School Library Media Services To The Handicapped:

School Library Media Services to the Handicapped Myra Macon, 1982-03-31 Serving Special Needs Students in the School Library Media Center Margaret Keefe, Robert King, 1995-05-30 School library media specialists are now considered part of the teaching staff and are charged with integrating their library and information skills curriculum with the more general classroom curriculum. At the same time more and more special needs students are part of every school and every classroom. Thus the media specialist must work effectively with special needs students on a regular basis to develop their information skills and must also serve as a resource to classroom teachers. This professional reference offers practical information to school library media specialists on how to serve special needs students and their classroom teachers effectively. The first part of the book highlights the teaching role of the media specialist and discusses how and what to teach special needs students. The second part views the media specialist as an information expert who must structure the library and its resources for students with special needs. The third section treats the media specialist's role as a professional who must collaborate with other teachers.

Thomas, Carol H. Thomas, 1982 Accessibility for Persons with Disabilities and the Inclusive Future of Libraries Brian Wentz, Paul T. Jaeger, John Carlo Bertot, 2015-12-14 With contributions from researchers, educators and practitioners from across a range of fields, this volume will be an important resource for library professionals in all types of libraries as well as a reference for researchers and educators about the efforts, challenges and opportunities related to the inclusive future of libraries.

Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent, Harold Lancour, Jay E. Daily, 1980-01-01 The Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science provides an outstanding resource in 33 published volumes with 2 helpful indexes. This thorough reference set, written by 1300 eminent international experts, offers librarians, information computer scientists, bibliographers, documentalists, systems analysts and students convenient access to the techniques and tools of both library and information science. Impeccably researched, cross-referenced, alphabetized by subject and generously illustrated, the Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science integrates the essential theoretical and practical information accumulating in this rapidly growing field.

Information Services for People with Developmental Disabilities Marilyn M. Irwin, Linda L. Walling, 1995-04-30 Developmental disabilities are the most numerous of disabilities and they are exceptionally complex. This professional reference overviews developmental disabilities, discusses the information needs of people with developmental disabilities and provides practical guidance to librarians and information professionals who serve them. Particular attention is given to the ramifications of the Americans with Disabilities Act for librarians. The first part of the book defines and describes developmental disabilities from perspectives relevant to librarians and information professionals. The second part examines key life issues that have a major impact on people with developmental disabilities. This section emphasizes the current trend toward the inclusion of people with developmental disabilities in mainstream society
