The Nature of Intelligence Louis Leon

Thurstone, 1927 A psychological subject that is at the present time very much in the public mind is that of Intelligence Tests Most of the psychological tests that are in common use have been arrived at principally by trying different tests for different purposes until certain tests have been found to be successful There is considerable difference of opinion as to what intelligence really is but even if we do not know just what intelligence is we can still use the tests as long as they are demonstrably satisfactory for definite practical ends We use electricity for practical purposes even though we have been uncertain as to its ultimate nature and it is so with the intelligence tests We use the tests and leave it for separate inquiry to determine the ultimate nature of intelligence In these chapters I have started with the assumption that conduct originates in the actor himself and I have tried to discover what intelligent conduct may mean if we follow this assumption to its limits I find that the disparity between the new psychology and the academic or scientific psychology and the most rigorously objective behaviourism breaks down completely These three schools of psychological interpretation form a continuum in that conduct originates in the self as studied by psychiatry it takes partial and tentative formulations in conscious states as studied by academic psychology and it completes itself into behaviour as studied by the behaviourist school The cognitive categories of academic psychology become in such an interpretation the incomplete and tentative formulations of conduct Consciousness is interpreted as conduct which is in the process of being formed It may be that these chapters contain nothing that is fundamentally new beyond the attempt to harmonize three schools of thought about human nature which have the appearance of being irreconcilably disparate Stated in a nutshell my message is that psychology starts with the unrest of the inner self and it completes its discovery in the contentment of the inner self Preface PsycINFO Database Record c 2007 APA all rights reserved

The Nature of Intelligence L.L. Thurstone, 2013-11-05 First published in 1999 The author writing in 1923 starts with the assumption that conduct originates in the actor himself and tries to discover what intelligent conduct may mean if we follow this assumption to its limits He then sets about to harmonize three schools of thought about human nature which have the appearance of being irreconcilably disparate Stated in a nutshell his message is that psychology starts with the unrest of the inner self and it completes its discovery in the contentment of the inner self The Nature of "intelligence" and the Principles of Cognition Charles Spearman,2019 The Nature of Intelligence Gregory R. Bock,Jamie A. Goode,Kate Webb,2003-10-31 Evolutionary psychology and behavioural genetics are two successful and important fields in the study of human behaviour but practitioners in these subjects have different conceptions of the nature of human intelligence Evolutionary psychologists dispute the existence of general intelligence and emphasise the differences among species They argue that natural and sexual selection would be expected to produce intelligences that are specialised for particular domains as encountered by particular species Behavioural geneticists consider general intelligence to be the most fundamental aspect of intelligence and concentrate on the differences between individuals of the same species This exciting book features papers and discussion contributions from leading behavioural geneticists evolutionary psychologists and experts on intelligence that explore the differences and the tensions between these two approaches The nature of g or general intelligence is discussed in detail as is the issue of the heritability of intelligence The alternative approaches that emphasise domain specific intelligences are explored alongside wide ranging discussions on a broad range of issues such as the biological basis for intelligence animal models and changes in IQ scores over time Intelligence Erness Bright Brody,Nathan Brody,1976 What is Intelligence? Robert J. Sternberg,Douglas K. Detterman,1986 Two dozen brief essays by the foremost experts in the field are presented in this volume Each researcher comments on the nature of intelligence its measurement and the future of research in the field bringing his or her own perspective to bear on the issues Truly diverse viewpoints are represented cognitive psychology developmental psychology psychometrics artificial intelligence cross cultural psychology educational psychology and differential psychology An introduction that sets an historical and philosophical context and two essays that interrelate the contributions complete the volume Metaphors of Mind Robert J. Sternberg,1990-07-27 Metaphors of Mind seeks to help readers understand human intelligence as viewed from a variety of standpoints such as those of psychology anthropology computational science sociology and philosophy Much of the present confusion surrounding the concept of intelligence stems from our having looked at it from these different standpoints without considering how they relate to each other or how they might be combined into a unified view that goes beyond the boundaries of a particular discipline Readers of Metaphors of Mind will come away with a comprehensive understanding of the concept of intelligence and how ideas about it have evolved and are continuing to evolve The Nature of 'intelligence' and the Principles of Cognition Charles Edward Spearman,1932 The Nature of Intelligence Louis L. Thurstone,1973 The Nature of Intelligence ,1976 The Intelligence behind Nature Daniel Perret,2021-10-21 This book explores the conscious intelligence operating through nature through every tree river system or flower The author brings examples of what the work of nature spirits concretely consists of and how organized and complex nature is operating managing the transition from non physical energy consciousness to physical manifestation It is characteristic of us civilized people to deal with nature from a purely anthropocentric point of view even when this is called eco centric in the ecologist movement and the rights of nature initiatives It is presumed that in nature there are no intelligent communication partners that can express their own point of view The shift in consciousness that occurred with Newtonian science in the 17th century splitting away and ignore the conscious intelligence of nature created our whole unbalance and alienation towards nature and life Recent philosophical discoveries confirm that consciousness is based on feelings and does not need a brain in order to operate Quantum field theory and energy science are possibly converging in the understanding of how energy layers operate and become transformed into matter one coming from physics the other from spiritual healing Recent philosophical discoveries confirm that conscious ness is based on feelings and does not need a brain in order to operate Quantum field theory and energy science are possibly converging in the understanding of how energy layers operate and become transformed into matter one coming from physics the other from spiritual healing Any communication with possible conscious beings in nature needs to fulfil some basic criteria espacially when evaluating whether they can contribute to political or legal decisions A recent interview with the Loire River Elemental can give an idea of how useful such a cooperation might be
