New Light Through Old Windows: Exploring Contemporary Science Through 12 Classic Science Fiction Tales Stephen Webb, 2019-01-07 This book presents the reader with some of the earliest classic SF short stories, all of them published between 1858 and 1934, featuring both well known and long forgotten writers dealing for the first time with topics to which science had some answers only at much later stages. This includes aspects of alien life, forms of transmutation, pandemics, life on Mars, android robots, big data, matter transmission, and impact events, to name but a few. The short stories are reprinted in full alongside extensive commentaries which also examine some of the latest scientific thinking surrounding the story's main theme and provide the reader with suggestions for further reading.

The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share: The future is going to be better, and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better.

Microscopy, Magnification and Modernist Fiction Patrick Armstrong, 2024-12-26 Exploring how modernism registered shock experiences of the microscopic and extended vision in prose fiction through the work of four modernist writers: D. H. Lawrence, Marcel Proust, Virginia Woolf, and Samuel Beckett, this book is the first substantial study of the interrelations between microscopy and modernist fiction. Illustrating ways in which optical instruments had the capacity to change, displace, and reframe ideas of what the world is like, this book argues that encounters with the microscopic are often depicted as thresholds between the human and the non-human in ways that reverberate through modernist fiction Exploring a period of significant developments in microscopical tools and techniques from the light microscope to the electron microscope this book traces a shift that reconfigured the limits of the observable The World of Science: Through the microscope ,1984 A twenty five volume encyclopedia of scientific subjects designed for 8 to 12 year olds

Science Patricia Fara,2010-02-11 Science A Four Thousand Year History rewrites science s past Instead of focussing on difficult experiments and abstract theories Patricia Fara shows how science has always belonged to the practical world of war politics and business Rather than glorifying scientists as idealized heroes she tells true stories about real people men and some women who needed to earn their living who made mistakes and who trampled down their rivals in their quest for success Fara sweeps through the centuries from ancient Babylon right up to the latest hi tech experiments in genetics and particle physics illuminating the financial interests imperial ambitions and publishing enterprises that have made science the powerful global phenomenon that it is today She also ranges internationally illustrating the importance of scientific projects based around the world from China to the Islamic empire as well as the more familiar tale of science in Europe from Copernicus to Charles Darwin and beyond Above all this four thousand year history challenges scientific supremacy arguing controversially that science is successful not because it is always right but because people have said that it is right
