Science And Christian Belief Theological Reflections Of A Bottom Up Thinker:

Science and Christian Belief J. C. Polkinghorne, 1994 An attempt to apply scientific habits of thought to the core of Christian belief and to examine in turn the central tenets of the creeds in the light of a thoroughly modern world view The result is an intellectual presentation of orthodox Christianity Human Significance in Theology and the Natural Sciences Christopher L. Fisher, 2010-02-03 The Medieval Worldview that Regarded Human Beings as at the Center of God's plans for His universe has long been regarded as obsolete its synthesis of Christian theology and Greek philosophy having collapsed under the weight of Copernicus Galileo and Darwin The popular stereotype is that Science both in the Copernican revolution that dethroned the earth centered view of the cosmos and in subsequent developments in evolutionary theory and general relativity has marginalized and trivialized human existence revealing humanity's place in the cosmos to be accidental peripheral and ultimately meaningless However an investigation into both modern Christian theology and contemporary twenty first century Science reveals just the opposite providing solid evidence in the interdisciplinary dialogue concerning the significance of humanity within the universe In this important study Christopher Fisher analyzes several modern theologians including Wolfhart Pannenberg Karl Rahner and John Zizioulas to reveal how contemporary ecumenical theology is deeply and intrinsically committed to a high view of human cosmic significance as a consequence of Christianity's indelible Trinitarian and incarnational faith Fisher then demonstrates how research in contemporary natural Science confirms this finding in its own way as recent primate intelligence studies artificial intelligence research and even the quest for extra terrestrial intelligence reveal the wonder of human uniqueness A contemporary version of the teleological argument also resurfaces in consideration of cosmic evolutionary perspectives on human existence Even ecological concerns take on a new poignancy with the realization that among material creatures only human beings are capable of addressing the world's situation This interdisciplinary study uncovers the surprising coherence and convergence of Christian Theology and Natural Science on the subject of human existence and significance here at the beginning of the twenty first century and it highlights the very unique role of humanity in global and cosmic history Through an incisive study of several leading twentieth century theologians Chris Fisher explores the ecumenical consensus for a strong reading of human cosmic significance While acknowledging problems surrounding earlier forms of anthropocentrism he argues that Christian theology remains wedded to a high understanding of the place of human beings in the economy of creation and salvation This is a valuable contribution to an important debate in contemporary theology David Fergusson University of Edinburgh This is a fascinating work on the interface between theology and science The author's remarkable breadth of knowledge clarity of thought and lucid writing style enable him to help the reader to understand the coherence between science and faith This scholarly work is an irenic and well informed presentation of the Christian faith and will become one of the primary textbooks in theology philosophy of religion and philosophy of science Laurence W Wood Asbury Theological Seminary Incarnation Niels Henrick

Gregersen,2015-07-01 This volume takes the reader on a journey from New Testament and early church views of incarnation to contemporary understandings of Christology A prominent group of scholars explores and debates the idea of deep incarnation the view that the divine incarnation in Jesus presupposes a radical embodiment that reaches into the roots of material and biological existence as well as into the darker sides of creation Such a wide scope view of incarnation allows Christology to be meaningful when responding to the challenges of scientific cosmology and global religious pluralism

Overcoming Reductionism and Crafting a New Synthesis Piotr Roszak,Saša Horvat,2024-06-26 This book explores and sheds light on the contemporary discourse between science and religion Employing the methodological approach of modern science Overcoming Reductionism aims to explain natural phenomena not in isolation from philosophical or theological interpretations The book then focuses on the concept of pain Although pain is a phenomenon familiar to all humans defining it exclusively in terms of nociception proves challenging This book therefore delves into the intricate nature of the phenomenon critically acknowledging the way pain profoundly influences the construction of one s existential meaning particularly concerning matters of faith

Paul Tillich and His System of Paradoxical Correlation Charles Amarkwei,2020-05-05 This book shows the paradoxical mode by which Christians keep their faith in the Christian message as they relate with science It reveals how Paul Tillich s method of correlation helps us to understand how Christians interact with science without necessarily conflicting separating and dialoguing and synthesizing with each other It rules out natural theology but provides a non eclectic theology of nature that frees Christians to be involved in science meaningfully and without undermining their faith

God, Evolution, and Animal Suffering Bethany N. Sollereder,2018-10-29 After the publication of On the Origin of Species in 1859 theologians were faced with the dilemma of God creating through evolution Suddenly pain suffering untimely death and extinction appeared to be the very tools of creation and not a result of the sin of humanity Despite this paradigm shift the question of non human suffering has been largely overlooked within theodicy debates overwhelmed by the extreme human suffering of the twentieth century This book redresses this imbalance by offering a rigorous academic treatment of the questions surrounding God and the suffering of non human animals Combining theological philosophical and biblical perspectives this book explores the relationship between God and Creation within Christian theology First it dismantles the popular theological view that roots violence and suffering in the animal kingdom in the fall of humanity Then through an exploration of the nature of love it affirms that there are multiple reasons to suggest that God and creation can both be good even with the presence of violence and suffering This is an innovative exploration of an under examined subject that encompasses issues of theology science morality and human animal interactions As such it will be of keen interest to scholars and academics of religion and science the philosophy of religion theodicy and biblical studies

Incarnation and Physics Tapio Luoma,2002 Tapio Luoma examines Thomas F Torrance s claim that modern empirical sciences are actually an outcome of the Christian theology of the early church He shows how Torrance s reformed concern for the doctrine of election has affected his view of realism      An Introduction to Ministry Ian S. Markham, Oran E. Warder, 2016-01-19 An Introduction to Ministry is a comprehensive and ecumenical introduction to the craft of ministry for ministers pastors and priests that make up the mainline denominations in the United States Ecumenically focused It offers a grounded account of ministry covering areas such as vocation congregational leadership and cultivation of skills for an effective ministry Covers the key components of the M Div curriculum offering a map and guide to the central skills and issues in training Explores the areas of vocation skills for ministry and issues around congregational leadership Each topic ends with an annotated bibliography providing an indispensable gateway to further study Helps students understand both the distinctive approach of their denomination and the relationship of that approach to other mainline denominations Advocates and defends a generous understanding of the Christian tradition in its openness and commitment to broad conversation

Ramified Natural Theology in Science and Religion Rodney Holder, 2020-10-15 This book offers a rationale for a new ramified natural theology that is in dialogue with both science and historical critical study of the Bible Traditionally knowledge of God has been seen to come from two sources nature and revelation However a rigid separation between these sources cannot be maintained since what purports to be revelation cannot be accepted without qualification rational argument is needed to infer both the existence of God from nature and the particular truth claims of the Christian faith from the Bible Hence the distinction between bare natural theology and ramified natural theology The book begins with bare natural theology as background to its main focus on ramified natural theology Bayesian confirmation theory is utilised to evaluate competing hypotheses in both cases in a similar manner to that by which competing hypotheses in science can be evaluated on the basis of empirical data In this way a case is built up for the rationality of a Christian theist worldview Addressing issues of science theology and revelation in a new framework this book will be of keen interest to scholars working in Religion and Science Natural Theology Philosophy of Religion Biblical Studies Systematic Theology and Science and Culture      Science and Spirituality Michael Ruse, 2010-03-08 Introduction The world as an organism The world as a machine Organisms as machines Thinking machines Unasked questions unsolved problems Organicism God Morality souls eternity mystery

Apologetics in 3D Peter S. Williams, 2021-09-03 This collection of papers and other materials from English philosopher Peter S Williams develops a holistic vision for Christian apologetics centered around a biblical understanding of spirituality Grounded in two decades of practical experience here is a vision of apologetics that is interested in communicating through beauty and goodness as well as logic and arguments      Divine Action and Emergence Mariusz Tabaczek, 2021-05-15 Divine Action and Emergence puts the classical Aristotelian Thomistic tradition in conversation with current philosophy and theology As a middle path between classical theism and pantheism the panentheistic turn in the twentieth century has been described as a quiet revolution Today in fact many theologians hold that the world is in God who at the same time is more than the world Panentheism has been especially influential in the dialogue between theology and the natural sciences Many have seen panentheism as compatible with emergentism and thus have brought the two together in developing models of divine action that do not abrogate the regularities of processes of the natural world In Divine Action and Emergence Mariusz Tabaczek argues that as inspiring and intriguing as emergentist panentheism is it requires deeper examination He begins by looking at the wonder of emergence which calls into question the overly reductionist attitude in natural science and by reflecting philosophically on emergence theory in light of classical and new Aristotelianism Moving in a theological direction Tabaczek then offers a critical evaluation of emergentist panentheism and a constructive proposal for how to reinterpret the idea of divine action as inspired by the theory of emergence with reference to the classical Aristotelian Thomistic understanding of God's action in the universe Through a unique interdisciplinary approach that puts theology and the natural sciences into a dialogue through philosophy Divine Action and Emergence offers a comprehensive evaluation of panentheism It then puts forward an original reinterpretation of emergence theory thus setting forth a constructive proposal for reinterpreting the concept of divine action that is currently espoused by emergence theory It will appeal to scholars of theology and philosophy those who work in the area of theology and science those interested in emergence theory or panentheism and finally those who are interested in the dialogue between the classical Aristotelian Thomistic tradition and contemporary philosophy and theology

God and the Scientist Fraser Watts,2016-04-22 This book presents a celebration survey and critique of the theological work of arguably the most important and most widely read contributor to the modern dialogue between science and theology John Polkinghorne Including a major survey by Polkinghorne himself of his life's work in theology this book draws together contributors from among the most important voices in the science theology dialogue today to focus on key aspects of Polkinghorne's work with Polkinghorne providing responses Anybody exploring contemporary aspects of the science religion debate will find this book invaluable

Tomorrow's Catholic Michael Morwood,1997 Tomorrow's Catholic offers a fascinating outline of contemporary cosmology that connects the message of Jesus and the spirituality of Pentecost to the world we live in today A special focus is on expressing ancient truths in contemporary language

Christianity, Evolution and the Environment Barry John Richardson,2001 Written to be accessible to a broad cross section of people especially those without backgrounds in theology or science this book provides an introduction to the relationship between Christianity and science It provides the framework for Christians to reconcile their faith with the reality of evolution

The Trinity, Creation and Pastoral Ministry Graham Buxton,2007-01-01 In this book the author proposes a three way conversation between theology science and pastoral ministry His approach draws on a Trinitarian understanding of God as a relational being of love whose life spills over into all created reality human and nonhuman By locating human meaning and purpose within God's creation community this book offers the possibility of a transforming engagement between those in pastoral ministry and the scientific community

The Flaw in the Universe Adrian Hough,2010-10-16 When we look at the world around us one of the most common observations is that things have a tendency to go wrong People make mistakes have accidents and some of them commit deliberate acts of violence Disease affects every single species of plant and animal on the planet Natural disasters kill millions of people and decimate animal populations Countless people and animals suffer through no fault of their own Scientists explain these events in various ways depending upon whether they involve errors in human choices and actions or whether they are caused by natural events Theologians give us a different set of religious explanations At times it can appear as if there is a fundamental flaw in the universe In this book Adrian Hough uses his training and expertise as both a scientist and a theologian to approach this flaw from both directions and comes up with the astonishing result that both sets of reasoning might have the same fundamental explanation

Reason and Religion in an Age of Science Terry Kelly, 2007-12-31 The book is aimed at senior high school and college students as a textbook a book to be used in a classroom setting in course in science and religion religion and philosophy It deals with topics such as 1 The importance of science and religion methods of science the method of religion the birth of modern cosmology the development of cosmology the Big Bang the Book of Genesis the Stars the Anthropic universe science at its limits the resurrection and the fruits of a useful conversation between science and religion The book has 10 chapters and has questions and comes with a CD that has many power points for us in the classroom as and adjunct to teaching with the accompanying the text

God and the World of Signs Andrew Robinson, 2010-09-24 Drawing on the philosophy of C S Peirce Robinson develops a semiotic model of the Trinity and proposes a new theology of nature according to which the evolving cosmos may be understood as bearing vestiges of the Trinity in creation

The Heavens Declare Rodney Holder, 2012-02-01 One of the central themes of inquiry for Karl Barth the twentieth century Protestant theologian was the notion of revelation Although he was suspicious of natural theology i e the seeking of evidence for God s existence in the ordered structure of the world recent scientific advances notably in physics and cosmology and the flourishing modern dialogue between science and religion offer compelling reasons to revisit Barth s thinking on the concept We must again ask whether and how it might be possible to hold together the notion of revelation whilst employing reason and scientific evidence in the justification of belief In The Heavens Declare author Rodney Holder re examines Barth s natural theology argument and then explores how it has been critiqued and responded to by others starting with Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Wolfhart Pannenberg Holder then considers the contributions of two notable British participants in the science religion dialogue Thomas Torrance and Alister McGrath who despite their repudiation of natural theology in the traditional sense also provide many positive lessons The book concludes by defending an overall position which takes into account the ideas of the aforementioned theologians as well as others who are currently engaged positively in natural theology such as John Polkinghorne and Richard Swinburne Holder s new study is sure to be of interest to theologians philosophers of religion and all scholars interested in the science religion dialogue especially those interested in natural theology as an enterprise in itself
