacle Literally marooned the city mysteriously growing out of the sea the beautiful stone impossibly floating on water but temporally marooned as well stagnating outside history Yet as spectacle as the beautiful city par excellence the city of art the city as art and as spectacular example as the greatest and richest republic in the history of the world now declined and fallen Venice became an important site for the European imagination Watery dark silent a place of sensuality and secrecy of masks and masquerading of an always possibly treacherous beauty of Desdemona and Iago Shylock Volpone of conspiracy and courtesans in Otway an obvious setting for many Gothic novels Venice is not written from the inside but variously appropriated from without Venice the place the name the dream seems to lend itself to a whole variety of appreciations recuperations and hallucinations In decay and decline yet saturated with secret sexuality suggesting a heady compound of death and desire Venice becomes for many writers what is was for Byron both the greenest island of my imagination and a sea sodom It also as this book tries to show plays a crucial role in the development of modern writing Tanner skillfully lays before us the many ways in which this dreamlike city has been summoned up depicted dramatized then rediscovered or transfigured in selected writings through the years

The Element of Fire (Routledge Revivals) Anthony O'Hear, 2014-06-17 First published in 1988 the aim of this book can be stated in Nietzsche's words To look at science from the perspective of the artist but at art from that of life The title contests the notions that science alone can provide us with the most objective truth about the world and that artistic endeavour can produce nothing more valuable than entertainment O'Hear argues that art and the study of art are not indispensable aspects of human life and that this is equally as important as the investigation of the natural world

The Oxford Handbook of Theology and Modern European Thought Nicholas Adams, George Pattison, Graham Ward, 2013-02-28 Modern European thought describes a wide range of philosophies cultural programmes and political arguments developed in Europe in the period following the French Revolution Throughout this period many of the wide range of modernisms and anti modernisms had a distinctly religious and even theological character not least when religion was subjected to the harshest criticism Yet for all the breadth and complexity of modern European thought and in particular its relations to theology a distinct body of themes and approaches recurred in each generation Moreover many of the issues that took intellectual shape in Europe are now global rather than narrowly European and for good or ill they form part of Europe s bequest to the world from colonialism and the economic theories behind globalisation through to democracy to terrorism This volume attempts to identify and comment on some of the most important of these The thirty chapters are grouped into six thematic parts moving from questions of identity and the self through discussions of the human condition the age of revolution the world both natural and technological and knowledge methodologies concluding with a section looking explicitly at how major theological themes have developed in modern European thought The chapters engage with major thinkers including Kant Hegel Kierkegaard Heidegger Schleiermacher Nietzsche Dostoevsky Barth Rahner Tillich Bonhoeffer Sartre de Beauvoir Wittgenstein and Derrida amongst many others Taken together these new essays provide a rich and reflective overview of the interchange between theology philosophy and critical thought in Europe over the past two hundred years
