Memory systems, new and old. Enlarged by G.S. Fellows. 1st Amer. ed A E. Middleton, 1888 Bioproperty.
Biomedicine and Deliberative Governance Katerina Sideri, 2016-04-08 Biomedical patents have been the subject of heated debate Regulatory agencies such as the European Patent Office make small decisions with big implications which escape scrutiny and revision when they decide who has access to expensive diagnostic tests whether human embryonic stem cells can be traded in markets and under what circumstances human health is more important than animal welfare Moreover the administration of the Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights by the World Trade Organization has raised considerable disquiet as it has arguably created grave health inequities Those doubting the merits of the one size fits all approach ask whether priority should be given to serving the present needs of populations in dire need of medication or to promoting global innovation The book looks in detail into the legal issues and ethical debates to ask the following three main questions First what are the ideas goals and broader ethical visions that underpin questions of governance and the legal reasoning employed by administrative agencies Second how can we democratize the decision making process of technocratic institutions such as the European Patent Office Finally how can we make the global intellectual property system more equitable In answering these questions the book seeks to contribute to our understanding of the role and function of regulatory agencies in the regulation of the bioeconomy explains the process of interpretation of legal norms and proposes ways to rethink the reform of the patent system through the lens of legitimacy Memories and Representations of Terror Daniel Feierstein, 2023-10-06 Memories and Representations of Terror Working Through Genocide explores how memories and representations shape our understanding of historical events particularly the ways in which societies create narratives about genocide and its aftermath using Argentina's last military dictatorship 1976-1983 and its contested legacy as a case study Feierstein examines how memories and representations of genocide are the terrain in which both the strategic objectives of genocide and the possibilities of challenging those objectives are contested These memories and representations provide the foundation upon which critical judgments about the past are constructed and offer the potential for assuming responsibility and working through the consequences of genocide This book proposes that terror continues to hijack the actions and identities of surviving societies via a process of the construction of memories and social representations of the lived experience in a final stage of genocide Feierstein terms symbolic enactment In doing so Feierstein examines the contributions of various disciplines to comprehending memory processes and social representations It covers a range of topics from the nature of memory based on the neuroscientific discoveries of the last half century to psychoanalytic theories on the functioning of the mind including the role of psychic defense mechanisms the unconscious mind collective pacts of denial and different forms of desensitization It also explores historiographical debates between forms of history and forms of memory as well as sociological contributions to the analysis of social frames of memory cultural memory generational transmission and related issues The first volume of a three volume work that aims to identify and evaluate the various consequences of genocidal social practices and the possibility of healing the scars left on individuals subjectivities and the social fabric by genocide This book is essential reading for students and academics in the humanities and social sciences with an interest in genocide collective memory and identity Learning and Memory Darrell

Rudmann,2017-10-20 Learning and Memory provides students with a clear balanced and integrated presentation of major theoretical perspectives foundational to the study of human learning and memory Author Darrell Rudmann uses an engaging personal writing style appropriate for students with little or no previous background in psychology to discuss topics including the major behaviorism theories of learning modern cognitive theories of memory social learning theories the roles of emotion and motivation in learning and the well established neurological underpinnings of these perspectives A concluding chapter on learning and memory concepts in the real world shows students to how these concepts are applied in various industries from advertising to education and the media Communication Disabilities, 1st Ed. James Chambers,2020-03-01

Provides an overview of the different types of communication disorders and their impact on personal social and economic well being recovery and rehabilitation techniques and tips for caregivers Includes facts about rights and benefits of people with communication disabilities and resources for additional help and information The works of Richard Bentley, collected and ed. by A. Dyce Richard Bentley,1838 The Senses and Memory Channele Dupuis,2025-06-17 How are the senses and memory linked What do sensory approaches to research reveal about the functions of memory This edited volume encompasses various interdisciplinary projects that showcase the value of viewing the world through all of the senses and the ways that memory is multisensorial From smell s Proust effect to music s ability to improve memory and mood we remember and memorize the world through sensory input This book expands research on multimodal work the senses and materiality the senses and methodology sensing memories of the past and technology s impact on sensory lives The chapters included cover all the senses as well as the cross modal experience of synesthesia Each chapter further covers concepts related to memory studies ranging from nostalgia traumatic memories and memorials to remembering the past history archives and questions of identity This edited volume is divided into five sections each containing two to three chapters The five sections Sensing Place and Space Art as a Medium of Memory In the Mind of Synesthesia Making Sense of Materiality and Technology and the Sensorium describe different groupings of interest From questions of spatiality to digital life each section invites the reader to explore new developments in the fields of memory studies and sensory studies and new insights on established topics In these intimate critical and penetrating chapters the authors of this book share new visions of what it means to write at the crossroads of the senses and memory and present new methodologies frameworks and pedagogies for examining this interconnection A resource for both research and teaching this volume represents a valuable guide for scholars working in sensory studies and memory studies The hope is that The Senses and Memory will inspire future
