Colliding Worlds: How Cutting-Edge Science Is Redefining Contemporary Art Arthur I. Miller, 2014-06-16 A dazzling look at the artists working on the frontiers of science In recent decades an exciting new art movement has emerged in which artists utilize and illuminate the latest advances in science Some of their provocative creations a live rabbit implanted with the fluorescent gene of a jellyfish a gigantic glass and chrome sculpture of the Big Bang pictured on the cover can be seen in traditional art museums and magazines while others are being made by leading designers at Pixar Google s Creative Lab and the MIT Media Lab In Colliding Worlds Arthur I Miller takes readers on a wild journey to explore this new frontier Miller the author of Einstein Picasso and other celebrated books on science and creativity traces the movement from its seeds a century ago when Einstein s theory of relativity helped shape the thinking of the Cubists to its flowering today Through interviews with innovative thinkers and artists across disciplines Miller shows with verve and clarity how discoveries in biotechnology cosmology quantum physics and beyond are animating the work of designers like Neri Oxman musicians like David Toop and the artists in residence at CERN s Large Hadron Collider From NanoArt to Big Data Miller reveals the extraordinary possibilities when art and science collide

Holographic Visions Sean F. Johnston, 2006-04-06 Holography exploded on the scientific world in 1964 but its slow fuse had been burning much longer Over the next four decades the echoes of that explosion reached scientists engineers artists and popular culture Emerging from classified military research holography evolved to represent the power of post war physics an aesthetic union of art and science the countercultural meanderings of holism a cottage industry for waves of would be entrepreneurs and a fertile plot device for science fiction New working cultures sprang up to mutate holography redefining its products reshaping its audiences and reconceiving its applications The outcomes included ever more sublime holograms and exquisitely sensitive measuring techniques but also priority disputes prurience and poisonous business rivalries New subjects cross intellectual borders and so do their explanations This book draws on the history and philosophy of science and technology social studies politics and cultural history to trace the trajectory of holography The result is an in depth account of how new science emerges Based on unprecedented interviews with pioneer holographers and extensive archival research it reveals how science technology art and wider culture are entwined in the modern world

Creative Simulations Catherine Mason, 2024-06-08 This book is centred on the practitioner led Computer Arts Society founded in 1969 and formed to address creative computation in all the arts performance poetry text sound sculpture and graphics The objectives and achievements of the Computer Arts Society are presented as realised through their members and exhibitions to the mid 1970s The Society s co founder is Dr George Mallen a pioneer of cybernetic systems and cultural applications of computing Creative Simulations contains new research including Mallen's early work with cybernetician Gordon Pask whose concepts of interdisciplinarity were influential on the ground breaking Ecogame 1970 Led by Mallen Ecogame was a collaborative Computer Arts Society project an early embodiment of computer technology into art and the first multi media interactive gaming system in the UK Pask's influence in Mallen's subsequent role at the Royal College of Art where he instigated the first computerlab facilities for artists is examined A recently discovered lecture given by Mallen is transcribed along with reproduction of historic texts by Stephen Willats and John Lansdown two of his colleagues which add context to this history of interdisciplinary artistic innovation in the digital realm Illustrations include art works ephemera exhibition posters and installations preparatory drawings computing equipment and associated flow charts and diagrams many appearing here in print for the first time Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1980-04 Technologies in a Multilingual Environment Daria Bylieva,Alfred Nordmann,2023-02-18 The book addresses the challenge of living in a multilingual world from three perspectives socio linguistics and the study of multilingualism in contrast philosophy of technology with its emphasis on the world as a technosphere how it is made how it is experienced and how it can be managed and then pedagogy and the question of teaching and learning to competently negotiate multilingual environments In today's multicultural and multilingual world technologies provide a common ground The story of the technosphere as a multilingual environment offers new perspective namely that of learning to cooperate and coordinate Through the Scope of Life María Antonia González Valerio,Polona Tratnik,2023-06-28 This book offers intriguing philosophical inquiries into biotechnological art and the life sciences addressing their convergences as well as their epistemic and functional divergences Rooted on a thorough understanding of the history of philosophy this work builds on critical and ontological thought to interpret the concept of life that underscores first hand dealings with matter and experimentation The book breaks new ground on the issue of animality and delivers fresh posthumanist perspectives on the topics addressed The authors embark on a deep ontological probe of the concept of medium as communication bridging and life bearing They also take on the concept of performativity as biotechnological art The book includes concrete well documented case studies and shows how certain narratives and practices directly impact ideas surrounding science and technologies It will interest philosophers in art and technology aesthetics ontology and the life sciences It will also engage art practitioners in art and science curators and researchers Dissolve into Comprehension Jack Burnham,2023-08-15 Influential writings by the legendary art critic and theorist Jack Burnham a pioneer in new media systems aesthetics and an early advocate of conceptualism Jack Burnham is one of the few critics and theorists alive today who can claim to have radically altered the way we think about works of art Burnham's use of the term system borrowed from theoretical biology in his 1968 essay System Aesthetics announced the relational character of conceptual art and newer research based projects Trained as an art historian Burnham was also a sculptor His first book Beyond Modern Sculpture 1968 established him as a leading commentator on art and technology A postformalist pioneer an influential figure in new media art history an early champion of conceptual and ecological art and the curator of the first exhibition of digital art Burnham is long overdue for reevaluation This book offers that opportunity by collecting a substantial and varied selection of his hard to find texts some published here for the first time Although Burnham left the art world abruptly in the 1990s his visionary theoretical ideas have only become more relevant in recent years This collection seeks to restore Burnham to his rightful place in art criticism and theory reestablishing his voice as crucial to critical conversations of the period It gathers his early writing on sculpture his essays on systems art and conceptualism his views of the New York art world and his later occult work including an unorthodox interpretation of Marcel Duchamp's work that draws on the Kabbalah

The Situationist City Simon Sadler, 1999-08-18 Simon Sadler searches for the Situationist City among the detritus of tracts manifestos and works of art that the Situationist International left behind From 1957 to 1972 the artistic and political movement known as the Situationist International SI worked aggressively to subvert the conservative ideology of the Western world The movement's broadside attack on establishment institutions and values left its mark upon the libertarian left the counterculture the revolutionary events of 1968 and more recent phenomena from punk to postmodernism But over time it tended to obscure Situationism's own founding principles In this book Simon Sadler investigates the artistic architectural and cultural theories that were once the foundations of Situationist thought particularly as they applied to the form of the modern city According to the Situationists the benign professionalism of architecture and design had led to a sterilization of the world that threatened to wipe out any sense of spontaneity or playfulness The Situationists hankered after the pioneer spirit of the modernist period when new ideas such as those of Marx Freud and Nietzsche still felt fresh and vital By the late fifties movements such as British and American Pop Art and French Nouveau Ralisme had become intensely interested in everyday life space and mass culture The SI aimed to convert this interest into a revolution at the level of the city itself Their principle for the reorganization of cities was simple and seductive let the citizens themselves decide what spaces and architecture they want to live in and how they wish to live in them This would instantly undermine the powers of state bureaucracy capital and imperialism thereby revolutionizing people's everyday lives Simon Sadler searches for the Situationist City among the detritus of tracts manifestos and works of art that the SI left behind The book is divided into three parts The first The Naked City outlines the Situationist critique of the urban environment as it then existed The second Formulary for a New Urbanism examines Situationist principles for the city and for city living The third A New Babylon describes actual designs proposed for a Situationist City

The Trinity, Creation and Pastoral Ministry Graham Buxton, 2007-01-01 In this book the author proposes a three way conversation between theology science and pastoral ministry His approach draws on a Trinitarian understanding of God as a relational being of love whose life spills over into all created reality human and nonhuman By locating human meaning and purpose within God s creation community this book offers the possibility of a transforming engagement between those in pastoral ministry and the scientific community Education for the Future Philip A. Coggin, 2014-05-19 Education for the Future The Case for Radical Change focuses on the developments in educational systems and the role of teachers and learning institutions in shaping society The book first ponders on the problems confronting progress in education including the pressure on schools and teachers to perform according to the dictates of society The need to develop curriculum in universities that can instill efficient learning for students is also underscored The text also takes a look at the relationship of literary culture and the productive and distributive activities of the market place The manuscript focuses on the influence of educational technology in the provision of aids in learning The text also underscores that the solution to the problems of education in Britain should not be taken individually but rather it should be treated as part of a larger pattern The controversy in the establishment of the Gresham College is noted The book is a dependable reference for readers interested in studying the development issues and trends in the educational system of Great Britain
