Horodowich,2018-09-06 Few Renaissance Venetians saw the New World with their own eyes As the print capital of early modern Europe however Venice developed a unique relationship to the Americas Venetian editors mapmakers translators writers and cosmographers represented the New World at times as a place that the city s mariners had discovered before the Spanish a world linked to Marco Polo s China or another version of Venice especially in the case of Tenochtitlan Elizabeth Horodowich explores these various and distinctive modes of imagining the New World including Venetian rhetorics of firstness similitude othering comparison and simultaneity generated through forms of textual and visual pastiche that linked the wider world to the Venetian lagoon These wide ranging stances allowed Venetians to argue for their different but equivalent participation in the Age of Encounters Whereas historians have traditionally focused on the Spanish conquest and colonization of the New World and the Dutch and English mapping of it they have ignored the wide circulation of Venetian Americana Horodowich demonstrates how with their printed texts and maps Venetian newsmongers embraced a fertile tension between the distant and the close In doing so they played a crucial yet heretofore unrecognized role in the invention of America conoscenze competenze tradizioni e orientamenti culturali si incontrarono il presente volume dedicato alle complesse trasformazioni dei paradigmi geocartografici dell'epoca e analizza l'intreccio di motivi culturali economici e politici diffusi dai paesi del Nordeuropa fino alla sponda meridionale del Mediterraneo. Im 15. Jahrhundert stellten Entdeckung und Eroberung neuer Länder sowie die Rezeption der Geographie des Ptolemäus traditionelle Weltbilder in Frage. In der Folge wuchs die Begierde, die neue Form der sich ausweitenden Oikumene zu verstehen. Ganz verschiedene Wissenschaften und Praktiken zielten darauf ab, den geographischen Raum und die kartographische Gestalt der Welt neu zu erfassen. Eine entscheidende Rolle bei dieser Suche spielte Venedig, wo sich Wissen und Kompetenzen ganz unterschiedlicher Herkunft und Kultur vermischten. Der vorliegende Band beleuchtet die vielschichtigen Transformationen dieser geokartographischen Paradigmen unter dem Einfluss kultureller, wirtschaftlicher, politischer und wissenschaftlicher Verflechtungen vom Mittelmeerraum bis hin nach Nordeuropa.

Ships on Maps Richard W. Unger, 2010-08-04 Renaissance map makers produced ever more accurate descriptions of geography which were also beautiful works of art. They filled the oceans Europeans were exploring with ships and to describe the real ships which were the newest and best products of technology. Above all the ships were there to show the European conquest of the seas of the world.

Mapping Narrations - Narrating Maps Ingrid Baumgärtner, 2022-06-06 This volume offers the author's central articles on the medieval and early modern history of cartography for the first time in English translation. A third examines land surveying, cartographical practices of exploration and the production of Portolan atlases.

Rotte e porti del Mediterraneo dopo la caduta dell'Impero romano d'Occidente Lorenza De Maria, Rita Turchetti, 2004

Naviguer, commercer, gouverner Claire Judde de Larivière, 2008-11-30 The convoys of public galleys, the typical form of Venetian medieval sea-faring, had disappeared gradually by the time of the battle of Lepanto. This disappearance was not the sign of a general economic crisis but was nevertheless the corollary of important political, economic and social changes which marked the history of sixteenth-century Venice. Through the study of economic actors, their identity, their practices and their functions, this book analyses public and private commercial navigation in relation to the evolution of forms and functions of the State within a general context of the redefinition of the relationship between public good and private interests.

The History of Cartography: Cartography in the European Renaissance John Brian Harley, David Woodward, Mark S. Monmonier, 1987 When the University of Chicago Press launched the landmark History of Cartography series nearly thirty years ago, founding editors J. B. Harley and David Woodward hoped to create a new basis for map history. They did not, however, anticipate the larger renaissance in map studies that the series would inspire. But as the renown of the series and the comprehensiveness and acuity of the present volume demonstrate, the history of cartography has proven to be unexpectedly fertile ground. Cartography in the European Renaissance treats the period from 1450 to 1650, long considered the most important in the history of European mapping This period witnessed a flowering in the production of maps comparable to that in the fields of literature and fine arts Scientific advances appropriations of classical mapping techniques burgeoning trade routes all such massive changes drove an explosion in the making and using of maps While this volume presents detailed histories of mapping in such well documented regions as Italy and Spain it also breaks significant new ground by treating Renaissance Europe in its most expansive geographical sense giving careful attention to often neglected regions like Scandinavia East Central Europe and Russia and by providing innovative interpretive essays on the technological scientific cultural and social aspects of cartography Lavishly illustrated with more than a thousand maps many in color the two volumes of Cartography in the European Renaissance will be the unsurpassable standard in its field both defining it and propelling it forward

East Meets West in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Times Albrecht Classen, 2013-09-03 This new volume explores the surprisingly intense and complex relationships between East and West during the Middle Ages and the early modern world combining a large number of critical studies representing such diverse fields as literary German French Italian English Spanish and Arabic and other subdisciplines of history religion anthropology and linguistics The differences between Islam and Christianity erected strong barriers separating two global cultures but as this volume indicates despite many attempts to Other the opposing side the premodern world experienced an astonishing degree of contacts meetings exchanges and influences Scientists travelers authors medical researchers chroniclers diplomats and merchants criss crossed the East and the West or studied the sources produced by the other culture for many different reasons As much as the theoretical concept of Orientalism has been useful in sensitizing us to the fundamental tensions and conflicts separating both worlds at least since the eighteenth century the premodern world did not quite yet operate in such an ideological framework Even though the Crusades had violently pitted Christians against Muslims there were countless contacts and a palpable curiosity on both sides both before during and after those religious warfares
