Science And Scholarship In Hungary:

Science and Scholarship in Hungary Tibor Erdey-Grúz, Kálmán Kulcsár, 1975 Science and Scholarship in Hungary Tibor Erdey-Grúz, Kálmán Kulcsár, 1965 Science Policies in Hungary (1867-1910) and the First Generation of Distinguished Scientists Pál Bödy, 2017 This study presents the science policies of Hungary from 1867-1910. It examines to what extent those policies shaped the scientific commitments of the first generation of scientists in Hungary. Pál Bödy introduces members of the first generation of scientists including their education, motivation, and scientific achievements, as well as a historical interpretation of the emergence of secondary and higher education in Hungary. He documents personal testimonies of this generation of scientists and the role of their teachers. The book includes an in-depth evaluation of the role of educational and science policies in Hungary in the scientific engagements of the first generation. Series: History of Science / Wissenschaftsgeschichte Vol. 4 / Subject: History of Science / Hungarian Studies / Economics Modern Jewish Scholarship in Hungary Tamás Turán, Carsten Wilke, 2016-11-21 The Habsburg Empire was one of the first regions where the academic study of Judaism took institutional shape in the nineteenth century. In Hungary, scholars such as Leopold and Immanuel Löw, David Kaufmann, Ignaz Goldziher, Wilhelm Bacher, and Samuel Krauss had a lasting impact on the Wissenschaft des Judentums / Science of Judaism. Their contributions to Biblical, rabbinic, and Semitic studies, Jewish history, ethnography, and other fields were always part of a transnational Jewish scholarly network and the academic universe. Yet, Hungarian Jewish scholarship assumed a regional tinge as it emerged at an intersection between unquelled Ashkenazi yeshiva traditions, Jewish modernization movements, and Magyar politics that boosted academic Orientalism in the context of patriotic historiography. For the first time, this volume presents an overview of a century of Hungarian Jewish scholarly achievements, examining their historical context and assessing their ongoing relevance. Science in Hungary Tibor Erdey-Grúz, Imre Trencsényi-Waldapfel, 1965 Study of science in Hungary includes the organisation of scientific research, research centres, theoretic work, and work devoted to physics, chemistry, earth sciences, biology, medicine, veterinary science, agronomics, mathematics, economics, politics, legal and historical sciences, linguistics, oriental studies, philosophy, etc. Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi-year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 Guide to Research and Scholarship in Hungary International Research and Exchanges Board, Commission on the Humanities and Social Sciences, 1988 Part one comprises essays by Hungarian scholars summarizing research in various disciplines of the humanities and the natural and social sciences. Part two is a directory of research units providing detailed information about the Academy of Sciences, universities, and colleges, enterprises, museums, libraries, archives, scientific associations, and learned societies. Designed to acquaint American scholars with the work of their Hungarian counterparts in hopes of increasing the contacts between the two communities. A lot of high-quality book for the price.
