Stableford, 1983 Such subjects common in science fiction as space travel aliens and UFOs are examined for scientific truth Close Encounters? R.J Lambourne, M.J Shallis, M Shortland, 1990-01-01 Currently science fiction in all its forms is enjoying enormous popular interest There can be no doubt that science fiction books and films have great influence on the public view of science and scientists Close Encounters examines the historical development of science fiction as a genre in books and films tracing its roots examining its most common ideas exploring its relationship to real science and attempting to assess its cultural impact Discussion focuses on major themes such as time travel politics religion ecology and disasters The authors consider the science in science fiction the images of scientists that science fiction conveys and some of the political religious and social motifs prominent in science fiction They also discuss pseudo science and its growing influence on the public perception of science This fascinating thought provoking study should be read by all those interested in how the nature of science and its role in our society is portrayed in science fiction Pseudoscience and Science Fiction Andrew May, 2016-09-13 Aliens flying saucers ESP the Bermuda Triangle antigravity are we talking about science fiction or pseudoscience Sometimes it is difficult to tell the difference Both pseudoscience and science fiction SF are creative endeavours that have little in common with academic science beyond the superficial trappings of jargon and subject matter The most obvious difference between the two is that pseudoscience is presented as fact not fiction Yet like SF and unlike real science pseudoscience is driven by a desire to please an audience in this case people who want to believe This has led to significant cross fertilization between the two disciplines SF authors often draw on real pseudoscientific theories to add verisimilitude to their stories while on other occasions pseudoscience takes its cue from SF the symbiotic relationship between ufology and Hollywood being a prime example of this This engagingly written well researched and richly illustrated text explores a wide range of intriguing similarities and differences between pseudoscience and the fictional science found in SF Andrew May has a degree in Natural Sciences from Cambridge University and a PhD in astrophysics from Manchester University After many years in academia and the private sector he now works as a freelance writer and scientific consultant He has written pocket biographies of Newton and Einstein as well as contributing to a number of popular science books He has a lifelong interest in science fiction and has had several articles published in Fortean Times magazine The Origins of Science Fiction Michael Newton, 2022-03-24 I seemed to gaze upon a vast space the limits of which extended far beyond my vision This anthology gathers together seventeen gripping tales from the nineteenth and early twentieth century that make up the foundations of science fiction It moves from Mary Shelley to H G Wells from Edgar Allan Poe to W E B Du Bois and from George Eliot to Jack London Before the term science fiction was established writers pursued a new and strange subject matter to be written about in a startlingly new way The selected stories in this collection reflect the many diverse paths that led towards science fiction including scientific Gothic dystopian fantasies psychological hoaxes feminist parables fictions of time travel adventure stories uncanny tales and stories of alien encounters The anthology unveils the power of the literature of the period and exposes our fascination with scientific discovery and the allure and threat of the imagined future This edition includes an introduction by Michael Newton setting out the themes of the tales and exploring the development of science fiction Newton explores how the stories engage with anxiety about the limits of the rational mind the fact of Empire and the discoveries of anthropology the uneasy figure of the scientist the rapid development of technology and the presence of the alien other
