Nature In Its Greatest Extent Western Science In The Pacific:

Science and the Pacific War Roy M. MacLeod, 1999-12-31 In 1995 the fiftieth anniversary of the end of the Second World War occasioned many reflections on the place of science and technology in the conflict That the war ended with Allied victory in the Pacific theatre inevitably focussed attention upon the Pacific region and particularly upon the Manhattan project and its outcome It was in the Pacific that Western physics and engineering gave birth to the Atomic Age However the Pacific war had also proved a testing time and a testing space for other disciplines and institutions Extreme environments and operational distances and the fundamental demands of logistics required the Allies and the Japanese to innovate many scientific and technological practices Just as medicine and botany were called upon to fight tropical diseases and insect pests so engineers anthropologists and geographers were called upon to understand local conditions and climates and to work with local peoples whose traditional lives were changed forever by the experience At the same time the war played midwife to a host of new developments not least in scientific intelligence and in chemical and biological weapons which were to acquire far greater importance after 1945 Nature in its greatest extent Roy M. MacLeod, 1988 The Quest for Origins

K. R. Howe, 2003-05-31 Did they come from space from Egypt from the Americas From other ancient civilizations These are some of today's most fanciful claims about the first settlers of the islands of the Pacific But none of them correctly answer the question Where did the Polynesians come from This book is a thoughtful and devastating critique of such new learning and a careful and accessible survey of modern archaeological anthropological genetic and linguistics findings about the origins of Pacific Islanders Professor Howe also examines the two hundred year old history of Western ideas about Polynesian origins in the context of ever changing fads and intellectual fashions The Postcolonial Aura Arif Dirlik, 2018-02-20 The essays in this volume range from questions of cultural self representation in China to more general problems of reconceptualizing global relationships in response to contemporary changes Although the new era of global capitalism calls for the remapping of global relations such remapping must be informed both by a grasp of contemporary structures of economic political and cultural power and by memories of earlier radical visions of society Without these two conditions Arif Dirlik argues the current preoccupation with Eurocentrism ethnic diversity and multiculturalism distract from issues of power that dominate global relations and that find expression in murderous ethnic conflicts Dirlik offers multi historicalism which presupposes a historically grounded conception of cultural difference seeks in different histories alternative visions of human society and stresses divergent historical trajectories against a future colonized presently by an ideology of capital Arguing that the operations of capital have brought the question of the local to the fore he points to indigenism as a source of paradigms of social relations and relationships to nature to challenge the voracious developmentalism that undermines local welfare globally Quaternary and Recent Processes and Forms (1890-1965) and the Mid-century Revolutions Richard J.

Chorley, 2008 Darwin's Laboratory Roy M. MacLeod, Philip F. Rehbock, 1994-01-01 No scientific traveler was more influenced by the Pacific than Charles Darwin and his legacy in the region remains unparalleled Yet the extent of the Pacific's impact on the thought of Darwin and those who followed him has not been sufficiently grasped In this volume of essays sixteen scholars explore the many dimensions biological geological anthropological social and political of Darwinism in the Pacific Fired by Darwinian ideas nineteenth century naturalists within and around the Pacific rim worked to further Darwin's programs in their own research in Seattle conchologist P Brooks Randolph in Honolulu evolutionist John Thomas Gulick in Adelaide botanist Richard Schomburgk and in Malaysia biogeographer Alfred Russel Wallace Lesser known enthusiasts furnished Darwin with fresh material and replied to his endless inquiries while young aspiring biologists from Cambridge tested Darwinian ideas directly in the laboratory of the Pacific But the implications of Darwinism for the understanding of human nature and history turned it into a public theory as well as a scientific one Anthropologists geographers missionaries politicians and social commentators from Australia to Japan all found ways to adapt Darwinism to their own agendas Darwin's Laboratory demonstrates the variety and richness of Darwinian ideas in the Pacific and in so doing shows how the region functioned as a testing ground for the theory of evolution Further it illustrates how Darwinian ideas and their European contexts helped invent and define the particular conception we have of the Pacific Both the general reader and the specialist will find controversy illumination and entertainment in this the first book to probe the extent of Darwinism and Darwinian thinking in the Pacific

The Global Histories of Books Elleke Boehmer, Rouven Kunstmann, Priyasha

Mukhopadhyay, Asha Rogers, 2017-07-26 This book is an edited volume of essays that showcases how books played a crucial role in making and materialising histories of travel scientific exchanges translation and global markets from the late eighteenth century to the present While existing book historical practice is overly dependent on models of the local and the national we suggest that approaching the book as a cross region travelling and therefore global object offers new approaches and methodologies for a study in global perspective By thus studying the book in its transnational and inter imperial textual inter textual and material dimensions this collection will highlight its key role in making possible a global imagination shaped by networks of print material readers publishers and translators

Ideologies of Western Naval Power, c. 1500-1815 J.D.

Davies, Alan James, Gijs Rommelse, 2019-06-25 This ground breaking book provides the first study of naval ideology defined as the mass of cultural ideas and shared perspectives that for early modern states and belief systems justified the creation and use of naval forces Sixteen scholars examine a wide range of themes over a wide time period and broad geographical range embracing Britain the Netherlands France Spain Sweden Russia Venice and the United States along with the extra national politics of piracy neutrality and international Calvinism This volume provides important and often provocative new insights into both the growth of western naval power and important elements of political cultural and religious history

An

Indigenous Ocean Damon Salesa, 2023-11-01 The Pacific's Indigenous times are not just smaller sections of larger histories but dimensions of their own Histories of our Pacific world are richly rendered in these essays by Damon Salesa From the first

Indigenous civilisations that flourished in Oceania to the colonial encounters of the nineteenth century and on to the complex contemporary relationships between New Zealand and the Pacific Salesa offers new perspectives on this vast ocean its people its cultures its pasts and its future Spanning a wide range of topics from race and migration to Pacific studies and empire these essays demonstrate Salesa s remarkable scholarship Bridging the gap between academic disciplines and cultural traditions Salesa locates Pacific peoples always at the centre of their stories An Indigenous Ocean is a pivotal contribution to understanding the history and culture of Oceania

Rachel Carson Linda Lear,2009-04-01 The authoritative biography of the marine biologist and nature writer whose book Silent Spring inspired the global environmentalist movement In a career that spanned from civil service to unlikely literary celebrity Rachel Carson became one of the world s seminal leaders in conservation The 1962 publication of her book Silent Spring was a watershed event that led to the banning of DDT and launched the modern environmental movement Growing up in poverty on a tiny Allegheny River farm Carson attended the Pennsylvania College for Women on a scholarship There she studied science and writing before taking a job with the newly emerging Fish and Wildlife Service In this definitive biography Linda Lear traces the evolution of Carson s private professional and public lives from the origins of her dedication to natural science to her invaluable service as a brilliant if reluctant reformer Drawing on unprecedented access to sources and interviews Lear masterfully explores the roots of Carson s powerful connection to the natural world crafting a fine portrait of the environmentalist as a human being Smithsonian Impressively researched and eminently readable Compelling not just for Carson devotees but for anyone concerned about the environment People A combination of meticulous scholarship and thoughtful often poignant writing Science A sweeping analytic first class biography of Rachel Carson Kirkus Reviews

Vast Expanses Helen M. Rozwadowski,2018-10-15 Much of human experience can be distilled to saltwater tears sweat and an enduring connection to the sea In Vast Expanses Helen M Rozwadowski weaves a cultural environmental and geopolitical history of that relationship a journey of tides and titanic forces reaching around the globe and across geological and evolutionary time Our ancient connections with the sea have developed and multiplied through industrialization and globalization a trajectory that runs counter to Western depictions of the ocean as a place remote from and immune to human influence Rozwadowski argues that knowledge about the oceans created through work and play scientific investigation and also through human ambitions for profiting from the sea has played a central role in defining our relationship with this vast trackless and opaque place It has helped us to exploit marine resources control ocean space extend imperial or national power and attempt to refashion the sea into a more tractable arena for human activity But while deepening knowledge of the ocean has animated and strengthened connections between people and the world s seas to understand this history we must address questions of how by whom and why knowledge of the ocean was created and used and how we create and use this knowledge today Only then can we can forge a healthier relationship with our future sea

Reader's Guide to the History of Science Arne Hessenbruch, 2013-12-16 The Reader's Guide to the History of Science looks at the literature of science in some 550 entries on individuals, Einstein, institutions and disciplines. Mathematics, general themes, Romantic Science and central concepts, Paradigm and Fact. The history of science is construed widely to include the history of medicine and technology as is reflected in the range of disciplines from which the international team of 200 contributors are drawn.

Islands Steven Roger Fischer, 2013-02-15 When Lost's Oceanic Airlines Flight 815 crashed, the survivors found themselves on a seemingly deserted island. In Defoe's novel Robinson Crusoe, he spends twenty-eight years on a remote tropical island near Trinidad, while in the movie Castaway, Tom Hanks survives over four years on a South Pacific island. And Jurassic Park kept its dinosaur population confined to an island off the coast of Central America. Islands often find themselves at the center of imagined worlds, secluded and sometimes mystical locales filled with strange creatures and savage populations. The cannibals, raptors, and smoke monsters that exist on the islands of popular culture aside, the more than one million islands and islets on the planet are indeed small geological, biological, and cultural laboratories. From Britain to Japan, from the Galapagos to Manhattan, this book roams the planet to provide the first global introduction to these waterlocked landforms. Longtime island dweller Steven Roger Fischer shows that since time began, islands have been one of the primary birthplaces for plants, animals, and proto-humans. These eyots of stone and sand, whether in ocean, lake, or river, fostered the human race, and Fischer recounts how humanity then exploited these remarkable habitats as stepping stones to global dominion. He explores island economics, warfare, and politics, and he examines the role they have played in literature, art, and psychology. At the same time, he sparks our imagination with visions of islands from Atlantis to Tahiti, Treasure Island to Hawaii. Ultimately, he reveals these isolated mini-worlds are a measure of humankind itself. An engaging account of the islets that have enriched, lured, terrified, and inspired us, Islands shines new light on these cradles of earth and human history.

Explorations and Entanglements Hartmut Berghoff, Frank Biess, Ulrike Strasser, 2018-11-16 Traditionally, Germany has been considered a minor player in Pacific history; its presence there was more limited than that of other European nations, and whereas its European rivals established themselves as imperial forces beginning in the early modern era, Germany did not seriously pursue colonialism until the nineteenth century. Yet thanks to recent advances in the field emphasizing transoceanic networks and cultural encounters, it is now possible to develop a more nuanced understanding of the history of Germans in the Pacific. The studies gathered here offer fascinating research into German missionary, commercial, scientific, and imperial activity against the backdrop of the Pacific's overlapping cultural circuits and complex oceanic transits.

New Spaces of Exploration Simon Naylor, James R. Ryan, 2009-12-18 For many, the dawn of the twentieth century ushered in an era where the world map had few, if any, blank spaces left to discover. The age of exploration was supposedly dead. New Spaces of Exploration challenges this assumption. Focusing specifically on exploration in the twentieth century, the authors demonstrate how new technologies and changing geopolitical configurations have ensured that exploration has remained a key feature of our rapidly globalizing world Ranging widely in their geographical focus from the Europe and Asia to Australia and from the polar regions to outer space they demonstrate the increasing diversity of modern exploration and reveal the continuing political military industrial and cultural motivations at play The result is a major contribution to our understanding of the significance of exploration in the twentieth century Contributors include E Baigent C Collis K Dodds F Driver M Godwin J Hill F Korsmo F MacDonald S Naylor J Ryan N Thomas and K Yusoff

New Guinea Bruce M. Beehler, 2020-05-19 Combining a wealth of information a descriptive and story filled narrative and more than 200 stunning color photographs the book unlocks New Guinea s remarkable secrets like never before

Placing the Enlightenment Charles W. J. Withers, 2008-09-15 The Enlightenment was the age in which the world became modern challenging tradition in favor of reason freedom and critical inquiry While many aspects of the Enlightenment have been rigorously scrutinized its origins and motivations its principal characters and defining features its legacy and modern relevance the geographical dimensions of the era have until now largely been ignored Placing the Enlightenment contends that the Age of Reason was not only a period of pioneering geographical investigation but also an age with spatial dimensions to its content and concerns Investigating the role space and location played in the creation and reception of Enlightenment ideas Charles W J Withers draws from the fields of art science history geography politics and religion to explore the legacies of Enlightenment national identity navigation discovery and knowledge Ultimately geography is revealed to be the source of much of the raw material from which philosophers fashioned theories of the human condition Lavishly illustrated and engagingly written Placing the Enlightenment will interest Enlightenment specialists from across the disciplines as well as any scholar curious about the role geography has played in the making of the modern world

Global Institutions and Social Knowledge Virginia M. Walsh, 2004-05-21 This theoretical and empirical study examines the influence of global institutions on the generation of scientific knowledge Virginia Walsh s approach reverses the traditional focus of international relations literature which most often deals with how scientific knowledge influences institutions and offers an original way to look at international environmental governance After proposing a theory of institutional mechanisms by which global institutions shape the generation of knowledge the book turns to detailed case studies of two institutions in the under studied but vital area of marine science the Scripps Institute of Oceanography and the Inter American Tropical Tuna Commission to illustrate these mechanisms In part 1 Theory the book identifies three specific mechanisms or fixes that provide the means by which institutions shape the generation and use of knowledge With the positional fix key individuals use their social roles or positions in an institution to influence the beliefs of members or fix the direction of research The statutory fix occurs when beliefs gain acceptance as a consequence of being embedded in rules or treaties The committee fix is illustrated in the regularized practices through which social groups accept statements as group beliefs Part 2 Evidence shows these mechanisms at work in the two case studies The Scripps Institution for example illustrates the positional fix as successive directors used their position to frame research The Inter American

Tropical Tuna Commission on the other hand exemplifies both the statutory fix and the committee fix in its regulatory actions

Negotiating Knowledge in Early Modern Empires L. Kontler, A. Romano, S. Sebastiani, B. Török, 2014-12-17 This volume takes a decentered look at early modern empires and rejects the center periphery divide With an unconventional geographical set of cases including the Holy Roman Empire the Habsburg Iberian French and British empires as well as China contributors seize the spatial dynamics of the scientific enterprise The Earth Encompassed Peter J. Bowler, 2000 An accessible and comprehensive history of discoveries and outlooks that culminated in the modern discipline of environmental studies
