School Leadership - Heads on the Block? Pat Thomson,2009-05-07 Most teachers become heads for idealistic reasons but heads are leaving work and there is a shortage of applicants for school leadership roles Arguing that pressure needs to be lifted from heads if this is to be redressed this book considers initial moves that could precipitate such change Teacher Retention in an Age of Performative Accountability Jane Perryman,2022-03-30 In this insightful and timely volume Jane Perryman provides a definitive analysis of the crisis in teacher recruitment and retention through a critique of the culture of performative accountability in education bringing together theory literature and empirical data Drawing on data across several long term research projects and through a Foucauldian theoretical framework Perryman argues that teachers working lives both in the UK and internationally are being increasingly affected by the rise in the neoliberal performativity and accountability culture in schools Teachers work is increasingly directed towards assessment exams progress measures and preparation for review and inspection and drawn away from the more individualistic and creative aspects of the job This culture of hyper accountability and super performativity Perryman argues has created a discourse of disappointment where the hopes and aspirations of teachers are crushed beneath the performative pressures under which they work Teacher Retention in an Age of Performative Accountability offers a convincing compellingly written critical analysis of how the values purposes and practices embedded in education affect the working experience of teachers over time Perryman makes a significant contribution to our understanding of the effects of accountability and performativity mechanisms in schools and offers insight into why so many teachers leave the profession This analysis is important to scholars educators and policymakers alike
