Renaming Ecstasy:

Renaming Ecstasy Orlando Ricardo Menes, 2004 Renaming Ecstasy brings together poets who have explored experiences of the sacred in ways that are unique to Latin American culture and highlights the richness and complexity of Latino spiritual life. Because of Latin America's mestizaje of cultures, traditional Catholicism exists alongside other practices of African or indigenous origin. In their invocation of the divine, poets of Caribbean origin draw inspiration from the myths and practices of Santería. Others write devotionally about topics that engage Latino Catholics: the matter of religious vocation and those devotional practices that connect individuals to the community and give shape to their daily lives. The collection features poetry by Benjamin Alire Sáenz, Victor Hernández Cruz, Demetria Martinez, Orlando Ricardo Menes, and Virgil Suárez among others.

Fleshing the Spirit Elisa Facio, Irene Lara, 2014-04-10 Fleshing the Spirit brings together established and new writers exploring the relationships between the physical body, the spirit, and spirituality and social justice activism. Examining the complex and dynamic connections among these concepts, the writers emphasize the value of flesh and blood experience as a site of knowledge. They argue that spirituality, something quite different from institutional religious practice, can heal the mind/body split and set the stage for social change. Spirituality, they argue, is a necessary component of an alternative political agenda focused on equitable social and ecological change. The anthology incorporates different genres of writing, such as poetry, testimonials, critical essays, and historical analysis, and stimulates the reader to engage spirituality in a critical, personal, and creative way. This interdisciplinary work is the first that attempts to theorize the radical interconnection between women of color, spirituality, and social activism. Before transformative political work can be done, the authors say, in multiple ways we must recognize that our spiritual need is a desire to more fully understand our relations with others. Conflict experienced on many levels sometimes severs those relations, separating us from others along racial, class, gender, sexual, national, or other socially constructed lines. Fleshing the Spirit offers a spiritual journey of healing, health, and human revolution. The book's open invitation to engage in critical dialogue and social activism with the spirit and spirituality at the forefront illuminates the way to social change and the ability to live in harmony with life's universal energies. López, Eliana S. Rivero, 2019-12-01

The first anthology of poetry prose and drama by second generation Cuban American writers Let's Hear Their Voices brings together works by ten distinguished and emerging Cuban American writers of the second generation writers who were born between 1960 and the mid 1980s in the United States to Cuban parents or have a mixed ethnic background Called ABCs American Born Cubans or AmeriCubans these writers experiment with different formal approaches and lace their work with Cuban Spanish to give voice to hybrid identities and cultural legacies within the contemporary multicultural United States An introduction by Iraida H L pez identifies key tropes in their poetry prose and drama and provides an overview of Cuban American literature since the 1960s With both original and previously published pieces by award winning authors including President Obama's Second Inaugural Poet Richard Blanco the volume makes a welcome contribution to the fields of Latinx and American literature as well as critical discussions across disciplines about the intersections of latinidad with race class gender and sexuality The selections chosen are excellent across the board Collectively they give a sense of the directions in which second generation Cuban American writing is moving as well as of its abiding concern with the country of origin of the first generation The writing is impressive strong and compelling Marta Caminero Santangelo University of Kansas

World to World Valerie Martínez, 2021-10-19 In her second collection of poems Valerie Martínez builds on the artistic command of language that characterized her award winning first volume Absence Luminescent Taking on not only such familiar themes as love and loss family and culture but also the creative act of poetry itself World to World crosses new boundaries to chart a mature poet's awareness of her own voice and style Martínez explores the dynamic of creation dissolution in original and intriguing ways Here are the strange and provocative landscapes of the body and its disappearance of matter and the absence of matter of what is formed and what is falling from form Throughout this compelling cycle her deft manipulations of poetic structure disclose the boundaries where flesh matter and language become spirit space and cataractal brilliance In charting the relationships between time form body language and emptiness World to World maps the territories where the visible and the invisible meet offering unexpected discoveries for discerning readers
