

NOTHING GOLD CAN STAY

BY ROBERT FROST

Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower;
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day.
Nothing gold can stay.

A Nature Poem for Every Night of the Year Jane McMorland Hunter, 2020-09-08 A calming collection of nature poems to help you relax and unwind at the end of every day Now more than ever we re all in need of a daily fix of the natural world to comfort and distract us from the cares of everyday life Keep this beautiful book by your bedside and enjoy a dreamy stroll through nature every evening just before you go to sleep All the great time honoured poets are here William Wordsworth John Keats Emily Dickinson Robert Bridges along with some newer and less well known poetic voices The poems reflect and celebrate the changing seasons read Emily Bront on bluebells in spring and Edward Thomas s evocative Adlestrop in summer then experience golden autumn with Hartley Coleridge and William Blake s To Winter Beautifully illustrated with scenes from each season this wonderful book deserves a place on your bedside table for years to come Natural Things Hugh

Ogden, 1998-05-01 Natural Things Constance Hunting, 1999 Constance Hunting s work ranges from imagist lyrics to a verse novella and in the extended meditative poems of her recent years Hunting has created a mode witty playful but problemingly reflective that is distinctly her own This volume collects all of Hunting s work to date supplementing her Collected Poems of 1983 with poems from three later collections BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved The Shapes of Natural Things Blake Townsend Romanov, 2017-07-10 This The Shapes Of Natural Things is a book of poems about nature love God and the intersection of plant animal human and divine things It is written in rhyme and meter with the exception of the limerick which is not strictly metrical The poems in this book are mainly dedicated to one woman but there are others to and about other friends as well as about issues that interest me in the realm of religion philosophy psychology etc It is the third book I have written under the name Blake Townsend Romanov the others being Pare My Heart and Draw Me A Spirit Those books are dedicated to other women and as with them I have used a pseudonym not only for myself but for the muse In spite of the singularity of its dedication this book like the previous two is meant to be enjoyed by all As a poet I indulged in rich language and bountiful melody and my goal is not so much to change poetry as to provide people with the very sort of joy for which people in the past as well as today have looked to poetry I am an entertainer though my thoughts are earnestly given In my view poetry is a region in which the logical and the aesthetic blend ideas can be beautiful especially when they are adorned with choice words That said I very much want my poems to be understood as well as to impress I feel that metaphor however is a type of lying that leads ultimately to truth We were pulled away from the literal truth of what is being discussed only to resolve metaphor and the object of description in a metaphysical unity of meaning That being said adorning of ideas is not merely in lexicon or comparison it must be sensory as well Thus I have attempted to draw on the beauty of natural forms and natural life and hope that those sensations especially images stand alone as beautiful even independently of the critical context Finally I have tried to make this book thematically related throughout and one of my major themes has been the relation between the will of the spirit and natural things instinct and the binding of cause effect the limitation that come with inhabiting form and with our perception which is bound to form Thus I call it The Shapes Of Natural Things      A Study Guide for Robert Duncan's "Poetry, A Natural Thing" Gale, Cengage Learning, A Study Guide for Robert Duncan s Poetry A Natural Thing excerpted from Gale s acclaimed Poetry for Students This concise study guide includes plot summary character analysis author biography study questions historical context suggestions for further reading and much more For any literature project trust Poetry for Students for all of your research needs      A Nature Poem for Every Day of the Year Jane McMorland Hunter, 2020-11-27 365 poems celebrating nature and the changing seasons This is the perfect bedside companion for any nature or poetry fan featuring famous odes from big name poets alongside unsung poems from less well known writers Each poem is chosen to chime with the natural world through the seasons Spring is a time of hope a season of new life with William Wordsworth s daffodils John Clare s lambs and Christina Rossetti s birdsong Summer shifts into a time of leisure with long idyllic holidays in the countryside According to Henry James the two most beautiful words in the English language were summer afternoon a sentiment echoed by Edward Thomas and Emily Dickinson John Keats William Blake and W H Auden are the poets we associate with autumn and this is possibly the most poetic season The natural world and the human one hold onto the last lingering memories of summer before they turn to face the oncoming hardships of winter Amy Lowell and George Meredith perfectly frame this time of year with their silver fringed leaves and crimson berries Winter can be savoured in poetry rather than endured bleak grey days are transformed into a world of glittering frost and snow blanketed landscapes Even in the darkest days life continues and soon we can turn our attention to the rebirth of spring A wonderful collection of poems that help mark the daily turn of the seasons and all the rituals marking the significant moments of the year from Candlemas to Christmas
