Frontiers of Memory in the Asia-Pacific Shu-Mei Huang,Hyun Kyung Lee,Edward Vickers,2022-08-01 Frontiers of Memory in the Asia Pacific explores the making and consumption of conflict related heritage throughout the Asia Pacific region Contributing to a growing literature on difficult heritage this collection advances our understanding of how places of pain shame oppression and trauma have been appropriated and refashioned as heritage in a number of societies in contemporary East and Southeast Asia and Oceania The authors analyse how the repackaging of difficult pasts as heritage can serve either to reinforce borders transcend them or even achieve both simultaneously depending on the political agendas that inform the heritage making process They also examine the ways in which these processes respond to colonialism decolonization and nationalism The volume shows how efforts to preserve various sites of difficult heritage can involve the construction of new borders in the mind between what is commemorated and what is often deliberately obscured or forgotten Taken together the studies presented here suggest new directions for comparative research into difficult heritage across Asia and beyond applying an interdisciplinary and critical perspective that spans history heritage studies memory studies urban studies architecture and international relations Bringing together an excellent range of cases from diverse locations across the Asia Pacific this book is an important contribution not only to this part of the world but to understandings of heritage struggles especially in relation to colonial histories more widely Sharon Macdonald Humboldt Universität zu Berlin This collection is an important contribution to our understanding of the place of Asia within global memory culture Going beyond the tunnel vision of national memories it provides us with a sophisticated examination of the

 Mio, 2021-07-08 The contributors to this book examine and compare the colonial and decolonisation experiences of people in Taiwan and Nan y Gunt Micronesia who underwent periods of rule by the Greater Japanese Empire Early anthropological theory of Western imperialist countries focused on transforming savage cultures by ruling in a high handed manner When Japan asserted its hegemony through sudden colonisation its culture was perceived as inferior to the civilisation indices previously experienced by those it ruled How did these ruled nations construct their cultural and historical awareness in areas where the strategic design of Japan s civilising mission was not convincing After the end of World War II many emerging countries in the Third World achieved independence through various negotiations or struggles with their former colonial powers and built new relationships with their erstwhile rulers However after Japan s defeat Taiwan and Nan y Gunt became ruled by new foreign governments How did Japan s reign and transplanted Japanese culture affect the formation of historical awareness and cultural construction of present day communities in these two regions This book provides a fascinating ethnographic insight into the effects of empire and colonisation on the historic imagination which will be of great interest to historical anthropologists of Taiwan Japan and the Pacific American Women During World War II Doris Weatherford, 2009-10-16 American Women during World War II documents the lives and stories of women who contributed directly to the war effort via official and semi official military organizations as well as the millions of women who worked in civilian defense industries ranging from aircraft maintenance to munitions manufacturing and much more It also illuminates how the war changed the lives of women in more traditional home front roles All women had to cope with rationing of basic household goods and most women volunteered in war related programs Other entries discuss institutional change as the war affected every aspect of life including as schools hospitals and even religion American Women during World War II provides a White, 2016-03-31

Memorializing Pearl Harbor examines the challenge of representing history at the site of the attack that brought America into World War II Analyzing moments in which history is re presented in commemorative events documentary films museum design and educational programming Geoffrey M White shows that the memorial to the Pearl Harbor bombing is not a fixed or singular institution Rather it has become a site in which many histories are performed validated and challenged In addition to valorizing military service and sacrifice the memorial has become a place where Japanese veterans have come to seek recognition and reconciliation where Japanese Americans have sought to correct narratives of racial mistrust and where Native Hawaiians have challenged their ongoing erasure from their own land Drawing on extended ethnographic fieldwork White maps these struggles onto larger controversies about public history museum practices and national memory
