The Science and Theology of Godly Love Matthew T. Lee,Amos Yong,2012-06-15 Arguing that there are ways to move beyond the limitations of methodological atheism without compromising scientific objectivity the essays gathered in The Science and Theology of Godly Love explore the potential for collaboration between social science and theology They do so within the context of the interdisciplinary study of Godly Love which examines the perceived experience of loving God being loved by God and thereby being motivated to engage in selfless service to others This volume serves as an introduction to and a call for further research in this new field of study offering ten methodological perspectives on the study of Godly Love written by leading social scientists and theologians Drawing on the work of Douglas Porpora and others the contributors contend that agnosticism is the appropriate methodological stance when religious experience is under the microscope Godly Love does not force a theistic explanation on data instead these essays show that it sensitizes researchers so that they can take seriously the faith and beliefs of those they study without the assumption that these theologies represent an incontestable truth

Love As God Had Intended: A High School Science Teacher Is Given Lessons in Goodness By Native American Teenagers Harry Cralle, This is a true story about the kind of love for one another that God had intended It is a love that arose between a young white man the author and a group of Native American high school students in an experimental school in Chicago in the early 1970s I was a volunteer general science teacher who attempted to teach science with a spiritual dimension within the guide lines of a public school There are many instances of humorous and serious classroom events However most of the book is devoted to dramatic events outside the school involving sports violence crime police sexual abuse attempted suicide attempted murder and great acts of self sacrificing love On two occasions adult Native Americans put me in mortal danger I was saved in one case by two male Native American teenagers ages 14 and 15 and in the other case by the 15 year old male and a 14 year old female They risked their lives to save my life These experiences show how the love that God had intended overcame all social and historical barriers all anger and jealousy all bitterness and resentment to generate goodness and the courage to battle and defeat evil When we see the moon or planets we see the reflected light of the Sun In the love and goodness of these heroes I saw the reflection of the love and goodness of God From 1983 to 2017 I had a professorship in teaching and research at Texas A M University in the Department of Soil Crop Sciences In my 34 years at TAMU I taught more than 13 000 students and supervised more than 300 graduate teaching assistants I taught courses in agricultural ethics history of farming in the Great Plains world food and fiber crops sustainable crop production agricultural extension and international agricultural development My research areas were the interaction of crops and weeds biological nitrogen fixation and the distribution of the products of photosynthesis within plants I am now retired In this book I show how deeply my teaching and understanding of life was affected by these young Native Americans The

New-York Observer ,1910 Islam and Science Robert Morrison,2007-09-17 In examining the work of eminent fourteenth century Iranian Shiite scholar Nizam al Din al Nisaburi this book is the first rigorous attempt to explain the cross fertilization of scientific and religious thought in Islamic civilization Nisaburi did not consider himself a scientist alone being commissioned by his patrons to work in a variety of fields Islam and Science examines in detail the relationship between the metaphysics of Nisaburi s science and statements he made in his Qur an commentary and in other non scientific writings Sources suggest that Nisaburi was inspired to begin his scientific career by the inclusion of basic science in a religious madrasa education By mid career he had found methodological similarities between theoretical astronomy and Islamic jurisprudence Morrison concludes that while Nisaburi believed science could give one a taste of God s knowledge he realised that the study of science and natural philosophy alone could not lead him to a spiritual union with God Only Sufi practice and Sufi theory could accomplish that Morrison s work is remarkable in synthesizing the history of Islamic science with other areas of Islamic studies It will be of interest to students and scholars of religion and the history of science as well as readers with a more general interest in Middle Eastern studies Winner of the Iranian World Prize for Book of the Year in Islamics Studies 2009

Twenty-one New Christian Science Sermons George Edwin Burnell,1891 The Credibility of Science and Religion Paul Weingartner,2025-01-27 Weingartner compares criteria and basic assumptions for the credibility of scientific and religious belief systems It is shown that mankind has access to basic knowledge about a higher spiritual power and knowledge by conscience about what is obligatory or forbidden This is defended by further axiomatizations on basic terms as natural goods natural and moral law and conscience Scientific and religious belief systems are then compared thoroughly and by logical deduction and verisimilitude One main argument is that every kind of belief system has an upper and a lower bound of credibility yet a degree of credibility that leads to the impossibility of rational justification for scientific belief systems must not be required from religious belief systems Further topics are internal and external consistency local refutation mutual complementation between religion and theory of evolution as well as a comparison of the five world religions leading to general features of religion It is shown that one main yet basic axiom of morality is the principle of charity Finally the book concludes with the credibility requirements of science towards religion and those of religion towards science
