Bullying Sally Kuykendall, 2012-10-17 This important text presents bullying as a health issue and proposes effective strategies for diagnosis treatment and prevention based on current scientific research of aggressive behaviors Bullying goes far beyond typical treatments of the topic by presenting an overview of the research concerning the causes symptoms and prevalence of bullying to illustrate how it is not simply a social issue but both a genuine medical and health issue The author draws upon both clinical data and her own extensive experience observing children's interactions on school playgrounds and from interviewing parents teachers administrators and children themselves to reach conclusions about evidence based prevention and treatment The work provides a deeper understanding of bullying by presenting biological and psychological theories of aggression describing why bystanders who witness bullying react in the way that they do offering novel ways to deal with the problem and presenting proven methods that concerned bystanders of all ages can employ to break bullying behaviors without increasing their own risk It provides information of great relevance to students parents counselors educators teaching assistants and administrators

Working With Kids Who Bully Walter B. Roberts, Jr., 2016-06-09 Shifting our thinking to help break the cycle of bullying We all know bullying impacts the academic and emotional lives of our young people We see it in our schools and hear about it in the news If we know it's a problem why is it still happening Often it's because we fail to address the individuals at the heart of the problem the kids who engage in the behavior In Working With Kids Who Bully Walter Roberts challenges us to shift our thinking about these youth and offers innovative approaches to help kids pull back from and stop bullying Readers will find Information on a range of topics impacting schools today including cyberbullying relational aggression mediation building empathy and bibliomedia therapy Strategies and sample dialogue to use when intervening with kids who bully Diagrams and charts to clarify suggested approaches Written by one of the nation s foremost experts on bullying this is a book designed to stimulate change and ultimately help create safer learning environments for all kids Lots of times we focus on helping the victims but Walter Roberts addresses how to help parents of children who are bullying as they need tips rather than shaming Brigitte Tennis Headmistress Eighth Grade Teacher Stella Schola Middle School The strengths of Working With Kids Who Bully are the vignettes posed the reflection for analyzing the bullying situation and the suggestions almost specific guidance for responding in a timely and empathetic manner Dana Salles Trevethan Interim Superintendent Turlock Unified School District

Classroom Management Robert T. Tauber, 2007-08-30 Educators need a balance between discipline theory and its practice in the classroom This is especially important in today s educational climate with its increased demands for teacher accountability Tauber has designed this book for both those who are new to teaching and those who are already seasoned teachers but who have had little if any coursework in discipline This book presents several sound frameworks that readers can use to evaluate six tried and true discipline models Teachers need to select learn and implement a discipline model that best reflects how they feel students should be treated Tauber explores a number of topics some controversial all quite relevant concerning how teachers can prevent as well as handle problem behaviors A chapter describing A through Z discipline suggestions can be immediately put into use Peace Education Evaluation Celina Del Felice, Aaron Karako, Andria Wisler, 2015-05-01 Practice and research of peace education has grown in the recent years as shown by a steadily increasing number of publications programs events and funding mechanisms The oft cited point of departure for the peace education community is the belief in education as a valuable tool for decreasing the use of violence in conflict and for building cultures of positive peace hallmarked by just and equitable structures Educators and organizations implementing peace education activities and programming however often lack the tools and capacities for evaluation and thus pay scant regard to this step in program management Reasons for this inattention are related to the perceived urgency to prioritize new and more action in the context of scarce financial and human resources notwithstanding violence or conflict the lack of skills and time to indulge in a thorough evaluative strategy and the absence of institutional incentives and support Evaluation is often demand driven by donors who emphasize accounting given the current context of international development assistance and budget cuts Program evaluation is considered an added burden to already over tasked programmers who are unaware of the incentives and of assessment techniques Peace education practitioners are typically faced with forcing evaluation frameworks techniques and norms standardized for traditional education programs and venues Together these conditions create an unfavorable environment in which evaluation becomes under valued de prioritized and mythologized for its laboriousness This volume serves three inter related objectives First it offers a critical reflection on theoretical and methodological issues regarding evaluation applied to peace education interventions and programming The overarching questions of the nature of peace and the principles guiding peace education as well as governing theories and assumptions of change transformation and complexity are explored Second the volume investigates existing quantitative qualitative and mixed methods evaluation practices of peace educators in order to identify what needs related to evaluation persist among practitioners Promising practices are presented from peace education programming in different settings formal and non formal education within various groups e g children youth police journalists and among diverse cultural contexts Finally the volume proposes ideas of evaluation novel techniques for experimentation and creative adaptation of tools from related fields in order to offer pragmatic and philosophical substance to peace educators next moves and inspire the agenda for continued exploration and innovation The authors come from variety of fields including education peace and conflict studies educational evaluation development studies comparative education economics and psychology
