The Navajo And Pueblo Silversmiths John Adair, 2015-11-06 Probably no native American handicrafts are more widely admired than Navajo weaving and Navajo and Pueblo silver work This book contains the first full and authoritative account of the Indian silver jewelry fashioned in the Southwest by the Navajo and the Zuni Hopi and other Pueblo peoples It is written by John Adair a trained ethnologist who has become a recognized expert on this craft A volume conspicuously pleasing in its format and so strikingly handsome in its profuse illustrations as to rivet your attention once it chances to fall open With the care of a meticulous and thorough scholar the author has told the story of his several years investigation of jewelry making among the Southwestern Indians So richly decorative are the plates he uses for his numerous illustrations showing the jewelry itself the Indians working at it and the Indians wearing it that the conscientious narrative is surrounded by an atmosphere of genuinely exciting visual experience The Dallas Times Herald The Navajo and Pueblo Silversmiths provides a full history of the craft and the actual names and localities of the pioneer craftsmen who introduced the art of the silversmith to their people Despite its present high stage of development with its many subtle and often exquisite designs the art of working silver is not an ancient one among the Navajo and Pueblo Indians There are men still living today who remember the very first silversmiths The Navajo and Pueblo Silversmiths. [With Plates, a Map and a Bibliography]. John Adair

(Manager of the Navajo Arts and Crafts Guild.), 1945 The Navajo and Pueblo Silversmiths John Adair, 1944 Navajo Silversmiths Washington Matthews, Among the Navajo Indians there are many smiths who sometimes forge iron and brass but who work chiefly in silver When and how the art of working metals was introduced among them I have not been able to determine but there are many reasons for supposing that they have long possessed it many believe that they are not indebted to the Europeans for it Doubtless the tools obtained from American and Mexican traders have influenced their art Old white residents of the Navajo country tell me that the art has improved greatly within their recollection that the ornaments made fifteen years ago do not compare favorably with those made at the present time and they attribute this change largely to the recent introduction of fine files and emery paper At the time of the Conquest the so called civilized tribes of Mexico had attained considerable skill in the working of metal and it has been inferred that in the same period the sedentary tribes of New Mexico also wrought at the forge From either of these sources the first smiths among the Navajos may have learned their trade but those who have seen the beautiful gold ornaments made by the rude Indians of British Columbia and Alaska many of whom are allied in language to the Navajos may doubt that the latter derived their art from a people higher in culture than themselves The Navajo and Pueblo Silversmiths John 1913-1997 Adair, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we

Beginning in the 1920s anthropologists traders and other admirers of traditional Native American cultures appalled by the degradation of fine crafts into tourist trinkets began cultivating a fine arts market for indigenous textiles jewelry ceramics and basketry In More Than Curiosities Susan Labry Meyn explores how this grassroots revival led to the founding of the Indian Arts and Crafts Board in 1935 Meyn demonstrates how the Board and its activities such as development and marketing of quality arts and crafts targeted loan programs and the creation of artisans cooperatives not only aided in the development of a source of sustained income for Native artists but also were pivotal in overcoming the larger Euro American indifference toward Native culture Under the leadership of Rene d Harnoncourt the Board facilitated cross cultural understanding and provided the mechanisms that allowed Native American artists to revive traditional practices and adapt them to an Anglo market Meyn's novel study will become an invaluable contribution to scholars of the period artists and anyone interested in Native American studies      A Diné History of Navajoland Klara Kelley, Harris Francis, 2019-10-22

For the first time a sweeping history of the Din that is foregrounded in oral tradition Authors Klara Kelley and Harris Francis share Din history from pre Columbian time to the present using ethnographic interviews in which Navajo people reveal their oral histories on key events such as Athabaskan migrations trading and trails Din clans the Long Walk of 1864 and the struggle to keep their culture alive under colonizers who brought the railroad coal mining trading posts and finally climate change The early chapters based on ceremonial origin stories tell about Din forebears Next come the histories of Din clans from late pre Columbian to early post Columbian times and the coming together of the Din as a sovereign people Later chapters are based on histories of families individuals and communities and tell how the Din have struggled to keep their bond with the land under settler encroachment relocation loss of land based self sufficiency through the trading post system energy resource extraction and climate change Archaeological and documentary information supplements the oral histories providing a comprehensive investigation of Navajo history and offering new insights into their twentieth century relationships with Hispanic and Anglo settlers For Din readers the book offers empowering histories and stories of Din cultural sovereignty In short the authors say it may help you to know how you came to be where and who you are      To
