The Color of Modernism Deborah Ascher Barnstone, 2021-12-30 One of the most enduring and pervasive myths about modernist architecture is that it was white pure white walls both inside and out Yet nothing could be further from the truth The Color of Modernism explodes this myth of whiteness by offering a riot of color in modern architectural treatises polemics and buildings Focusing on Germany in the early 20th century one of modernism's most foundational and influential periods it examines the different scientific and artistic color theories which were advanced by members of the German avant garde from Bruno Taut to Walter Gropius to Hans Scharoun German color theory went on to have a profound influence on the modern movement and Germany serves as the key case study for an international phenomenon which encompassed modern architects worldwide from Le Corbusier and Alvar Aalto to Berthold Lubetkin and Lina Bo Bardi Supported by accessible introductions to the development of color theory in philosophy science and the arts the book uses the German case to explore the new ways in which color was used in architecture and urban design turning attention to an important yet overlooked aspect of the period Much more than a mere correction to the historical record the book leads the reader on an adventure into the color filled worlds of psychology the paranormal theories of sensory perception and pleasure showing how each in turn influenced the modern movement The Color of Modernism will fundamentally change the way the early modernist period is seen and discussed Books in Print, 1991 Eurythmy as Speech Made Visible Rudolf Steiner, 2024-06-20 With these fundamental lectures on speech eurythmy given just months after his course entitled Eurythmy as Visible Singing Rudolf Steiner completed the foundations of the new art of movement In connecting to the centuries old esoteric and exoteric Western traditions of the Word the creative power in the sounds of the divine human alphabet he gave it concrete form and expression in the performing arts education and therapy Although aimed primarily at the professional concerns of eurythmists who perform teach or work as therapists the lectures offer a wealth of suggestions and insights to anyone interested in the arts For this new edition freshly translated by Matthew Barton and introduced by Coralee Frederickson the original shorthand transcripts have been compared exhaustively with typed records and the notes of course participants These notes included numerous sketches of movements gestures and choreographies many of which have been reproduced here to complement the text Also featured is an appendix comprising facsimiles and transcripts of Rudolf Steiner's gain a deeper understanding of the artistic motivation of Rudolf Steiner as an artist and architect while also clearing up many of the misunderstandings that the building and its sculptural and painted components have inevitably given rise to both then and now Book jacket

Boundaries of Natural Science Rudolf Steiner,1987-06 Translated by Frederick Amrine and Konrad Oberhuber from shorthand reports unrevised by the lecturer from the 4th edition 1969 of the German text published under the title Grenzen der Naturerkenntnis Vol 322 in the Bibliographic survey Copyright page

The Light Course Rudolf Steiner,2001-11 11 lectures Stuttgart and Dornach Dec 23 1919 Aug 8 1921 CW 320 Rudolf Steiner's course on light which includes explorations of color sound mass electricity and magnetism presages the dawn of a new worldview in the natural sciences that will stand our notion of the physical world on its head This first course in natural science given to the teachers of the new Stuttgart Waldorf school as an inspiration for developing the physics curriculum is based on Goethe's phenomenological approach to the study of nature Acknowledging that modern physicists had come to regard Goethe's ideas on physics as a kind of nonsense Steiner contrasts the traditional scientific approach which treats phenomena as evidence of natural laws with Goethean science which rejects the idea of an abstract law behind natural phenomena and instead seeks to be a rational description of nature Steiner then corrects the mechanistic reductionism practiced by scientific positivists emphasizing instead the validity of human experience and pointing toward a revolution in scientific paradigms that would reclaim ground for the subject the human being in the study of nature READ BOBBY MATHERNE'S REVIEW OF THIS BOOK German source Geisteswissenschaftliche impulse zur Entwicklung der Physik Erster Naturwissenschaftlicher Kurs Licht Farbe Ton Masse Elektrizität Magnetismus GA 320

Toward a New Theory of Architecture Rudolf Steiner,2017-02 Rudolf Steiner gave thousands of lectures in his lifetime usually without notes and with very few exceptions with nothing more than chalk and a blackboard if he chose to accompany his speech with some kind of visual illustration A notable exception is the presentation that constitutes the main part of this book Given in June 1921 in Bern just eighteen months before its tragic destruction by fire this lecture and slide show consisting of a hundred slides is both the closest thing we have to a guided tour of the original Goetheanum by its architect and a profound statement of artistic purpose In addition to the lecture and slide show that comprise the main content of this volume the introduction by John Kettle serves to place Steiner's artistic contribution to architecture in the context of early twentieth century Expressionism and Organicism Frederick Amrine's thorough bibliographic essay highlights the most important secondary literature on Steiner's architecture and provides a sound entry to further exploration and study
