Natural History Of Nature Writing:

A Natural History of Nature Writing Frank Stewart, 2012-07-11 A Natural History of Nature Writing is a penetrating overview of the origins and development of a uniquely American literature. Essayist and poet Frank Stewart describes in rich and compelling prose the lives and works of the most prominent American nature writers of the 19th and 20th centuries including Henry D Thoreau the father of American nature writing John Burroughs a schoolteacher and failed businessman who found his calling as a writer and elevated the nature essay to a loved and respected literary form John Muir founder of Sierra Club who celebrated the wilderness of the Far West as few before him had Aldo Leopold a Forest Service employee and scholar who extended our moral responsibility to include all animals and plants Rachel Carson a scientist who raised the consciousness of the nation by revealing the catastrophic effects of human intervention on the Earth's living systems Edward Abbey an outspoken activist who charted the boundaries of ecological responsibility and pushed these boundaries to political extremes Stewart highlights the controversies ignited by the powerful and eloquent prose of these and other writers with their expansive and often strongly political points of view. Combining a deeply felt sense of wonder at the beauty surrounding us with a rare ability to capture and explain the meaning of that beauty nature writers have had a profound effect on American culture and politics. A Natural History of Nature Writing is an insightful examination of an important body of American literature.

A Natural History of Nature Writing Frank Stewart, 1995 In Western society we feel neither entirely at one with our fellow creatures nor entirely separate. Over the years nature writers have struggled in memorable language with this feeling of in-betweenness. A Natural History of Nature Writing shows us how this genre combines the rigors of science with the beauty of art to make our minds and our hearts whole. The book offers a penetrating overview of the origins and development of this uniquely American literature. Essayist and poet Frank Stewart describes in rich and compelling prose the lives and works of the most prominent American nature writers of the 19th and 20th centuries.

Nature Writing Don Scheese, 2013-10-28 In this comprehensive study of the genre Don Scheese traces its evolution from the pastoralism evident in the natural history observations of Aristotle and the poetry of Virgil to current American writers. He documents the emergence of the modern form of nature writing as a reaction to industrialization. Scheese's personal observations of natural settings sharpen the reader's understanding of the dynamics between author and locale. His study is further informed by ample use of illustrations and close readings of core writers such as Thoreau John Muir and Mary Austin showing how each writer's work exemplifies the pastoral tradition and celebrates a spirit of place in the United States.
