Modern Canada 1930 198:

The Canadian Labour Movement Craig Heron, 2020-06-01 In The Canadian Labour Movement historian Craig Heron and political scientist Charles Smith tell the story of Canada's workers from the midnineteenth century through to today painting a vivid picture of key developments such as the birth of craft unionism the breakthroughs of the fifties and sixties and the setbacks of the early twenty first century The fourth edition of this book has been completely updated with a substantial new chapter that covers the period from the great recession of 2008 through to 2020 In this chapter Smith describes the fallout of the financial crisis how Stephen Harper's government restricted labour rights the rise of the gig economy and precarious work and the continued de industrialization in the private sector These pressures contributed to fracturing the movement as when Unifor the largest private sector union split from the Canadian Labour Congress the established house of labour Through it all rank and file union members have fought for better conditions for all workers including through campaigns like the fight for a 15 minimum wage The Canadian Labour Movement is the definitive book for anyone interested in understanding the origins achievements and challenges of the labour and social justice movements in Canada

Fundamental Concepts of Language Teaching H. H. Stern, 1983-03-24 Professor Stern puts applied linguistics research into its historical and interdisciplinary perspective He gives an authoritative survey of past developments worldwide and establishes a set of guidelines for the future There are six parts Clearing the Ground Historical Perspectives Concepts of Language Concepts of Society Concepts of Language Learning and Concepts of Language Teaching

Industrial Canada, 1929 University of Toronto Studies, 1928 Warrior Nation Ian McKay, Jamie Swift, 2012 Explores the ominous campaign to change a nation's definition of itself Asleep at the Switch Bruce Smardon, 2014-11-01 Since 1960 Canadian industry has lagged behind other advanced capitalist economies in its level of commitment to research and development Asleep at the Switch explains the reasons for this underperformance despite a series of federal measures to spur technological innovation in Canada Bruce Smardon argues that the underlying issue in Canada's longstanding failure to innovate is structural and can be traced to the rapid diffusion of American Fordist practices into the manufacturing sector of the early twentieth century Under the influence of Fordism Canadian industry came to depend heavily on outside sources of new technology particularly from the United States Though this initially brought in substantial foreign capital and led to rapid economic development the resulting branch plant industrial structure led to the prioritization of business interests over transformative and innovative industrial strategies This situation was exacerbated in the early 1960s by the Glassco framework which assumed that the best way for the federal state to foster domestic technological capacity was to fund private sector research and collaborative strategies with private capital Remarkably and with few results federal programs and measures continued to emphasize a market oriented approach Asleep at the Switch details the ongoing attempts by the federal government to increase the level of innovation in Canadian industry but shows

why these efforts have failed to alter the pattern of technological dependency      Liberal Education and the Small University in Canada Christine Storm,1996 Small liberal arts institutions that focus on the undergraduate student have received little attention in the literature on higher education in Canada In this collection of essays contributors set out to redress the situation Focusing on Mount Allison University in New Brunswick they question among other things whether the values and integrity of liberal arts teaching are being preserved and make a case for the important role liberal education at the small university plays in higher education in Canada      Western Society of Engineers Bulletin Western Society of Engineers (Chicago, Ill.),1929      Modern English-Canadian Poetry Peter Stevens,1978      The Burden of German History

1919-45 Michael Laffan,2020-01-08 Originally published in 1988 The Burden of German History 1919 45 examines the vast literature surrounding Weimar years and the National Socialist tragedy daunting even for the specialist historian or political scientist The essays included in this volume provide an invaluable guide to research of the time and provides a stimulating review of a wide range of topics in modern German cultural political economic and military history The essays are based on a series of lectures given by German and Irish scholars to a conference on the theme Weimar Germany and National Socialism which was held in March 1986 in University College Dublin under the auspices of the Goethe Institute Dublin This book offers a significant commentary on a period of German history which included the exciting and ambivalent freedom of the Weimar society and the repressive murderous uniformity of National Socialism      Death So Noble Jonathan F. Vance,2011-11-01 This book examines Canada s collective memory of the First World War through the 1920s and 1930s beginning with the Armistice in 1918 This book deals with cultural history more than military history and looks at art music and literature during World War I Comparable to Modris Eskteins Rites of Spring and Paul Fussell s The Great War and Modern Memory the author draws on a broad range of sources published and unpublished making this book an original contribution to the growing literature dealing with World War I Thematically organized into such subjects as the symbolism of the soldier the implications of war memory for Canadian nationalism and the idea of a just war the book draws on military records memoirs war memorials newspaper reports fiction popular songs and films In each case Vance draws a distinction between the objective realities of the war and the way that contemporaries remember it Death so Noble takes an unorthodox look at the Canadian war experience It views the Great War as a cultural and philosophical force rather than as a political and military event It will be of interest to specialists in First World War history and literature as well as a general audience

The 1930s Jean Clair,Pierre Théberge,2008 On the heels of the Roaring Twenties the 1930s which spanned from the economic crisis of 1929 to the outbreak of the Second World War was a dark decade Beyond similar governmental mechanisms these regimes shared an ideology the will to create what they called the New Man This decade began with a more or less innocent dream of the theme of the original egg germination the harmonious growth of a fabric both biological and social but ended with the nightmarish discovery of the corpses in the concentration camps by the armies of liberation in 1945 BOOK JACKET      Making a Middle Class Paul Axelrod,1990 Using a rich array of archival and quantitative sources and oral testimony from ex students across Canada Axelrod explores the characteristics and significance of university life during a trying decade He describes who went to university what they were taught how they amused themselves how they responded to the pressing political issues of the day and what became of them after graduation Axelrod argues that these students shared the aspirations of middle class communities elsewhere Dreading the prospect of downward social mobility they craved the status a university degree and professional credentials might produce Accordingly they forged an associational life on campus that challenged the control of paternalistic authorities perpetuated the values of middle class culture and helped them cope with the stresses of the time Women composed almost one quarter of the student population and faced discrimination inside and outside the classroom How they coped with this how they adapted their own expectations and how they contributed to campus and community culture are extensively discussed Through the prism of the student experience Making a Middle Class furnishes fresh insights into the social history of higher education the history of youth the history of the middle class and the history of the Depression      The Dignity of Every Human Being Kirk Niergarth,2015-02-26 The Dignity of Every Human Being studies the vibrant New Brunswick artistic community which challenged the tyranny of the Group of Seven with socially engaged realism in the 1930s and 40s Using extensive archival and documentary research Kirk Niergarth follows the work of regional artists such as Jack Humphrey and Miller Brittain writers such as P K Page and crafts workers such as Kjeld and Erica Deichmann The book charts the rise and fall of social modernism in the Maritimes and the style s deep engagement with the social and economic issues of the Great Depression and the Popular Front Connecting local national and international cultural developments Niergarth s study documents the attempts of Depression era artists to question conventional ideas about the nature of art the social function of artists and the institutions of Canadian culture The Dignity of Every Human Being records an important and previously unexplored moment in Canadian cultural history      The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary Ballet Kathrina Farrugia-Kriel,Jill Nunes Jensen,2021 Features viewpoints from dance scholars critics choreographers and dances Highlights contributions from choreographers around the globe Includes a significant range of cultural and historical contexts in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries Book jacket      Material History Review ,1996      The Social and the Real: Political Art of the 1930s in the Western Hemisphere ,2006      Municipal Reference Library Notes ,1929      Modern Irrigation ,1927      A History of Canadian Legal Thought R. C. B. Risk,Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History,2006-01-01 This volume in the Osgoode Society s distinguished series on the history of Canadian law is a collection of the principal essays of Professor Emeritus R C B Risk one of the pioneers of Canadian legal history and for many years regarded as its foremost authority on the history of Canadian legal thought Frank Scott Bora Laskin W P M Kennedy John Willis and Edward Blake are among the better known figures whose thinking and writing about law are featured in this collection But this compilation of the most important essays by a pioneer in Canadian legal history brings to light many other lesser known figures as well whose writings covered a wide range of topics from estoppel to the British North America Act to the purpose of legal education Written over more than two decades and covering the immediate post Confederation period to the 1960s these essays reveal a distinctive Canadian tradition of thinking about the nature and functions of law one which Risk clearly takes pride in and urges us to celebrate
