contemporary societies The Handbook of Science and Technology Studies provides a comprehensive and authoritative overview of the field reviewing current research and major theoretical and methodological approaches in a way that is accessible to both new and established scholars from a range of disciplines This new edition sponsored by the Society for Social Studies of Science is the fourth in a series of volumes that have defined the field of STS It features 36 chapters each written for the fourth edition that capture the state of the art in a rich and rapidly growing field One especially notable development is the increasing integration of feminist gender and postcolonial studies into the body of STS knowledge The book covers methods and participatory practices in STS research mechanisms by which knowledge people and societies are coproduced the design construction and use of material devices and infrastructures the organization and governance of science and STS and societal challenges including aging agriculture security disasters environmental justice and climate change

Decolonising Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) in an Age of Technocolonialism Artwell Nhemachena, Nokuthula Hlabangane, 2020-02-14 Positioning the notions of coloniality of ignorance and geopolitics of ignorance as central to coloniality and colonisation this book examines how colonialists socially produced ignorance among colonised indigenous peoples so as to render them docile and manageable Dismissing colonial descriptions of indigenous people as savages illiterate irrational prelogical mystical primitive barbaric and backward the book argues that imperialists colonialists contrived geopolitics of ignorance wherein indigenous regions were forced to become ignorant hence containable and manageable in the imperial world Questioning the provenance of modernist epistemologies the book asks why Eurocentric scholars only contest the provenance of indigenous knowledges artefacts and scientific collections Interrogating why empire sponsors the decolonisation of universities epistemologies in indigenous territories while resisting the repatriation restitution of indigenous artefacts the book also wonders why Westerners who still retain indigenous artefacts skulls and skeletons in their museums universities and private collections do not consider such artefacts and skulls to be colonising them as well The book is valuable to scholars and activists in the fields of anthropology museums and heritage studies science and technology studies decoloniality policymaking education politics sociology and development studies

Law, Language, and Science Diana Jeater, 2006-12-30 This book examines the mentalities of various communities within a district of Southern Rhodesia Zimbabwe Focusing in particular on white administrators and missionaries in the Masetter District it combines linguistic lexical analysis with historical interpretation in an attempt to reconstruct what whites and Africans actually meant by the words and practices they used in interactions with each other Jeater provides a detailed study of translation work in Mt Selinda an evangelical mission it also examines formal and informal court hearings to contrast the perceptions and meanings ascribed to cases by white adjudicators and by African participants This leads into an initial attempt to map out the birth of ethnography in Southern Rhodesia and to contrast it with anthropology in South Africa By the 1920s Africans expertise in their own languages and culture had been usurped by self

referential white linguists and ethnographers This account suggests that there is a tendency among archive oriented historians to overestimate how far white missionaries and administrators really understood what Africans said and did In addition to making a contribution to our empirical knowledge of Zimbabwe s history the book focuses on how and why investigators first began to make claims to such knowledge It urges those studying African history to be self reflective about their practice examining the historical roots of their claims to expertise such claims Science and Civilisation in China Joseph Needham,Wang Ling,Gwei-Djen Lu,1971 Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin,2008-03-12 Here at last is the massively updated and augmented second edition of this landmark encyclopedia It contains approximately 1000 entries dealing in depth with the history of the scientific technological and medical accomplishments of cultures outside of the United States and Europe The entries consist of fully updated articles together with hundreds of entirely new topics This unique reference work includes intercultural articles on broad topics such as mathematics and astronomy as well as thoughtful philosophical articles on concepts and ideas related to the study of non Western Science such as rationality objectivity and method You ll also find material on religion and science East and West and magic and science Paulin Hountondji and the Science Question in Africa Zeyad el Nabolsy,2025-07-18 This book offers a systematic reconstruction of Paulin Hountondji s contributions to the debate about the place of modern science on the African continent The book shows that Hountondji develops an account of modern science that is sociologically sensitive to the entanglement between modern science and colonialism on the African continent without falling into epistemic relativism about the claims of modern science It is argued that Hountondji s views on modern science express a strong historical materialist influence and that he develops a theory of science that draws both on the Hessen Grossmann hypothesis and dependency theory Thus this book brings together two strands of historical materialist thought about science that have hitherto been isolated from one another This book is of interest to scholars who specialize in African philosophy history and philosophy of science global philosophy and African studies Integrated Disaster Risk Management: From Earth Sciences to Policy Making Irasema Alcántara-Ayala,Jean-Claude Thouret,Peng Cui,Marten Geertsema,Rodrigo Cienfuegos,2022-11-07 Science Education Research and Practice in Asia Mei-Hung Chiu,2016-06-10 This book discusses the scope of science education research and practice in Asia It is divided into five sections the first consists of nine chapters providing overviews of science education in Asia China Lebanon Macau Malaysia Mongolia Oman Singapore Taiwan and Thailand The second section offers chapters on content analysis of research articles while the third includes three chapters on assessment and curriculum The fourth section includes four chapters on innovative technology in science education and the fifth section consists of four chapters on professional development and informal learning Each section also has additional chapters providing specific comments on the content This collection of works provides readers with a starting point to better understand the current state of science education in Asia The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2003

Some Developments in Research in Science and Mathematics in Sub-Saharan Africa Lorna Holtman, 2008 Much attention in late developing countries is given to providing access to studies which allow school leavers to enter science and technology related careers These programmes are driven by the belief that graduates will then substantially contribute to the developmental needs of their countries But is providing access to institutions enough Students in developing countries often come from school environments lacking in resources human physical and financial This book in a number of chapters reviews research related to the crucial dimension of epistemological access to the disciplines of import which students need as much as institutional access in order to improve their chances of success A significant feature of this collection s research studies is that their empirical bases are highly localised covering areas such as research methods access curriculum instruction and assessment and the relevance of science and mathematics education in Zimbabwe Uganda Swaziland South Africa Namibia Malawi Ghana and Lesotho This volume provides invaluable insights and will be of relevance to researchers policy makers and lecturers interested in these research outcomes in Sub Saharan Africa It is the outcome of a doctoral research capacity development project the Graduate Studies in Science Mathematics and Technology Education GRASSMATE Handbook of Research on Mixed Methods Research in Information Science Ngulube, Patrick, 2021-11-26 Mixed methods research is becoming prevalent in many fields yet little has been done to elevate mixed methods research in information science A comprehensive picture of information science and its problems is needed to further understand and address the issues associated with it as well as how mixed methods research can be adapted and used The Handbook of Research on Mixed Methods Research in Information Science discusses the quality of mixed methods studies and methodological transparency sampling in mixed methods research and the application of theory in mixed methods research throughout various contexts Covering topics such as the issues and potential directions for further research in mixed methods this comprehensive major reference work is ideal for researchers policymakers academicians librarians practitioners instructors and students

Dialogues Between Artistic Research and Science and Technology Studies Henk Borgdorff, Peter Peters, Trevor Pinch, 2019-10-29 This edited volume maps dialogues between science and technology studies research on the arts and the emerging field of artistic research The main themes in the book are an advanced understanding of discursivity and reasoning in arts based research the methodological relevance of material practices and things and innovative ways of connecting staging and publishing research in art and academia This book touches on topics including studies of artistic practices reflexive practitioners at the boundaries between the arts science and technology non propositional forms of reasoning unconventional arts based research methods and enhanced modes of presentation and publication Culturally Responsive Science Pedagogy in Asia Lilia Halim, Murni Ramli, Mohd Norawi Ali, 2022-09-01 Science learning for many is often seen as learning a culture of science knowledge and practices that is incongruent from one s everyday experiences and cultural background of learners This edited volume presents a systemic view of the current initiatives and challenges for the inclusion of culturally responsive science pedagogy CRSP in non Western and multicultural contexts in three Asian countries Malaysia Indonesia and Japan Split into three parts the book examines the history and current educational systems curriculums and sociocultural diversities in each country offering an updated review of equity in education It reflects and expands on the role of CRSP in diverse societies before going into case studies that feature the experiences of teachers in implementing CRSP in Malaysia Indonesia and Japan These snapshots reflect the multiple ways equity is addressed in the teaching and learning of science in these Asian countries allowing readers to extrapolate the possible challenges and best practices for designing and implementing CRSP in practice The final section examines how these findings provide a sustainable platform for building capacity in understanding the cultural complexities and realities of recruiting and retaining diverse students into science One of few books to investigate the role of CRSP in diverse societies in Malaysia Indonesia and Japan this book makes a unique contribution to the field of science education with reference to culturally responsive pedagogy Its strategies and solutions serve as an important comprehensive reference for researchers and science teacher educators

Climate Science, Solutions and Services for Net Zero, Climate-Resilient Food Systems Pete Falloon, Aled Jones, Siemen Van Berkum, Stefan Kepinski, Mike Rivington, 2024-05-06 Food systems are both a major contributor to global greenhouse gas emissions and are strongly impacted by climate change and weather extremes Solutions to deliver net zero food systems therefore need to take climate impacts adaptation and resilience into account in order to ensure they are appropriate in a changing climate and do not conflict with adaptation goals In a similar way adaptation options for the food system must consider potential trade offs consequences and synergies with net zero and other objectives such as the Sustainable Development Goals Solutions for net zero climate resilient food systems will therefore require systematic interdisciplinary approaches across academia governments business NGOs and the public

Racial Segregation and Eugenical Science Between the Wars Michael L. Blakey, 2025-07-18 This volume examines the rise and decline of racial science and its relationship to the political and social imposition of Jim Crow in the American South a racialized code of laws grounded upon an inherently racist and prejudicial pseudoscience The author argues here that the study of human beings within the emerging 18th and 19th century institutions of Western science was corrupted by the limited social intuitions of its enslaving colonizing and elitist members Western science and White societies plowed forward in continued ideological adherence to a biodeterministic imagination to justify slavery then Jim Crow racial segregation immigration restriction and other deadly and exploitative eugenical solutions of Social Darwinist thought The story is further complexified by the countervailing theories and voices of Black and Jewish intellectuals in the social and biocultural sciences in the 19th and 20th centuries such as Frederick Douglass W E B Du Bois and Montague Cobb These had profound consequences not only for the social sciences but also for the cultural life of Black Americans in the aftermath and afterlife of slavery At the same time even here the author discloses that the racialized dimensions of social science could not be fully exorcised as social science continued to construct soft line racism in that it selectively primitivized darker people and omitted White racism and colonialism from their human story African American social scientists and historians brought White racism and Black modernity to the fore Eugenics had begun to paint marginal White people Jewish and Italian immigrants to the United States as natural inferiors to Nordics or Aryans with devastating consequences in World War II Europe As the War ended the world community began its turn against racism in science and society In constructing this historical and sociological counternarrative the author provides a critical new social history that illuminates a tangled and turgid past for contemporary readers students and researchers with vital insights for anthropology sociology history cultural studies philosophy and American studies

Indigenous and Minority Populations Sylvanus Barnabas, 2023-06-21 The sections and chapters contained in this book deal with issues and challenges facing indigenous and minority populations located in several geographical areas of the world The papers are written by writers and scholars from various parts of the world and like any piece of literature on indigenous and minority populations the topics are diverse The perspectives are both interdisciplinary and multi disciplinary The issues examined in the various chapters cover areas pertaining to their human rights preservation of their culture and identity traditional knowledge and their challenges but also scholarly and epistemological approaches to understanding and articulating such topics in academic contexts Indeed the issues around indigenous and minority populations across the world transcend their human rights concerns in relation to dominant groups and institutions within the territorial boundaries of the modern states where they currently live These issues are cultural anthropological sociological philosophical and epistemological as well as historical Any scholarly piece of work on indigenous and minority populations is therefore inevitably inter disciplinary multi disciplinary or both The various topics examined by the authors epitomize this diversity of issues around such populations The book is a significant source of information for students academics practitioners policymakers government officials and non governmental organisations working on issues that pertain to such populations at national regional and global levels
