Science Of Religion And The Sociology Of Knowledge Some Methodological Questions:

The Science of Religion and the Sociology of Knowledge Ninian Smart, 2015-03-08 Ambitiously undertaking to develop a strategy for making the study of religion scientific Ninian Smart tackles a set of interrelated issues that bear importantly on the status of religion as an academic discipline He draws a clear distinction between studying religion and doing theology and considers how phenomenological method may be used in investigating objects of religious attitudes without presupposing the existence of God or gods He goes on to criticize projectionist theories of religion notably Berger's and theories of rationality in both religion and anthropology On this basis he builds a theory of religious dynamics which gives religious ideas and entities an autonomous place in the sociology of knowledge His overall purpose is thus to indicate ways forward in the study of religion which free it from being crypto apologetics or elevating poetry Originally published in 1973 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The Question of Methodological Naturalism Jason N. Blum, 2018-09-11 The traditions and institutions that we call religions abound with references to the supernatural ancestral spirits karma the afterlife miracles revelation deities etc How are students of religion to approach the behaviors doctrines and beliefs that refer to such phenomena which by their very nature are supposed to defy the methods of empirical research and the theories of historical scholarship That is the question of methodological naturalism The Question of Methodological Naturalism offers ten thoughtful engagements with that perennial question for the academic study of religion Contributors include established senior scholars and newer voices propounding a range of perspectives resulting in both surprising points of convergence and irreconcilable differences in how our shared discipline should be conceptualized and practiced

Schooling Indifference John I'Anson, Alison Jasper, 2017-06-14 This book is concerned with reimagining Religious Education RE as this is practiced in schools colleges and universities throughout the UK and in a wide variety of international educational contexts On the basis of a critical analysis of current theory and practice in RE the authors argue that this educational framing is no longer plausible in the light of new theoretical developments within the academy A new educational approach to RE is outlined that challenges students to think and practice differently This includes a becoming ethnographer approach that can acknowledge socio material relations and engage the broader literacies necessary for such study Part One examines how RE has been constructed as a discipline in historical and spatial terms that abstract its study from material concerns Part Two offers some new starting points Spinoza Foucault and feminist theory that differently foreground context and relationality and Islam read as a discursive located tradition rather than as world view Finally Part Three proposes a new trajectory for research and practice in RE with the aim of re engaging schools colleges and universities in a dialogue that promotes thinking and practice that as educational is continually in touch with the need to be critical open ended and ethically justifiable Religious Experience Craig Martin, Russell T. McCutcheon, 2014-09-11 Many regard religious experience as the essence of religion arguing that narratives might be created and rituals invented but that these are always secondary to the original experience itself However the concept of experience has come under increasing fire from a range of critics and theorists This Reader presents writings from both those who assume the existence and possible universality of religious experience and those who question the very rhetoric of experience Bringing together both classic and contemporary writings the Reader showcases differing disciplinary approaches to the study of religious experience philosophy literary and cultural theory history psychology anthropology feminist theory as well as writings from within religious studies The essays are structured into pairs with each essay separately introduced with information on its historical and intellectual context The ultimate aim of the Reader is to enable students to explore religious experience as rhetoric created to authorize social identities The book will be an invaluable introduction to the key ideas and approaches for students of Religion as well as Sociology and Anthropology CONTRIBUTORS Robert Desjarlais Diana Eck William James Craig Martin Russell T McCutcheon Wayne Proudfoot Robert Sharf Ann Taves Charles Taylor Joachim Wach Joan Wallach Scott Raymond Williams Scientific Models for Religious

Knowledge Andrew Ralls Woodward, 2018-08-14 Most comparisons of science and religion are really comparisons of science and Christianity or science and Islam and so forth In Scientific Models for Religious Knowledge the author aims to get outside typical polarized debates between traditional a priori theism and radical scientistic naturalism Instead a new science and religion compatibility system between a scientific study of religion and a religious epistemology is our new elusive problem Moreover we shall look at a comparison and contrast of modern science with the simple deference of the human mind to the actions of culturally postulated superhuman agents This book pays critical attention to the contributions of scholars in the philosophy of religion the philosophy of science and the scientific study of religion Scientific Models for Religious Knowledge is useful for readers looking to expand their learning in the philosophies of science and religion as these subjects are taught and analyzed in modern research universities Political Religion Beyond Totalitarianism J.

Augusteijn, P. Dassen, M. Janse, 2013-01-29 The success of fascist and communist regimes has long been explained by their ability to turn political ideology into a type of religion These innovative essays explore the notion that all forms of modern mass politics including democracies need a form of sacralization to function Religion And Ultimate Well-Being Martin

Prozesky, 1984-08-23 A Radical Pluralist Philosophy of Religion Mikel Burley, 2020-01-23 This book is a unique introduction to studying the philosophy of religion drawing on a wide range of cultures and literary sources in an approach that is both methodologically innovative and expansive in its cross cultural and multi religious scope Employing his expertise in interdisciplinary and Wittgenstein influenced methods Mikel Burley draws on works of ethnography and narrative fiction including Dostoevsky's The Brothers Karamazov and Soyinka's Death and the King's Horseman to critically engage with existing approaches to the philosophy of religion and advocate a radical pluralist approach. Breaking away from the standard fixation on a narrow construal of theism, topics discussed include conceptions of compassion in Buddhist ethics, cannibalism in mortuary rituals, divine possession and animal sacrifice in Hindu Goddess worship, and animism in indigenous traditions. Original and engaging, Burley's synthesis of philosophical, anthropological, and literary elements expands and diversifies the philosophy of religion, providing an essential introduction for anyone interested in studying the radical plurality of forms that religion takes in human life.

Die Religionswissenschaft und das Christentum Hjelde, 2018-09-24

What are religious studies? What is theology? And what is their relationship to each other? In the light of such theoretical and methodological questions, this historical inquiry asks what characterizes the study of Christianity within comparative religion as distinguished from that of Christian theology. In the three main sections of the book, representative texts from the history of comparative religion, including Schleiermacher and some other theological forerunners in the 19th century, are analyzed from a methodological and a material point of view. On this basis, an answer is sought to the following questions: What has been the place of the study of Christianity within this discipline? On which methodological principles has it been based? And what kind of picture of Christianity has it presented?

Ninian Smart on World Religions John J. Shepherd, 2017-11-30

Ninian Smart came to public prominence as the founding Professor of the first British university Department of Religious Studies in the late 1960s. His pioneering views on education in religion proved hugely influential at all levels, from primary schools to academic teaching and research. An unending string of publications, many of them accessible to the general public, sustained a reputation that became worldwide. Here, for the first time, a selection of Ninian Smart's wide-ranging writings is organised systematically under a set of categories which both comprehend and also illuminate his varied output over a career spanning half a century. The editor, John Shepherd, was Principal Lecturer in Religion and Philosophy at the University of Cumbria. He first met Smart as a postgraduate student and recently helped establish the Ninian Smart Archive at the University of Lancaster.

World Faiths in Education W. Owen Cole, 2018-12-07

First published in 1978, the World Religions Movement gave way to a new form of religious education which was wide-ranging in content and open in approach. This development raised a number of issues: How broad should the syllabus be? Should Humanism and Marxism be included? How should Christianity be taught? What role has the believer of any one faith in the teaching of RE? As curriculum development gathers momentum, so the need to discuss such questions becomes urgent. This book is devoted to examining the place of world faiths in education by members of a variety of faiths. It will help students and teachers to think their way through the many challenges facing RE today. The book argues a new framework for the subject. The contributors hope that they have provided a signpost pointing to a future in which all who are concerned that children should grow up with an understanding of the ultimate meaning of life, whatever their own faiths may be, are able to work together to make the subject vital and worthwhile.

Fifty Key Thinkers on Religion

Gary Kessler, 2013-03-01 Fifty Key Thinkers on Religion is an accessible guide to the most important and widely studied theorists on religion of the last 300 years. Arranged chronologically, the book explores the lives, works, and ideas of key writers across a truly interdisciplinary range from sociologists to psychologists. Thinkers covered include Friedrich Nietzsche, James Frazer, Sigmund Freud, Emile Durkheim, Ludwig Wittgenstein, Mary Douglas, Talal Asad, Søren Kierkegaard. Providing an indispensable one-volume map of our understanding of religion in the West, the book is fully cross-referenced throughout and provides authoritative guides to important primary and secondary texts for students wishing to take their studies further.

Beyond Phenomenology Gavin Flood, 1999-08-01 This book argues that the understanding and explanation of religion is always historically contingent. Grounded in the work of Bakhtin and Ricoeur, Flood positions the academic study of religion within contemporary debates in the social sciences and humanities concerning modernity and postmodernity, particularly contested issues regarding truth and knowledge. It challenges the view that religions are privileged epistemic objects, argues for the importance of metatheory, and presents an argument for the dialogical nature of inquiry. The study of religion should begin with language and culture, and this shift in emphasis to the philosophy of the sign in hermeneutics and away from the philosophy of consciousness in phenomenology has far-reaching implications. It means a new ethic of practice which is sensitive to the power relationship in any epistemology; it opens the door to feminist and postcolonial critique, and it provides a methodology which allows for the interface between religious studies, theology, and the social sciences. Strangers in a Familiar Land James A. Blumenstock, 2020-04-28 Throughout history, many Christians have existed on the margins of society, deviants and strangers in lands they call home. To survive, they have had to construct alternate identities that not only make sense of their religious experiences and beliefs but also equip them to successfully negotiate their social worlds. In Thailand, a nation where social identities are thoroughly intertwined with Buddhist religious adherence, Christians must come to terms with such a marginalized existence. By leaving Buddhism and adopting what is considered a foreign faith, Christian converts become deviants to normal Thai identity and belonging. In response, they have discovered creative solutions for traversing this complex terrain of marginalization. This book presents a deep exploration of the phenomenon of marginalization as experienced by Thai Christian converts. In it, readers will follow participants through the heights of transformative religious experience, the lows of severe social displacement, the tensions of managing two disparate lifeworlds, and two conflicting selves, and the comfort and joy of finding a new place to call home. In the end, the reader will gain deep insight into what it is like to successfully navigate a minority religious identity on the margins of society. Aztec Religion and Art of Writing

Isabel Laack, 2019-03-27 Winner of the 2020 Award for Excellence in the Study of Religion: Historical Studies. In her groundbreaking investigation from the perspective of the aesthetics of religion, Isabel Laack explores the religion and art of writing of the pre-Hispanic Aztecs of Mexico. Inspired by postcolonial approaches, she reveals Eurocentric biases in academic representations of Aztec cosmology, ontology, epistemology, ritual aesthetics, and the writing system to provide a powerful interpretation of the Nahua sense of reality Laack transcends the concept of sacred scripture traditionally employed in religions studies in order to reconstruct the Indigenous semiotic theory and to reveal how Aztec pictography can express complex aspects of embodied meaning Her study offers an innovative approach to nonphonographic semiotic systems as created in many world cultures and expands our understanding of human recorded visual communication This book will be essential reading for scholars and readers interested in the history of religions Mesoamerican studies and the ancient civilizations of the Americas This excellent book written with intellectual courage and critical self awareness is a brilliant multilayered thought experiment into the images and stories that made up the Nahua sense of reality as woven into their sensational ritual performances and colorful symbolic writing system David Carrasco Harvard University Nāgārjuna and the Philosophy of Openness Nancy McCagney, 1997 In this innovative study of the philosopher Nagarjuna Nancy McCagney demonstrates that the concept of space akasa in early Indian Mahayana Buddhism is the root metaphor for Nagarjuna's understanding of sunyata or openness Nagarjuna's use of the term sunyata was new and contrasted with the word's use in Pali Buddhist literature By using the word to mean openness Nagarjuna was able to elucidate through a deeper analysis of impermanence a consistent philosophical foundation for the truth and efficacy of Gautama's Middle Way McCagney's book will be important for those studying Indian philosophy Buddhism and the philosophy of religion The Comity and Grace of Method Thomas Ryba, George D. Bond, Herman Tull, 2004-08-10 Essays that reflect the interests and influence of a highly distinguished scholar of religions Dictionary of Modern American Philosophers John R. Shook, 2005-01-01 The Dictionary of Modern American Philosophers includes both academic and non academic philosophers and a large number of female and minority thinkers whose work has been neglected It includes those intellectuals involved in the development of psychology pedagogy sociology anthropology education theology political science and several other fields before these disciplines came to be considered distinct from philosophy in the late nineteenth century Each entry contains a short biography of the writer an exposition and analysis of his or her doctrines and ideas a bibliography of writings and suggestions for further reading While all the major post Civil War philosophers are present the most valuable feature of this dictionary is its coverage of a huge range of less well known writers including hundreds of presently obscure thinkers In many cases the Dictionary of Modern American Philosophers offers the first scholarly treatment of the life and work of certain writers This book will be an indispensable reference work for scholars working on almost any aspect of modern American thought Religious Studies Gregory D. Alles, 2010-03-01 Drawing on recent developments in the comparative study of religion this book explores the trends of the past sixty years from a global perspective Each of the ten chapters covers the study of religion in a different region of the world from Europe and the Americas to Asia and the Far East Topics covered include local background to the study of religions formation of religious studies in the region important thinkers and writings institutions interregional diversity and interregional connections emerging issues This book is a major contribution to the field of religious studies and a valuable reference for scholars researchers and graduate students The Problem of Disenchantment Egil Asprem, 2018-05-31 Challenges the conventional view of a disenchanted and secular modernity and recovers the complex relation that exists between science religion and esotericism in the modern world Max Weber famously characterized the ongoing process of intellectualization and rationalization that separates the natural world from the divine by excluding magic and value from the realm of science and reason and fact from the realm of religion as the disenchantment of the world Egil Asprem argues for a conceptual shift in how we view this key narrative of modernity Instead of a sociohistorical process of disenchantment that produces increasingly rational minds Asprem maintains that the continued presence of magic and enchantment in people's everyday experience of the world created an intellectual problem for those few who were socialized to believe that nature should contain no such incalculable mysteries Drawing on a wide range of early twentieth century primary sources from theoretical physics occultism embryology radioactivity psychical research and other fields Asprem casts the intellectual life of high modernity as a synchronic struggle across conspicuously different fields that shared surprisingly similar intellectual problems about value meaning and the limits of knowledge The Problem of Disenchantment is in its entirety extraordinarily well researched argued and written representing at once the most complete and nuanced treatment of the notion of disenchantment within this network of scientific religious philosophical and esoteric discourses and currents Nova Religio
