research accumulation and curricular choices literacy perceptions speeds of rhetoric and speeds of reading Chasing Literacy outlines a new reading pedagogy that will help students gain versatile dexterous approaches to both reading and writing and makes a significant contribution to this emerging area of interest in composition theory and practice Rhetoric,

Sophistry, Pragmatism Steven Mailloux,1995-05-18 The anti sceptical relativism and self conscious rhetoric of the pragmatist tradition which began with the Older Sophists of Ancient Greece and developed through an American tradition including William James and John Dewey has attracted new attention in the context of late twentieth century postmodernist thought At the same time there has been a more general renewal of interest across a wide range of humanistic and social science disciplines in rhetoric itself language use writing and speaking persuasion figurative language and the effect of texts This book written by leading scholars explores the various ways in which rhetoric sophistry and pragmatism overlap in their current theoretical and political implications and demonstrates how they contribute both to a rethinking of the human sciences within the academy and to larger debates over cultural politics C.S. Lewis and a Problem of Evil Jerry

Root,2010-08-27 C S Lewis was concerned about an aspect of the problem of evil he called subjectivism the tendency of one s perspective to move towards self referentialism and utilitarianism In C S Lewis and a Problem of Evil Jerry Root provides a holistic reading of Lewis by walking the reader through all of Lewis s published work as he argues Lewis s case against subjectivism Furthermore the book reveals that Lewis consistently employed fiction to make his case as virtually all of his villains are portrayed as subjectivists Lewis s warnings are prophetic this book is not merely an exposition of Lewis it is also a timely investigation into the problem of evil Writing Inventions Scott Lloyd DeWitt,2001-07-26 A collection of instructional stories research and classroom applications for teachers who use computers in their writing instruction

Conducting Socially Responsible Research Omar Swartz,1997 This book redefines our understanding of theory criticism and pedagogy with the vocabulary of neo pragmatism When human knowledge becomes historicized and socialized the distinctions between our public academic and instructional personae fade In place of such traditional personae a new identity is encouraged for scholars in the field of communication The book successfully argues that rhetorical scholars can assume a cultural importance in life Dialogue on Writing Geraldine DeLuca,Len Fox,Mark -Ameen Johnson,Myra Kogen,Geri

Writing Technology Christina Haas, 2013-11-05 Academic and practitioner journals in fields from electronics to business to language studies as well as the popular press have for over a decade been proclaiming the arrival of the computer revolution and making far reaching claims about the impact of computers on modern western culture Implicit in many arguments about the revolutionary power of computers is the assumption that communication language and words are intimately tied to culture that the computer s transformation of communication means a transformation a revolutionizing of culture Moving from a vague sense that writing is profoundly different with different material and technological tools to an understanding of how such tools can and will change writing writers written forms and writing s functions is not a simple matter Further the question of whether and how changes in individual writers experiences with new technologies translate into large scale cultural revolutions remains unresolved This book is about the relationship of writing to its technologies It uses history theory and empirical research to argue that the effects of computer technologies on literacy are complex always incomplete and far from unitary despite a great deal of popular and even scholarly discourse about the inevitability of the computer revolution The author argues that just as computers impact on discourse discourse itself impacts technology and explains how technology is used in educational settings and beyond

Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works

The Art of University Teaching George Melnyk, Christine Mason Sutherland, 2011 A typical workday for a university professor might include addressing 400 first year students in a huge lecture auditorium and in the same day coaching a single nervous and uncertain doctoral student who is struggling to complete her dissertation Don't even ask about the research writing and committee meetings As this professor you might cope by figuring out lessons and sessions on the fly or you might dig into memories of what you learned from your own teachers Over the years university students have shown that they need to learn and communicate in a variety of ways and with a range of new technology Professors must adapt to this environment and continue to mentor well prepared analytical students by being inspired and inspiring teachers In these essays the contributors trace the many ways that professors have achieved excellence New university professors will find guidance and insight in these essays which also contain reflections by university students What skills and knowledge did they learn How did their values and beliefs transform At the end of their degree were they the same people that they were upon university entrance

Negotiating a Meta-Pedagogy Toni Glover, Emily Golson, 2009-03-26 A vital new resource for rhetoric and composition teachers and writing program administrators has arrived In the twenty years I have been training teachers and tutors of writing there have been few collections that specifically address the training of teachers of composition While excellent such collections are often not updated to reflect the most current research in rhetoric and composition especially those theoretical and pedagogical influences that Negotiating a Meta Pedagogy includes It is not surprising then that training composition teachers is often dependent upon cobbled together course packs and anecdotal pedagogy The field needs this book and each contribution the editors have chosen significantly helps ratchet up the pedagogy of pedagogy and now rhetoric long considered a meta discipline by those of us in the field has an official meta pedagogy resource to call its own Cynthia Haynes Clemson University Inventive Intercourse Stephen R. Yarbrough, 2006 Inventive Intercourse From Rhetorical Conflict to the Ethical Creation of Novel Truth offers a theory of discursive interaction illustrating how we can understand human communication without resorting to the notion of language Using the perspective of interactionist discourse theory author Stephen Yarbrough investigates how we create novel beliefs beliefs we could not have inferred from our established beliefs PhotoGraphic Encounters William F. Garrett-Petts, Donald Lawrence, Kamloops Art Gallery, 2000-10 Literacy is broadly understood to refer to the ability to read and write But the term is heavily value laden and is often used to elevate print at the expense of other forms of communication In PhotoGraphic Encounters the authors challenge this reductive notion of literacy and propose instead an integrated span of literacies reaching across disciplinary boundaries to discover a text that draws upon both the visual and the verbal PhotoGraphic Encounters discusses Canadian writers like Margaret Atwood George Bowering Robert Kroetsch and Daphne Marlatt and Canadian artists like Fred Douglas Ernie Kroeger Brenda Pelkey and Michael Snow then looks at the cross fertilization of visual and verbal processes in their works The authors present a new narrative practice one that fully engages lived experience The vernacular they argue is vital to our participation as readers and viewers of high art Making the connection between the vernacular and high culture creates an enabling moment in artistic production and reception and in teaching learning and talking about art and literature PhotoGraphic Encounters offers a compelling perspective on questions of literacy in a postmodern culture Artists writers scholars and critics alike will want this volume in their libraries Includes more than 120 B W photographs 20 colour plates index bibliography Beliefs About SLA Paula Kalaja, A.M. Ferreira Barcelos, 2003-12-31 This edited collection of articles illustrates recent work on beliefs about second language acquisition drawing on the thinking of educational philosophers and discursive psychologists including Dewey Bakhtin Vygotsky and Potter Coverage extends to beliefs held by second foreign language learners and as well as teachers The book includes detailed accounts of starting points definitions methods of data collection and analysis main findings and implications for further research
