Science Education And Development Planning And Policy Issues At Secondary Levels:

Science Education and Development Françoise Caillods, Gabriele Göttelmann-Duret, Keith Lewin, 1996 For over 30 years now large scale investment has been made in science education throughout the world and in developing countries in particular A handful of countries have indeed succeeded in raising their respective population s general level of scientific knowledge but in other countries in spite of much effort the shortage in supply of science trained students persists examination achievement levels remain low and the cost of provision so high that many children all over the world are denied access to effective science teaching Whilst the problems of curriculum relevance have been widely discussed little attention has been paid to the issues confronting the policy maker and the manager in deciding how much to invest in science education how to provide value for money or how much science to provide for how many students This book addresses the question of how best to plan investment in science at secondary level in developing countries using insights from the studies conducted under a five year research programme carried out by the International Institute for Educational Planning The result is an extensive account commentary and analysis of the main issues that the planners of science education in developing countries are likely to be confronted with when addressing the challenges of the twenty first century Science Education and Development Françoise Caillods, Gabriele Göttelmann-Duret, Keith Lewin, 1996 This book is a guide especially for developing nations to assist governments in the process of educational change Science and technology are vital elements of development and future growth Large scale investments in science education have been a priority for the last 30 years in developing nations This book describes how best to plan investment in science at the secondary school level The program presented is based on a five year research program that was conducted at the International Institute for Educational Planning IIEP This reports provides insight into the different methods of science education in different countries and examines the main issues identified in planning and implementing science education policy The report also emphasizes the need to improve the information base for the regular monitoring of science education YDS Assessment Reform in Science Benny B.H.W Yung, 2006-01-09 The conclusions and recommendations made in the book are derived from a study of ten teachers in Hong Kong as they tried to change their practice following a reform of the Hong Kong assessment system Hong Kong is simply a context that provided the opportunity to gather very rich and informative data on issues pertaining to assessment reforms which also have very wide implications in many countries contexts The book is written for practising teachers teachers in training teacher educators policy makers and researchers who are interested in teachers classroom practices teacher beliefs teacher professionalism implementation of educational reforms in general and high stakes assessment reforms in particular The structure of the book is organized in a manner that rapidly presents the case stories of the teachers to the readers These stories can be helpful to all teachers whether in training or experienced in a number of ways 1 as a set of ideas to be debated upon and to act as a springboard for reflection on the purposes of assessment in education and on the role of teachers in these purposes 2 as examples of practice that can be compared to the readers own existing practices and 3 as a source of models of practice to apply and test in readers own classrooms These case stories are followed by a discussion of a number of issues that arise from this group of teachers beliefs and practices To cater for research oriented readers the relevant literature theoretical underpinnings and the intriguing research methodology that led to the case stories will appear as appendices

Education in east Asia varies widely due to the cultural and political histories of each country The communist governments of China North Korea and Vietnam mandate schooling differently from the limited democracy of Hong Kong and the parliamentary government of Japan The history of the educational philosophies systems and curricula of seventeen East Asian countries are described here with a timeline highlighting educational developments and a special day in the life feature a personal account of what it is like for a student to attend school in that country Sustainable Development Disciplines for Humanity Shujiro Urata,Kazuo Kuroda,Yoshiko Tonegawa,2022-12-08 This Open Access book provides eight problem solving lectures for sustainable development for people peace and partnerships Those are three of the five keywords for the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs people the planet prosperity peace and partnerships or the 5Ps Each of these lectures is classified into one of the keywords for SDGs and based on the history of social thought human development law education sociology and peace studies Further each lecture delineates the essence of each discipline when it is practically applied to development studies This book Sustainable Development Disciplines for Humanity along with its sister volume related to the planet and prosperity Society will be useful in studying development Interdisciplinary research is necessary to achieve the

SDGs advocated by the United Nations Hence it is essential to learn the basics of individual disciplines as they each offer ample knowledge fostering problem solving through the accumulation of existing research This and its sister volume are the first comprehensive textbooks summarizing the essence of each necessary discipline to approach development studies from an interdisciplinary perspective In developing countries this book will provide access to development research for readers aiming to further develop their own nations Moreover in developed countries the book will provide access to problem solving research for readers seeking holistic solutions to complex social problems

Handbook of the Sociology of Education

Maureen T. Hallinan, 2006-11-24 The aim of the Handbook of Sociology of Education is to present the most theoretically grounded and empirically rigorous sociological analyses of schools to date The authors are distinguished researchers in the field Their contributions to the Handbook offer major theoretical perspectives on the schooling process and describe significant empirical studies of schools and their effects on individuals and society The research presented in the Handbook is built on three fundamental tenets of sociology First the authors adopt the perspective that schools are a central institution in society An understanding of the function of schooling in social life is enhanced by viewing schools as interrelated with other societal institutions The study of how the context of schooling influences education processes is critical to an understanding of school outcomes Rather than being determined solely by ascribed and achieved characteristics an individual's cognitive and social development are influenced heavily by the structures and networks in which the individual is embedded Communities families schools and social groups are critical elements in the educative process By viewing the school as a societal institution and highlighting the interaction between context and individual behavior the Handbook chapters provide a broader and deeper understanding of the determinants of learning in contemporary society The second sociological insight that guides the research in the Handbook is that the school is a social system
