Livingston, 2017-12-14 This is a study of science in Muslim society from its rise in the 8th century to the efforts of 19th century Muslim thinkers and reformers to regain the lost ethos that had given birth to the rich scientific heritage of earlier Muslim civilization The volume is organized in four parts the rise of science in Muslim society in its historical setting of political and intellectual expansion the Muslim creative achievement and original discoveries proponents and opponents of science in a religiously oriented society and finally the complex factors that account for the end of the 500 year Muslim renaissance The book brings together and treats in depth using primary and secondary sources in Arabic Turkish and European languages subjects that are lightly and uncritically brushed over in non specialized literature such as the question of what can be considered to be purely original scientific advancement in Muslim civilization over and above what was inherited from the Greco Syriac and Indian traditions what was the place of science in a religious society and the question of the curious demise of the Muslim scientific renaissance after centuries of creativity The book also interprets the history of the rise achievement and decline of scientific study in light of the religious temper and of the political and socio economic vicissitudes across Islamdom for over a millennium and integrates the Muslim legacy with the history of Latin European accomplishments It sets the stage for the next momentous transmission of science from the West back to the Arabic speaking world of Islam from the last half of the 19th century to the early 21st century the subject of a second volume Cosmic Anger: Abdus Salam - The First Muslim Nobel Scientist Gordon Fraser, 2008-04-24 This book presents a biography of Abdus Salam the first Muslim to win a Nobel Prize for Science Physics 1979 who was nevertheless excommunicated and branded as a heretic in his own country

His achievements are often overlooked even besmirched Realizing that the whole world had to be his stage he pioneered the International Centre for Theoretical Physics in Trieste a vital focus of Third World science which remains as his monument A staunch Muslim he was ashamed of the decline of science in the heritage of Islam and struggled doggedly to restore it to its former glory Undermined by his excommunication these valiant efforts were doomed In The Shadows of Glories Past John W. Livingston,2018-02-01 The title of this volume implies two things the greatness of the scientific tradition that Muslims had lost and the power of the West in whose threatening shadow reformers now labored to modernize in order to defend themselves against those very powers they were taking as models Copernicus and Darwin were the names that dominated the debate on science whose arguments and rebuttals were published mainly in the religious and secular journals in Cairo and Beirut from the 1870s Analysis and interpretation of this literature shows the hope that Arab reformers had of duplicating the Japanese success followed by the despair when success was denied A cultural malaise festered from generations of despair defeat and foreign occupation and this feeling transmogrified after 1967 to a psychosis in a significant number of secular writers educators and religious reformers The great debate on assimilating science was turned inward where defensive mechanisms of denial spun out perversions of science the Quran becoming a thesaurus of science and a more extreme derivative of that something called Islamic Science arising as an alternate science that was to be in harmony with the Quran Shari'a and Muslim belief This volume reveals the undermining effect of European imperialism on western oriented religious reformers and secular intellectuals for whom science and political reform went together and concludes with a chapter on the state of science in contemporary Muslim societies and the efforts to institutionalize science before the upheavals of 2011 so as to bring to life an authentic and indigenous culture that would sustain scientific study and research as autonomous pursuits Scientific Development in Islamic Civilization Aijaz Ahmad,2023-01-01 This book Scientific Development in Islamic Civilization is a humble effort to highlight the scientific research conducted by Islamic scholars of the mediaeval world between the seventh and seventeenth centuries The Quranic verses and the traditions of the Prophet dealing with scientific enterprise have also been analysed and quoted in this work The works of the majority of Muslim scientists are also discussed in depth The scientific development during the periods of various ruling dynasties and caliphates is properly mentioned in various chapters Above all the goal of writing this book is to make Muslims in particular and non Muslims in general aware of the glorious past of Islamic civilization which has been washed out or purposefully ignored in historical texts these days Reopening Muslim Minds Mustafa Akyol,2021-04-06 A fascinating journey into Islam's diverse history of ideas making an argument for an Islamic Enlightenment today In Reopening Muslim Minds Mustafa Akyol senior fellow at the Cato Institute and opinion writer for The New York Times both diagnoses the crisis of Islam in the modern world and offers a way forward Diving deeply into Islamic theology and also sharing lessons from his own life story he reveals how Muslims lost the universalism that made them a great civilization in their earlier centuries He especially demonstrates how values often associated with Western Enlightenment freedom reason tolerance and an appreciation of science had Islamic counterparts which sadly were cast aside in favor of more dogmatic views often for political ends

Elucidating complex ideas with engaging prose and storytelling Reopening Muslim Minds borrows lost visions from medieval Muslim thinkers such as Ibn Rushd aka Averroes to offer a new Muslim worldview on a range of sensitive issues human rights equality for women freedom of religion or freedom from religion While frankly acknowledging the problems in the world of Islam today Akyol offers a clear and hopeful vision for its future

Renaissance of Sciences in Islamic Countries M.H.A. Hassan,1992 The Oxford Encyclopedia of Philosophy, Science, and Technology in Islam Salim Ayduz,2014 The main reference source for questions of Islamic philosophy science and technology amongst Western engaged readers and academics in general and legal researchers in particular

Eminent Lives in Twentieth-century Science & Religion Nicolaas A. Rupke,2009 Can science and religion coexist in harmony Or is conflict inevitable In this volume an international team of distinguished scholars addresses these enduring yet urgent questions by examining the lives of thirteen eminent twentieth century scientists whose careers were marked by the interaction of science and religion Rachel Carson Charles A Coulson Theodosius Dobzhansky Arthur S Eddington Albert Einstein Ronald A Fisher Julian Huxley Pascual Jordan Robert A Millikan Ivan P Pavlov Michael I Pupin Abdus Salam and Edward O Wilson The richly empirical studies show a diversity of creative engagements between science and religion that defy efforts to set the two at odds
