Naval Strategy East of Suez Charles Koburger, 1992-03-19 This is the only current book on maritime Djibouti and the only one available in English since 1968 It describes the geography naval history and present strategic role of this small country and indicates its possible future Naval Strategy East of Suez includes previously little known facts of French covert action in Italian East Africa 1938 1941 and of Operation Toredor 1956 which served to aid Operation Musketeer It also turns a spotlight on the Allied blockade of Djibouti in 1940 1942 In a sense this book is a more readable and less technical treatment of what sailors call sailing directions Djibouti's naval base 600 miles closer to the Strait of Hormuz than Diego Garcia is the nearest base to Middle East oil centers likely to be available to France and its allies in the future facts often ignored or unknown to all but the most specialized of specialists Koburger believes that the troubles in the Middle East are only beginning His book offers a background and strategy about an area little known to Anglophones that is of considerable potential usefulness

British Naval Strategy East of Suez, 1900-2000 Greg Kennedy, 2004-05-31 This new collection of essays by a panel of established international scholars sheds new light on what some of those influences were and what actions were taken as a result of Britain's Far Eastern commitments Not only are new evidence and approaches to those issues addressed presented but new avenues for further research are clearly outlined This new study shows how the use of the sea as a means of projecting power and influence beyond national borders holds a unique place in the history of Great Britain Directly linked to the concepts of empire great power and strategic over stretch Britain's strategic position east of Suez in the twentieth century was a dominant area of interest and had an enormous impact in the overall construction of Great Britain's naval strategic posture Britain's global naval position was in fact predominantly formed by Far Eastern strategic influences from 1900 to 1945 After that even in the face of the Cold War and emphasis on planning for a third European war strategic influences east of Suez continued to play a major role in the creation of Britain's naval force structure and in its global strategic foreign policy formulation process

The Emperor's New Road Jonathan E. Hillman, 2020-09-29 A prominent authority on China's Belt and Road Initiative reveals the global risks lurking within Beijing's project of the century China's Belt and Road Initiative is the world's most ambitious and misunderstood geoeconomic vision To carry out President Xi Jinping's flagship foreign policy effort China promises to spend over one trillion dollars for new ports railways fiber optic cables power plants and other connections The plan touches more than one hundred and thirty countries and has expanded into the Arctic cyberspace and even outer space Beijing says that it is promoting global development but Washington warns that it is charting a path to global dominance Taking readers on a journey to China's projects in Asia Europe and Africa Jonathan E Hillman reveals how this grand vision is unfolding As China pushes beyond its borders and deep into dangerous territory it is repeating the mistakes of the great powers that came before it Hillman argues If China succeeds it will remake the world and place itself at the center of everything But Xi may be overreaching all roads do
