Participants examined the data on students who are well served by new reform structures in developmental mathematics and discussed various cohorts of students who are not currently well served: those who even with access to reforms do not succeed and those who do not have access to a reform due to differential access constraints. Throughout the workshop, participants also explored promising approaches to bolstering student outcomes in mathematics, focusing especially on research and data that demonstrate the success of these approaches, deliberated and discussed barriers and opportunities for effectively serving all students, and outlined some key directions of inquiry intended to address the prevailing research and data needs in the field. This publication summarizes the presentations and discussion of the workshop.
