Aruz, Sarah B. Graff, Yelena Rakic, 2013 The exhibition Beyond Babylon Art Trade and Diplomacy in the Second Millennium B C held in 2008 2009 at The Metropolitan Museum of Art demonstrated the cultural enrichment that emerged from the intensive interaction of civilizations from western Asia to Egypt and the Aegean in the Middle and Late Bronze Ages During this critical period in human history powerful kingdoms and large territorial states were formed Rising social elites created a demand for copper and tin as well as for precious gold and silver and exotic materials such as lapis lazuli and ivory to create elite objects fashioned in styles that reflected contacts with foreign lands This quest for metals along with the desire for foreign textiles was the driving force that led to the establishment of merchant colonies and a vast trading network throughout central Anatolia during the early second millennium B C Texts from palaces at sites from Hattusa modern Bogazk y in Hittite Anatolia to Amarna in Egypt attest to the volume and variety of interactions that took place some centuries later creating the impetus for the circulation of precious goods stimulating the exchange of ideas and inspiring artistic creativity Perhaps the most dramatic evidence for these far flung connections emerges out of tragedy the wreckage of the oldest known seagoing ship discovered in a treacherous stretch off the southern coast of Turkey near the promontory known as Uluburun Among its extraordinary cargo of copper glass and exotic raw materials and luxury goods is a gilded bronze statuette of a goddess perhaps the patron deity on board who failed in her mission to protect the ship To explore the themes of the exhibition art trade and diplomacy viewed from an international perspective a two day symposium and related scholarly events allowed colleagues to explore many facets of the multicultural societies that developed in the second millennium B C Their insights which dramatically illustrate the incipient phases of our intensely interactive world are presented largely in symposium order beginning with broad regional overviews and examination of particular archeological contexts and then drawing attention to specific artists and literary evidence for interconnections In this introduction however their contributions are viewed from a somewhat more synthetic perspective one that focuses attention on the ways in which ideas in this volume intersect to enrich the ongoing discourse on the themes elucidated in the exhibition The Old War Horse

Parameters ,2000 The Historical Archaeology of Military Sites Clarence Raymond Geier, Lawrence E. Babits, Douglas Dowell Scott, David G. Orr, 2010-12-15 The recent work of anthropologists historians and historical archaeologists has changed the very essence of military history While once preoccupied with great battles and the generals who commanded the armies and employed the tactics military history has begun to emphasize the importance of the common man for interpreting events As a result military historians have begun to see military forces and the people serving in them from different perspectives The Historical Archaeology of Military Sites has encouraged efforts to understand armies as human communities and to address the lives of those who composed them Tying a group of combatants to the successes and failures of their military commanders leads to a failure to understand such groups as distinct social units and in some instances self supporting societies structured around a defined social and political hierarchy regulated by law needing to be supplied and nurtured and often at odds with the human community whose lands they occupied be they those of friend or foe The Historical Archaeology of Military Sites will afford students professionals dealing with military sites and the interested public examples of the latest techniques and proven field methods to aid understanding and conservation of these vital pieces of the world s heritage

While the Monitor and Merrimack are the most famous of the Civil War ironclads the Confederacy had another ship in its flotilla that carried high hopes and a metal hull The makeshift CSS Arkansas completed by Lt Isaac Newton Brown and manned by a mixed crew of volunteers gave the South a surge of confidence when it launched in 1862 For 28 days of summer the ship engaged in five battles with Union warships falling victim in the end only to her own primitive engines The saga of the CSS Arkansas represents the last significant Rebel naval activity in the war s Western theater
