Breaking Up America Joseph

Turow,2007-12-01 Combining shrewd analysis of contemporary practices with a historical perspective Breaking Up America traces the momentous shift that began in the mid 1970s when advertisers rejected mass marketing in favor of more aggressive target marketing Turow shows how advertisers exploit differences between consumers based on income age gender race marital status ethnicity and lifestyles An important book for anyone wanting insight into the advertising and media worlds of today In plain English Joe Turow explains not only why our television set is on but what we are watching The frightening part is that we are being watched as we do it Larry King Provocative sweeping and well made Turow draws an efficient portrait of a marketing complex determined to replace the society making media that had dominated for most of this century with segment making media that could zero in on the demographic and psychodemographic corners of our 260 million person consumer marketplace Randall Rothenberg Atlantic Monthly

Hot Shots Robert M. Lantis,Erik T. Nesson,2019 We investigate the hot hand hypothesis using detailed data on free throws and field goal attempts for the entire 2013 2014 and 2014 2015 NBA regular seasons Free throws represent a more controlled setting allowing a closer examination of the potential physiological mechanisms behind success in repeated motions while field goal attempts represent the setting most observers have in mind when commenting on a player's repeated shooting success We examine these two settings together within the same players in the same games permitting a more comprehensive analysis of the hot hand We find a small hot hand effect for free throws concentrated in second and third shots in a free throw sequence in players shooting at least 100 free throws in a season and in games where players shoot four to five free throws We find the opposite results for field goal attempts If a player makes a field goal he is less likely to make his next field goal attempt These results are robust to controlling for the characteristics of the previous shot Interestingly both offenses and defenses respond to made field goals as if the hot hand effect exists

Jon Wertheim to overturn some of the most cherished truisms of sports and reveal the hidden forces that shape how basketball baseball football and hockey games are played won and lost Drawing from Moskowitz's original research as well as studies from fellow economists such as bestselling author Richard Thaler the authors look at the influence home field advantage has on the outcomes of games in all sports and why it exists the surprising truth about the universally accepted axiom that defense wins championships the subtle biases that umpires exhibit in calling balls and strikes in key situations the unintended consequences of referees tendencies in every sport to swallow the whistle and more Among the insights that Scorecasting reveals Why Tiger Woods is prone to the same mistake in high pressure putting situations that you and I are Why professional teams routinely overvalue draft picks The myth of momentum or the hot hand in sports and why so many fans coaches and broadcasters fervently subscribe to it Why NFL coaches rarely go for a first down on fourth down situations even when their reluctance to do so reduces their chances of winning In an engaging narrative that takes us from the putting greens of Augusta to the grid iron of a small parochial high school in Arkansas Scorecasting will forever change how you view the game whatever your favorite sport might be
