Character Actors in Horror and Science Fiction Films, 1930-1960 Laurence Raw, 2014-01-10 This biographical dictionary presents a stellar lineup of talented versatile character actors who regularly appeared in horror and science fiction films during Hollywood's golden age. Many are well known by genre buffs and casual fans; they include Lionel Atwill, John Carradine, Dwight Frye, Rondo Hatton, Dick Miller, J. Carroll Naish, Maria Ouspenskaya, Glenn Strange, Edward Van Sloan, and George Zucco. Some are perhaps not so well known but equally at home in the horror and science fiction films such as Anthony Carbone, Harry Cording, Rosemary La Planche, Dick Purcell, Elizabeth Russell, and Mel Welles. The 96 entries are complete with a biography and in-depth analyses of the actor's best performances, demonstrating how important these personalities were to the success of their genre films. The Cambridge Companion to Science Fiction, Edward James Farah Mendlesohn, 2003-11-20. Science fiction is at the intersection of numerous fields. It is a literature which draws on popular culture and which engages in speculation about science history and all types of social relations. This volume brings together essays by scholars and practitioners of science fiction which look at the genre from these different angles. After an introduction to the nature of science fiction, historical chapters trace science fiction from Thomas More to more recent years, including a chapter on film and television. The second section introduces four important critical approaches to science fiction, drawing their theoretical inspiration from Marxism, postmodernism, feminism, and queer theory. The final and largest section of the book looks at various themes and sub-genres of science fiction. A number of well-known science fiction writers contribute to this volume, including Gwyneth Jones, Ken MacLeod, Brian Stableford, Andy Duncan, James Gunn, Joan Slonczewski, and Damien Broderick.

1950s Science Fiction Films and 9/11, Melvin E. Matthews, 2007. 1950s Cold War era monsters meet 21st century terrorists: this exploration of sci-fi movies examines the similarities and differences between the political environment and popular culture of two eras. This examination and appreciation of 1950s science fiction films includes behind-the-scenes tales about their production and many quotes from those who produced and starred in the films. The author draws parallels between the Cold War fears of the 1950s and 60s and the constant terrorism alerts of the September 11th era, exploring how the politics and the psychological climate of the times influences and is reflected in this vehicle of popular culture. This book is the first of its kind, studying the pop culture genre in the wake of the September 11th tragedy. It shows that whatever the era and whatever the challenges and crises confronting America, many entertainment themes remain the same, reflecting their respective times and the relevant issues. For instance, Godzilla, the only Fifties era monster to remain a movie star beyond that era, could be fashioned to reflect whatever issues dominate the times: be they nuclear war in the Fifties, when Godzilla originated, to a Seventies Godzilla film about environmental pollution. Conceivably, a Godzilla for the age of terrorism is possible. Then the 1954 atomic mutation classic is the spiritual ancestor of the 2002 film Eight Legged Freaks. The alien invaders of the Fifties signified a Russian invasion of America, while other films of the genre such as Invaders from Mars depicted aliens utilizing mind control to manipulate humans to commit acts of sabotage, signifying Communist enslavement. If such a film were made now, such invaders could be seen as terrorist masterminds using human slaves to commit terrorist acts Finally several Fifties films depicted the end of the world at a time when Americans expected a nuclear war with Russia The immediate pre September 11th era witnessed films presenting galactic threats to mankind s existence Independence Day Deep Impact Armageddon while the early 2000s witnessed the popularity of the Left Behind Christian films dramatizing the Tribulation period in the Book of Revelation Science-fiction Studies ,2002

Science Fiction Film, Television, and Adaptation Jay Telotte,Gerald Duchovnay,2011-08-05 While film and television seem to be closely allied screen media our feature films and television series have seldom been successfully adapted across those screens In fact rather than functioning as portals those allied media often seem quite literally screens that filter out something that made the source work so popular in its original form Differences in budget running times cast viewing habits screen size and shape all come into play and this volume s aim is to track a number of popular texts in the course of their adaptive journeys across the screens in order to sketch the workings of that cross media adaptation For its specific examples the volume draws on a single genre science fiction not only because it is one of the most popular today in either film or television but also because it is arguably the most self conscious of contemporary genres and thus one that most obviously frames the terms of these technological adaptations The essays included here mine that reflexive character in both highly successful and in failed efforts at cross media adaption to help us understand what film and television achieve in screening science fiction and to reveal some of the key issues involved in all of our efforts to navigate the various screens that have become part of contemporary culture American Reference Books Annual ,2001 1970 issued in 2 vols v 1 General reference social sciences history economics business v 2 Fine arts humanities science and engineering
