Remaking The Economic Institutions Of Socialism China And Eastern Europe:

Remaking the Economic Institutions of Socialism Victor Nee, David Stark, 1989 To what extent can contemporary socialist economies be reformed by the introduction of markets The question is usually debated in either a Chinese or an East European context this collection of eleven essays is unique in taking the first steps toward a comparative analysis Twenty years of experience with reforms in Hungary and a decade of experimentation with reforms in China provide a critical mass of evidence for analyzing the problems endemic to centrally planned economies and the dilemmas faced in efforts to reform them In reflecting on the Chinese and East European experiences these essays trace the shift from a conception of reform as a mix of planning and markets within the state sector to a socialist mixed economy with implications for the emergence of new social groups and autonomous social organizations The essays exemplify a new perspective in the study of state socialism that changes the focus from ideologies to economic institutions examining how the activities of subordinate groups place limits on the power of state elites The authors include scholars who have shaped debates in Eastern Europe and whose work is now stimulating much discussion in China as well as representatives of a younger generation of economists sociologists and political scientists writing on the basis of field research recently conducted in factories cities and villages in China and Eastern Europe The contributors are Wlodzimierz Brus Walter D Connor Zhiren Lin Victor Nee Susan Shirk David Stark Ivan Szelenyi and Martin King Whyte An introductory essays surveys recent theories and research on state socialism and outlines a new institutional perspective for understanding the dilemmas of partial reforms the political cycles of reform and retrenchment and the role of subordinate groups in stimulating changes outside the state sector Adaptation And

Transformation In Communist And Post-communist Systems Sabrina Petra Ramet, 2019-03-04 This book tackles different aspects of the adaptive and transformative process in communist and post communist systems in Eastern Europe offering competing models which locate the explanatory variable in different places and account for the unfolding of change in different ways

The East European Economy in Context David Turnock, 2003-09-02 Since 1989 the former communist countries of Eastern Europe have witnessed a profound and dramatic upheaval The economic coherence of this region formerly maintained through the adoption of the Soviet system of government has fractured In The East European Economy in Context Communism and Transition David Turnock examines the transition from communist to free market economies both within and between the states of Eastern Europe As well as containing an informative survey of the impact of communism The East European Economy in Context provides Political profiles of individual countries A clear study of the contrasts between northern and balkan groups Summaries of regional variations in the transition process An exploration of the new state structures and resources Discussion of political stability inter ethnic tensions and progress in economic change

Transforming Mozambique M. Anne Pitcher, 2002-11-14 Many of the economic transformations in Africa have been as dramatic as those in Eastern Europe Yet much of the comparative literature on transitions has overlooked African countries

This 2002 study of Mozambique's shift from a command to a market economy draws on a wealth of empirical material including archival sources interviews political posters and corporate advertisements to reveal that the state is a central actor in the reform process despite the claims of neo liberals and their critics Alongside the state social forces from World Bank officials to rural smallholders have also accelerated thwarted or shaped change in Mozambique M Anne Pitcher offers an intriguing analysis of the dynamic interaction between previous and emerging agents ideas and institutions to explain the erosion of socialism and the politics of privatization in a developing country She demonstrates that Mozambique's political economy is a heterogeneous blend of ideological and institutional continuities and ruptures

Property Ownership and Private Higher Education in China Spring Su, 2011-05-13 Recent decades have witnessed the proliferation in China of huge numbers of private universities and colleges in response to a wide ranging spectrum of socio economic and political demands under the country's flourishing market economy and its wholesale pursuit of decentralization This book explores the issue of property ownership an area which is regarded as an essential element in the attraction into the sector of local private institutions and foreign partnerships as well as in facilitating the future development of the country's existing institutions The focus throughout this book is primarily on the legal economic managerial and financial aspects of the relevant issues as well as other related topics such as consumer protections and fund raising activities A feasibility analysis and discussion is also provided on for profit universities and their potential market niches in China in recognition of the fact that the current regulations which allow private universities to maintain a non profit status whilst actually enjoying profit returns clearly provides some legitimacy to the phenomenon of for profit in disguise It is argued in this book that such quasi profit regulations may further exacerbate profiteering behavior whilst it is also noted that in the short term there is a clear need to provide adequate protections within the apparent hybrid version of an ownership system a system characterized by a mix of capitalism and socialism through the adoption of a definitive legal framework within which economic actors can coordinate their efforts through a mutually understood framework of action Finally it is clear that in the transition from the rule of the people to the rule of law legislation practices and compliance do not always go hand in hand in China thus the healthy development of the educational sector will undoubtedly require some time as well as the introduction of complementary mechanisms for such legislation to be fully enforced in practice This book concludes

China in the Era of Deng Xiaoping Michael Y. M. Kau, Susan H. Marsh, 1993 The product of an international academic conference held at Brown U in November 1987 this volume provides a comprehensive analysis and assessment of the nature pattern and trend of Deng Xiaoping's far reaching developmental reforms in the decade following the Third Plenum of the Eleventh Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party in December 1978 The volume like the conference is in two parts In the first 12 research papers are presented by Western scholars each followed by comments from two or three participants In the second part a senior government official from Beijing outlines the reforms of the post Mao period followed by assessments of the policy implications of the reforms by officials from Tokyo Moscow and Washington Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Private Business and Economic Reform in China Susan Young,2015-05-11 Based on Party and state documents Chinese newspaper reports and surveys the Chinese and Western scholarly literature and the author's own fieldwork this important study examines the private sector as a case study of the mechanics of reform in China emphasizing the relationships among local officials private businesses and central policy The book traces the growth of private business in China since 1978 and focuses on the interaction between private sector policy and other reforms and examines how this has affected China's political economy State, Market and Life Chances in Contemporary Rural Chinese Society Nabo Chen,2015-09-14 This study focuses on the effects of market reform on the life chances of rural people in China Based on comparative ethnographical evidence from three townships of rural Guangdong province this book provides a more recent and detailed story about the social inequality in rural China a further explanation for the institutional analysis on the social stratification of China a new typology of the developmental results and the changing roles of political elite of rural china

Commodifying Communism David L. Wank,1999 Commodifying Communism is an ethnographically grounded account of the institutional organization and political consequences of China's historically unprecedented market growth Drawing upon almost two years of ethnographic fieldwork this book challenges conventional views of post communist emerging markets being tied to the retreat of the state David Wank shows how entrepreneurs running private trading companies in Xiamen City Fujian Province one of China's five special economic zones maximize profit and security through patron client networks with local state agents The book examines how processes of opportunity exchange expectations and advantage are constrained by both statist and popular institutions in market clientelism It also considers the implications of market clientelism for the dynamism of China's emerging market economy relative to Eastern European post communist economies and its political consequences for state society and center local relations Eastern European Capitalism in the Making Elena A. Iankova,2002-09-09 Publisher Description China and Globalization Doug Guthrie,2009 An accessible introductory text on contemporary China this book covers the social economic and political factors responsible for China's revolutionary changes and interweaves this structural analysis with a consideration of social changes at the micro and macro levels Business Strategies in Transition Economies Mike W. Peng,2000 This book probes into the workings of business strategies in former socialist countries in East Asia Central and Eastern Europe and the newly independent states of the former Soviet Union which are collectively called transition economies It provides a rich and in depth understanding of fundamental strategic issues confronted by domestic and foreign firms competing in these newly developed markets The Politics of the Postcommunist World Stephen White,Daniel Nelson,2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2001 This series brings together the most significant journal articles to appear in the field of comparative politics since the 1970s The aim is to render accessible to teachers researchers and students an extensive range of essays as a basis for understanding established terrain and new ground Postsocialist Pathways David Stark, Laszlo Bruszt, 1998-02-28 This book first published in 1998 analyzes democratization and economic change in the postsocialist societies of East Central Europe

Transition from Communism in China Edwin A. Winckler, 1999 Looks at China's transition in comparison to other transitions from communism going beyond comparisons of whole countries to comparisons of institutional sectors and compares differing theoretical approaches to regime type and regime change Subjects include Leninist adaptability in China and Taiwan military dimensions of regime transition economic crisis and market transition in the 1990s principal agent analysis of fiscal decentralization state birth planning and reconstituting the arts and sciences Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Social Connections in China Thomas Gold, Doug Guthrie, David Wank, 2002-09-05 This volume assesses the evolving role of guanxi social networks in China's transforming society

Institutional Transition of China's Township and Village Enterprises Hongyi Chen, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2000 This work provides a new insight into China's township and village enterprises TVEs It views the governance structure of TVEs as effectively combining the comparative advantage of local government officials in external management and of dual firm managers in internal management to overcome imperfections in both market and government during the transitional period Through extensive field investigation analysis and case studies this work shows that the governance structure of TVEs has been evolving during the past fifteen years To adapt to the changing environment TVEs have continuously innovated firm contractual form from a government official dominant fixed wage form to a partnership style profit sharing form then to a privatization oriented fixed rent form This work develops a complete model to explain how the central government's partial reform efforts in market liberalization have become the driving force to induce the contractual form innovation and to explicate how heterogeneity in firms technical structures and in local economic settings may affect local government's decisions regarding contractual form innovation Using the author's unique data set the model simulations predict that the development in the whole market system will result in the diffusion of contractual form innovation and lead to an induced privatization in this sector The following empirical studies show this to be a powerful prediction and the progress toward such induced privatization can be expected in China in near future This research work provides a rich empirical study on China's institutional transition towards a market system It explains how a bottom up endogenous instead of top down exogenous property rights reform can be realized in transitional economies This work will serve as a valuable reference for researchers and students in economics economic development and institutional economics and especially for those interested in research Manager Empowerment in China Ray Yep, 2003-12-08 Institutional changes in rural China caused by the economic reforms of the post Mao era have led to a new pattern of state society interaction in the rural polity Central to this is the spectacular rise of a group of managerial elites Contrary to economic predictors this has been accompanied by the development of an interdependence between these managers and the state This book provides an analysis of the new state society relationship and demonstrates the complexity and fluidity involved in institutional development and market transformation Fox Volant of the Snowy Mountain Arif Dirlik, Guannan Li, Hsiao-pei Yen, 2012-02-03 Within this text the contributors provide a historical perspective on the development of anthropology and sociology since their introduction to Chinese thought and education in the early twentieth century with an emphasis on the 1930s and 1980s The authors offer different windows on theoretical and research agendas of anthropologists and sociologists of the PRC and Taiwan shaped as much by their political context as by disciplinary training In examining the careers of several individual scholars they also make note not only of their creative contributions but also of the resonance of their intellectual concerns with contemporary issues in sociology and anthropology culturalism frontiers women Finally the volume is organized loosely around the problem of how to translate these disciplines into a Chinese context s the issues of indigenization bentuhua or making Chinese Zhongguohua which have haunted the two disciplines since their establishment in the 1930s because of the contradictory expectations that they generate This is where the case of China resonates with similar concerns in other societies where the disciplines were imported from abroad as products of a Euro American capitalist modernity conflicting with aspirations to create their own localized alternative modernities
