Administration She begins by examining the historical First Lady and then looks at mediated political realities in general as well as those of the Clinton presidency Kelley also examines the rhetorical management of political crises and the crises management style of First Ladies including Florence Harding and Eleanor Roosevelt The book focuses on the analysis of Hillary Rodham Clinton s rhetorical management of crises in her husband s Administration including health care Travelgate Whitewater and allegations of sexual misconduct Kelley s approach is grounded in Kenneth Burke s framework of language as a symbolic means of inducing cooperation through rhetorical identification She concludes with speculation regarding both the degree of success of Hillary Clinton s efforts as well as the implications of those efforts to rhetorical and political communication and feminist theory This book will be of particular interest to scholars and researchers of the presidency and the role of the First Lady political communication and feminist studies Meet the Candidate Videos John

Parmelee,2003-03-30 Parmelee shows how presidential primary campaign videocassettes serve many functions for candidates on their road to the White House These videocassettes which include images and issues often based on polling data and focus groups are sent out before the primaries to battleground states to establish an initial image of the candidate A variety of methods are used to explore the videocassettes of the Democratic and Republican presidential candidates Gary Bauer Bill Bradley George W Bush Steve Forbes Al Gore and John McCain who released presidential primary meet the candidate videos during the 2000 race Frame analysis quantitative content analysis and in depth interviews with the producers of these videos were employed to provide answers to Parmelee s main research question What function do candidate videos serve in presidential primary campaigns Findings indicate that these videos which can run from 5 to 20 minutes in length serve a clear educational function to explain the candidates stand on key policy issues The videos which are mailed to voters journalists and potential donors and shown to Democratic and GOP faithful at party functions also serve as fundraisers surrogate speakers and inoculators But while the videos share some common functions each campaign targets its video to a slightly different audience based on the campaign s overall strategy Of particular interest to scholars students and other researchers involved with American presidential politics and political communications Women's Political

Discourse Molly A. Mayhead,Brenda DeVore Marshall,2005-09-21 Although the United States ranks sixtieth internationally in women s political leadership in 2004 a record nine women held governorships sixty women served as House members with an additional three women elected as delegates from Washington D C Guam and the Virgin Islands and fourteen women occupied Senate seats How have these women managed to beat the odds in their successful attempts to enter national politics How do they fruitfully participate in the political process once they gain entry into the sacred halls of Congress and the state house Women s Political Discourse profiles women in the most highly visible political offices today highlighting their communication strategies Following an engaging overview of women s political discourse from the early twentieth century the book features selected women governors representatives and senators of the past several decades from Jeannette

Rankin, the first woman elected to the U S House of Representatives, to Hillary Rodham Clinton. The authors compare women's and men's political communication techniques and include helpful lists of the women governmental leaders of the twentieth and the twenty first century. Exploring women's unique approaches to governing. Women's Political Discourse seeks to lay out innovative approaches to leadership. Encyclopedia of Political Communication Lynda Lee Kaid, Christina Holtz-Bacha, 2008. Political communication began with the earliest studies of democratic discourse by Aristotle and Plato. However, modern political communication relies on an interdisciplinary base which draws on concepts from communication, political science, journalism, sociology, psychology, history, rhetoric, and others. This two volume resource considers political communication from a broad interdisciplinary perspective encompassing the many different roles that communication plays in political processes in the United States and around the world. The Encyclopedia of Political Communication discusses the major theoretical approaches to the field including direct and limited effects theories, agenda setting theories, sociological theories, framing and priming theories, and other past and present conceptualizations. With nearly 600 entries, this resource pays considerable attention to important political messages such as political speeches, televised political advertising, political posters, and print advertising, televised political debates, and Internet sites. The audiences for political communications are also central, necessitating concentration on citizen reactions to political messages, how the general public and voters in democratic systems respond to political messages, and the effects of all types of media and message types. Key Features: Encompasses several channels of political communication including interpersonal and public communication, radio, television, newspapers, and the World Wide Web. Provides news media coverage and journalistic analysis of politics, political issues, political figures, and political institutions. Concentrates on the field of political communication since the middle of the 20th century. Emphasizes political communication from the point of view of the United States, but there is substantial and important research and scholarship on political communication in international contexts. Considers the role of communication in governing, incorporating communication activities that influence the operation of executive, legislative, and judicial bodies, political parties, interest groups, political action committees, and other participants in political processes. Key Themes: Biographies, Books, Films, Journals, Television, Democracy, Democratization, Education, and Nonprofit Organizations, Elections, Government Operations and Institutions, Legal and Regulatory Media, Events, Media Outlets and Programs, Role of Media in Political Systems, News Media Coverage of Politics, Political Affairs, Theoretical Approaches, Types of Political Media, Political Attitudes, Political Campaigns, Political Events, Political Groups and Organizations, Political Issues, Political Journalism, Theoretical Concepts, Women in Politics. The Encyclopedia of Political Communication is designed for libraries, undergraduates, and members of the public with an interest in political affairs. Media and political professionals, as well as government officials, lobbyists, and participants in independent political organizations, will find these volumes useful in developing a better understanding of how the media and communication function in political settings. <http://catdir.loc.gov>

Press Bias and Politics Jim A. Kuypers, 2002-09-30 Kuypers charts the potential effects the printed presses and broadcast media have upon the messages of political and social leaders when they discuss controversial issues Examining over 800 press reports on race and homosexuality from 116 different newspapers Kuypers meticulously documents a liberal political bias in mainstream news This book asserts that such a bias hurts the democratic process by ignoring non mainstream left positions and vilifying many moderate and most right leaning positions leaving only a narrow brand of liberal thought supported by the mainstream press This book argues that the mainstream press in America is an anti democratic institution By comparatively analyzing press reports as well as the events that occasioned the coverage Kuypers paints a detailed picture of the politics of the American press He advances four distinct reportorial practices that inject bias into reporting offering perspectives of particular interest to scholars students and others involved with mass communication journalism and politics in the United States

Notable Speeches in Contemporary Presidential Campaigns Robert V. Friedenberg, 2002-03-30 Though many studies of contemporary campaigns focus on brief political advertisements and the growing impact of technology on contemporary campaigns the definitive statements of most candidates are still made in public addresses Friedenberg examines the first public address made by an American presidential candidate on his own behalf The circumstances giving rise to William Henry Harrison s 1840 address and the themes that he developed in that address are strikingly contemporary serving as an appropriate prelude to the examinations of contemporary political speaking that follow Those examinations focus on notable campaign speeches by John F Kennedy Barry Goldwater Richard Nixon Ronald Reagan Bill and Hillary Clinton and George W Bush Each study examines a key event that foreshadowed the speech studied Each study presents a rhetorical biography of the speaker including a discussion of the speechwriting team and preparation techniques utilized by the speaker Each study presents a thorough study of the campaign context in which the speeches were presented Each also presents a close reading and rhetorical analysis of the speech itself and observations on the impact of the speech Cumulatively Friedenberg s studies help to illustrate how even in today s high tech political environment of 30 second ads and candidate Web sites public speeches continue to play a crucial role in political campaigning Of particular interest to scholars and students involved with political communication and political American campaigning

Gender and the American Presidency Theodore F. Sheckels, Nichola D. Gutgold, Diana B. Carlin, 2012-03-08 In Gender and the American Presidency Nine Presidential Women and the Barriers They Faced Theodore F Sheckels Nichola D Gutgold and Diana Bartelli Carlin invite the audience to consider women qualified enough to be president and explores reasons why they have been dismissed as presidential contenders This analysis profiles key presidential contenders including Barbara Mikulski Nancy Pelosi Nancy Kassebaum Kathleen Sebelius Christine Gregoire Linda Lingle Elizabeth Dole Dianne Feinstein and Olympia Snowe Gender barriers media coverage communication style geography and other factors are examined to determine why these seemingly qualified powerful politicians failed to win the White House Watch the authors discuss gender and American politics on CSPAN s BookTV

The Idea of Political Marketing Nicholas O. O'Shaughnessy, Stephan C.M. Henneberg, 2002-06-30 O'Shaughnessy Henneberg and their contributors examine how the theory and practice of marketing has been and can be applied to politics Particular attention was paid to the theory of political marketing with conceptual definitions developed to better facilitate communication between marketing professionals and political science researchers Political marketing is about the making and unmaking of governments in a democracy

Despite its growing importance the marketing academic profession has shown very little interest in the political ramifications of their discipline while political scientists often come to political marketing with the view that it is cosmetic if not trivial O Shaughnessy Henneberg and their contributors examine how the theory and practice of marketing has been and can be applied to politics As they show elections are a persuasion task writ large most especially with the demise of inherited class loyalties Following elections governments can employ marketing techniques to build support for their actions while opposition parties can press the government and its supporters through similar marketing approaches Of particular interest to scholars researchers and policy makers involved with politics political communication and the making of public policy

Still Paving the Way for Madam President Nichola D. Gutgold, 2017-05-24 When Madam President moves into the Oval Office of the White House she will share a path that several women have helped to pave Often left off the history pages and out of the minds of many Americans are the presidential bids of several women Margaret Chase Smith 1964 Shirley Chisholm 1972 Patricia Schroeder 1988 Elizabeth Dole 2000 Carol Moseley Braun 2004 and Hillary Clinton 2008 2016 Still Paving the Way for Madam President shows the progress women candidates have made as they have moved from symbolic candidates to viable candidates and in 2016 the Democratic nominee This study shines a light on the persistent obstacles that face women candidates and offers insight into what it will take to finally shatter the seemingly impenetrable political glass ceiling

Almost Madam President Nichola D. Gutgold, 2009-01-01 All around the world women are presidents and prime ministers yet in America we have yet to elect the first woman president When Barack Obama accepted the nomination as the Democratic candidate for president in 2008 the media were quick to point out that Hillary Clinton lost Yet Clinton won almost 18 million votes and was the first front runner woman candidate Almost Madam President Why Hillary Clinton Won in 2008 argues that Hillary Clinton gained more than she lost in her bid for the presidency This book takes the reader on a rhetorical journey through Hillary Clinton's 2008 presidential campaign focusing on Clinton's sophisticated YouTube style announcement speech the debates and the many notable stump speeches and media events on the campaign trail Along the way Gutgold examines the obstacles and opportunities of women as presidential candidates

When Congress Debates Theodore F. Sheckels, 2000-09-30 Sheckels provides the first book length study of Congressional debating The limited work on the topic in the communication discipline has argued that such debating is tedious and inconsequential Sheckels however offers a new paradigm derived from the work of Mikhail Bakhtin that counteracts this assumption This paradigm also counters the often unvoiced assumption that debates are inherently bipolar with the initial premise that they are instead polyphonic The polyphony however goes beyond the recognition of the multiple speakers who participate and the drama they enact to the awareness of the voices these speakers introduce within their discourse These voices range from the words of authorities to the narratives of average Americans from classical prosopopoeia to what Bakhtin terms stylization Speakers also sometimes enact what Bakhtin terms double voiced discourse furthermore there are moments of what Bakhtin terms carnavalesque energy Bakhtin's work finally alerts the critic to the illusion of finalizability in Congressional debates After outlining this paradigm Sheckels uses it to examine six Congressional debates ranging in date from a 1960 Senate filibuster on a civil rights matter to the 1999 House debate on articles of impeachment and includes analyses of such flash points as the Confederate flag sexual harassment in the military and partial birth abortion These case studies reveal both the utility and the flexibility of the Bakhtinian perspective Thoughtful analyses that will be of great interest to scholars and researchers involved with rhetoric and political communication Paving the Way for Madam President Nichola D. Gutgold, 2006-01-01 This book chronicles the lives communication styles and presidential bids of five remarkable women_Margaret Chase Smith Shirley Chisholm Patricia Schroeder Elizabeth Dole and Carol Moseley Braun_while also addressing the obstacles and opportunities for women as presidential contenders The Media and Neo-Populism Gianpietro Mazzoleni, Julianne Stewart, Bruce Horsfield, 2003-02-28 Mazzoleni Stewart Horsfield and their contributors analyze the two way relationship of the mass media and the contemporary phenomenon of extreme right wing neo populist political parties which emerged in the closing years of the 20th century across the world The success of Jean Marie Le Pen leader of the neo populist Front National in the first French presidential ballot in April 2002 shows that these extremist parties have strong if varying electoral support Drawn into reporting on the policies and antigovernment critiques of the new parties the mass communication institutions especially those engaged in news production have been challenged by a variety of unconventional but effective political campaign strategies that caused many media professionals considerable challenge Taking an approach informed by mass communication theory this book analyzes eight case studies of the interaction of news media dynamics and neo populism in Austria Australia France Canada India Italy the United States and the Latin American region against the background of widespread disenchantment with traditional parties and the complacency and cynicism of popularly elected governments Insights into media responses reveal how dependent on media coverage the neo populist parties were and how in many cases the media were initially unequal to the confronting ideologies of the new parties Although the news media exploited the new parties new parties exploited the news media as well in quite shrewd and original ways This is an important resource for scholars students and other researchers involved with political mass communications and right wing political organizations
