Collections Research in Scotland Timothy Ambrose, Helen Stace, Geoheritage and Geotourism Thomas A. Hose, 2016

Essays on aspects of the natural world its heritage and how best to preserve it Europe's engagement from the late sixteenth century onwards in scientific Earth science inquiry has generated numerous and varied collections of minerals rocks and fossils together with their associated archives artworks and publications forming a rich cultural geoheritage held in major private and especially royal and aristocratic collections museums universities archives and libraries The mines quarries geological structures landforms minerals rocks and fossils or geodiversity that underpin these collections populate past and present day Earth science literature However for too long their scientific historic and cultural significance was not universally recognised and generally they were not accorded adequate resources and protection or geoconservation Hence geotourism was developed in the 1990s to raise public awareness of Europe's geoheritage and geodiversity and to promote its geoconservation the volume's theoretical essays and case studies examine these four core geoelements and provide a timely introduction for anyone interested in natural history museums countryside management and landscape based tourism Dr Thomas A Hose is an Honorary Research Associate in the School of Earth Sciences University of Bristol He has pioneered the recognition of and research into geotourism and is the author of the world's first doctoral thesis on the subject Contributors Kevin Crawford Peter Davis John E Gordon Thomas A Hose Jonathan G Larwood Slobodan B Markovic Martin Munt Emmanuel Reynard Nemanja Tomic Djordjije A Vasiljevic Margaret Wood Volker Wrede Register of Natural Science Collections in Yorkshire and Humberside, 1987 William Hunter's World Nick Pearce, 2017-07-05 Despite William Hunter's stature as one of the most important collectors and men of science of the eighteenth century and the fact that his collection is the foundation of Scotland's oldest public museum The Hunterian until now there has been no comprehensive examination in a single volume of all his collections in their diversity This volume restores Hunter to a rightful position of prominence among the medical men whose research and amassing of specimens transformed our understanding of the natural world and man's position within it This volume comprises essays by international specialists and are as diverse as Hunter's collections themselves dealing as they do with material that ranges from medical and scientific specimens to painting prints books and manuscripts The first sections focus upon Hunter's own collection and his response to it while the final section contextualises Hunter within the wider sphere A special feature of the volume is the inclusion of references to the Hunterian's web pages and on line databases These enable searches for items from Hunter's collections both from his museum and library Locating Hunter's collecting within the broader context of his age and environment this book provides an original approach to a man and collection whose importance has yet to be comprehensively assessed

Collections Management Anne Fahy, 2005-07-25 An invaluable and practical introduction bringing together leading recent papers emphasising some of the major issues affecting collections management Ethical Approaches to Human Remains Kirsty Squires, David Errickson, Nicholas Márquez-Grant, 2020-01-01 This book is the first of its kind combining international perspectives on the current ethical considerations and challenges facing bioarchaeologists in the recovery analysis curation and display of human remains It explores how museum curators commercial practitioners forensic anthropologists and bioarchaeologists deal with ethical issues pertaining to human remains in traditional and digital settings around the world The book not only raises key ethical questions concerning the study display and curation of skeletal remains that bioarchaeologists must face and overcome in different countries but also explores how this global community can work together to increase awareness of similar and indeed disparate ethical considerations around the world and how they can be addressed in working practices The key aspects addressed include ethics in bioarchaeology and forensic anthropology the excavation curation and display of human remains repatriation and new imaging techniques As such the book offers an ideal guide for students and practitioners in the fields of bioarchaeology osteoarchaeology forensic anthropology medical anthropology archaeology anatomy museum and archive studies and philosophy detailing how some ethical dilemmas have been addressed and which future dilemmas need to be considered Exploring Science in Museums Susan M. Wyse Jackson, 2025-03-31 Ireland has long been the focus of research into its geological foundations and history This book provides insights into the evolution of geological ideas in Ireland gives assessments of underrepresented scientists and offers an appreciation of the value of geological collections for historical research Through a series of twenty two papers this volume provides syntheses and analyses of aspects of this geological research and places the role of a number of individuals firmly within context The topics discussed include the considerations of the nature of igneous rocks aspects of geological mapping of the country the role played by Irish scientists in determining the age of the Earth and the importance of early mineralogical and geological collectors and the role their collections made to advancing geological knowledge both in Ireland and Europe The Making of Irish Geology 1740 1940 will appeal to both the general and academic reader interested in the development of the geological sciences with a particular focus on Ireland The Role of Women in the History of Geology Cynthia V. Burek, Bettie Higgs, Geological Society of London, 2007 This book is a first as it unravels the diverse roles women have played in the history and development of geology as a science predominantly in the UK Ireland and Australia and selectively in Germany Russia and US The volume covers the period from the late eighteenth century to the present day and shows how the roles that women have played changed with time These included illustrators museum collectors and curators educationalists researchers and geologists Originally as wives sisters or mothers many were assistants to their male relatives This book looks at all these forgotten women and for the first time historians and scientists together explore the contribution they made to this male dominated subject Report Upon Natural History Collections Made in Alaska Between the Years 1877 and 1881 Edward William Nelson,1887 Birds mammals fishes lepidoptera Shells Fabio Moretzsohn,2023-08-17 Echoing with the sounds of the sea an exquisite survey of the science and customs of conchs clams coquinas cowries and much more Shells have captivated humans from the dawn of time the earliest known artwork was made on a shell As well as containers for food shells have been used as tools jewelry decorations for dwellings and to bring good luck or to ward off spirits Many Indigenous peoples have used shells as currency and in a few places they still do This beautifully illustrated book investigates the fascinating scientific and cultural history of shells It examines everything from pearls the only gems of animal origin to how shells diverse colors and shapes are formed And it reveals how shells have inspired artists throughout history how shells have been used in architecture and even how shells can be indicators of changing environmental conditions Also including two essays by shell expert M G Harasewych emeritus curator of gastropods in the Smithsonian s Department of Invertebrate Zoology Shells is an authoritative exploration of the deep human connection to these molluscan exoskeletons of sea lake land and stream Archives of Natural History ,1991 Worlds of Natural History Helen Anne Curry,Nicholas Jardine,James Andrew Secord,Emma C.
