Hartman,2012-06-12 Remember Just Remember This Colin Bratkovich,2014-05-08 I have completed this manuscript Just Remember This or as American Pop Singers 1900 1950 about music before the 1950s in America It perhaps offers knowledge and insights not previously found in other musical reference books I have moreover been working on this book very meticulously over the past twelve plus years It started as a bit of fun and gradually became serious as I began to listen along with the vocalists of popular music of the era before 1950 essentially just before the dawn of rock and roll If you can call it that Indeed genre and labeling of American music started here and then from everywhere While the old adage of always starting from somewhere could be noted in every century the 1900s had produced the technology Understanding the necessity more so finds a curiosity on the part of a general public hungry for entertainment despite 6 day work weeks World War I the Great Depression and World War II We Are What We Remember Laura Mattoon D'Amore,Jeffrey Meriwether,2013-01-16 Commemorative practices are revised and rebuilt based on the spirit of the time in which they are re created Historians sometimes imagine that commemoration captures history but actually commemoration creates new narratives about history that allow people to interact with the past in a way that they find meaningful As our social values change race gender religion sexuality class our commemorations do too We Are What We Remember The American Past Through Commemoration analyzes current trends in the study of historical memory that are particularly relevant to our own present our biases our politics our contextual moment and strive to name forgotten overlooked and denied pasts in traditional histories Race gender and sexuality for example raise questions about our most treasured myths where were the slaves at Jamestowne How do women or lesbians protect and preserve their own histories when no one else wants to write them Our current social climate allows us to question authority and especially the authoritative definitions of nation patriotism and heroism and belonging How do we uncommemorate things that were mis commemorated in the past How do we repair the damage done by past commemorations The chapters in this book contributed by eighteen emerging and established scholars examine these modern questions that entirely reimagine the landscape of commemoration as it has been practiced and studied before

Mao's Generals Remember Korea Xiaobing Li, Allan Reed Millett, Bin Yu, 2001 Fifty years after the Korean conflict what is a forgotten war for some Americans is an aching memory for China With over a million casualties out of the three million soldiers sent into battle that war looms as large for the People's Republic of China PRC barely a year old when North Korea invaded the South as World War II does for most other countries It was the first international war fought by the Chinese Communist regime to halt counterrevolution it was also a war that the Chinese fully expected to win by virtue of not only superiority of numbers but also their soldiers superior political quality This book presents a mosaic of memoirs by key Chinese military commanders from that war drawing not only on their personal papers but also on still classified archives and on Chinese language sources unavailable in English It offers an uncensored behind the scenes story of the Communist campaign from the decision to intervene through the truce negotiations that discloses new information on such facets of the war as strategy and tactics use of propaganda and mobilization of the Chinese population It also reveals the generals concerns about the possible use of nuclear force and the alleged use of biological and chemical weapons by the United States The book contains a wealth of new materials on the Chinese intervention including combat operations logistics political control field command and communications Among those whose recollections are recorded then acting Chief of Staff Nie Rongzhen reveals how party leadership decided on intervention Commander in Chief Peng Dehuai provides personal accounts of major battles and communications with Mao and General Yang Dezhi shares secrets of Chinese military strategy and tactics discussing how the army orchestrated each battle to contend with the better equipped UN forces The volume also features an updated short history of the PRC's conduct of the war based on Chinese sources plus rare photos from Chinese archives that put readers behind the lines from the Chinese side Mao's Generals Remember Korea demonstrates that the PRC continues to draw military diplomatic and strategic lessons from the war it fought fifty years ago with the world's most powerful military force It offers valuable insight into the Chinese way of war and the military mind of Mao that will be a rich resource for Asian and military scholars

Infantry Regiment 101st Airborne Division fought daily against a well trained and determined enemy during their tours in Vietnam 1968-71. Before the war these men were brothers, sons, sweethearts, husbands and fathers. Some were athletes, some musicians. Some were just out of high school, some in established careers. There is no monolithic Battlin' Bastard, but when they joined the 101st Airborne Division, one of the most highly decorated divisions in the United States Army in Vietnam, they united, fighting for each other and fighting to return safely home. It was difficult to put their experiences behind them. As Bravo veteran Terry Taylor recalled, I learned at the age of 18 that you don't have to die to go to hell. Vietnam was hell on earth. And yet, despite the obstacles, many of these men built successful lives post-war. Decades after returning from the war, when the men were ready to cautiously revisit their experiences, the Bastards started stateside reunions. From these reunions came the wish to share their stories with the world, to honor, to educate and to inspire. The result is this book, written from interviews and diligent archival research, in which the surviving Battlin' Bastards tell their stories of combat in their own words and honor those who sacrificed for their country and their unit.

Don Cherry's Sports Heroes

Don Cherry, 2017-10-24. Don Cherry has become a broadcasting legend, garnering millions of fans around the world with his Coach's Corner segment on Hockey Night in Canada. For over a decade, Cherry also hosted the TV show Grapevine, which brought viewers up close and personal with the biggest names in sports. Don was the interviewer, and his son Tim produced the show. And no one in the sports world, from hockey players to boxers to curlers to umpires, turned down an invitation to appear on it. It was on that show that Don has some of his fondest memories from his many years in the biz, and at last, in Don Cherry's Sports Heroes, he gives us behind-the-scenes access to some of his most fascinating and revealing interviews with the all-time greats. Don has his signature candidness and sizzling humour in these interviews and stories. In these pages, you'll find epic stories about hockey greats Maurice Rocket, Richard Wayne Gretzky, Bobby Orr, and Gordie Howe, to name a few, and since Grapevine TV was the place to be in the sports world, you can revel in some unforgettable stories on players in other fields too. Don Cherry shares with the world tales that only a true insider could know. You won't be disappointed.

We

Remember the Home Guard Frank Shaw, Joan Shaw, 2012-05-10. I remember standing on top of our local glen with a block of wood, expecting thousands of Germans coming down from the sky. What was I going to do with the block of wood? I never knew. Leonard Jackson. On 22 June 1940, France surrendered to Germany, and the invasion of Britain seemed a very real possibility. The Home Guard was formed to defend our villages and towns. Members came from reserved occupations, those who had failed their medicals, the elderly, and the young, with miners and farmers training alongside former majors. Their weapons and ammunition were negligible at first, but slowly these amateur soldiers began to produce professional results. In this unique book of reminiscences about life on the home front, we see these men as they practise with pitchforks and fall into ditches after a pint or two of ale on the job. But we also see them learning how to fire grenades after a day studying engineering and undertaking night watches after exhausting factory shifts, knowing they could be the last stop between the enemy and their families and homes Why We Forget and How to Remember Better Andrew E. Budson, Elizabeth A. Kensinger, 2023 One of us Elizabeth had the opportunity to conduct research with a gentleman named Henry Molaison better known by his initials H M 1 who had the interior portion of his left and right temporal lobes the part of your brain next to your temples removed in 1953 because of epileptic seizures that were difficult to control From a technical standpoint the surgical procedures went fine But as he recovered the doctors and researchers soon noticed something very troubling he was unable to form any new memories He could read and talk and if you were having a brief conversation with him you would probably not notice anything amiss But family members would visit and although he knew who they were he would have no memory of them coming New doctors would introduce themselves and the next day or even the next hour he did not recall that he had met them It was then that the doctors understood that somehow the removal of those parts of the temporal lobe caused him to become completely amnesic
