Modern European Culture Consciousness 1870 198:

The Architecture of James Stirling and His Partners James Gowan and Michael Wilford Geoffrey H. Baker, 2016-12-05 Sir James Stirling was arguably the greatest British architect of the twentieth century This book provides the most comprehensive critical survey of Stirling's work to date charting the development of his ideas from his formative years through his partnership with James Gowan on to his period in practice as sole partner and finally his partnership with Michael Wilford Using archival material extensive interviews with his partners and others who worked for him together with analytical examination of key buildings this detailed critical examination explains his philosophy working method and design strategy In doing so it sheds new light on the atelier structure of his office and who did what on his major buildings Geoffrey Baker is the first to analyse in depth the articulation systems used in major projects undertaken by Stirling He confirms that the Staatsgalerie complex at Stuttgart does not demonstrate Stirling's interest in post modernism but rather an enhanced sensitivity towards context informed by his growing allegiance to the classical canon Baker explains how this important development in his work powerfully influenced by Karl Friedrich Schinkel is consummated in perhaps the finest of Stirling's uncompleted works the extension to London's National Gallery In a discussion of his mature works Baker explains how Stirling's work can be understood in terms of several interconnected ideas These include surrealism historicism myth and metaphor inconsistency and ambiguity bilateral symmetry the garden rusticity and arcadia and the archetype seen as the repository of the collective architectural memory As well as discussing his interests and those who influenced Stirling the book compares his oeuvre with that of the pioneers of modern architecture Mies van der Rohe Frank Lloyd Wright Alvar Aalto and Le Corbusier This book charts a remarkable career and offers invaluable insights not only into the masterly timeless architecture but also into the man himself charismatic irreverent courageous serious sometimes rude often stubborn belligerent yet gentle He was endlessly inventive and deeply dedicated to his art producing buildings that reflect all of the above buildings that are magnificent and ultimately humane Towards a History of Consciousness Vwadek P.

Marciniak, 2006 Towards a History of Consciousness Space Time and Death offers a cogent and compelling discussion of the neglected topic of the history of consciousness An analysis of our postmodern ontology reveals deep but neglected roots What are those roots and how did they grow Is there a self without consciousness What is the relation of the self to the individual Does the recognition of death contribute to the growth of consciousness As a survey of western history this work pushes the boundaries of the understanding of consciousness in intriguing and sometimes provocative directions This integrative study is intended for the serious curious student and thinker Choice, 1998 European Regions, 1870 - 2020 Jordi Martí-Henneberg, 2021-08-20 This volume explains the national and regional border modifications that took place in Europe from 1870 to 2020 It provides insights that allow us to understand boundary changes for several different levels of territorial organization The text describes the state formation process related to the regional administrative structures in each European country and offers insight into the degree of centralization historically by describing the extent of legislative autonomy at different administrative levels and the competences reserved for each of them The book sheds light on the complex regional organization of Europe and the difficulties its reform has faced The main audience will be academics and PhD Masters students working in a variety of geography fields and the maps included in each chapter will also be of interest to a broader audience including undergraduate and secondary school students wishing to better understand the political history of Europe

Free Will and the Human Sciences in Britain, 1870-1910 Roger Smith,2015-07-28 From the late nineteenth century onwards religion gave way to science as the dominant force in society This led to a questioning of the principle of free will if the workings of the human mind could be reduced to purely physiological explanations then what place was there for human agency and self improvement Smith takes an in depth look at the problem of free will through the prism of different disciplines Physiology psychology philosophy evolutionary theory ethics history and sociology all played a part in the debates that took place His subtly nuanced navigation through these arguments has much to contribute to our understanding of Victorian and Edwardian science and culture as well as having relevance to current debates on the role of genes in determining behaviour

British Identities before Nationalism Colin Kidd,1999-03-13 Inspired by debates among political scientists over the strength and depth of the pre modern roots of nationalism this study attempts to gauge the status of ethnic identities in an era whose dominant loyalties and modes of political argument were confessional institutional and juridical Colin Kidd s point of departure is the widely shared orthodox belief that the whole world had been peopled by the offspring of Noah In addition Kidd probes inconsistencies in national myths of origin and ancient constitutional claims and considers points of contact which existed in the early modern era between ethnic identities which are now viewed as antithetical including those of Celts and Saxons He also argues that Gothicism qualified the notorious Francophobia of eighteenth century Britons A wide ranging example of the new British history this study draws upon evidence from England Scotland Ireland and America while remaining alert to European comparisons and influences

1926--[Supplement] 1926/31 Marion Louise Horton,Isabella Mitchell Cooper,1933 Living with Religious Diversity in Early-Modern Europe Dagmar Freist,2016-12-05 Current scholarship continues to emphasise both the importance and the sheer diversity of religious beliefs within early modern societies Furthermore it continues to show that despite the wishes of secular and religious leaders confessional uniformity was in many cases impossible to enforce As the essays in this collection make clear many people in Reformation Europe were forced to confront the reality of divided religious loyalties and this raised issues such as the means of accommodating religious minorities who refused to conform and the methods of living in communion with those of different faiths Drawing together a number of case studies from diverse parts of Europe Living with Religious Diversity in Early Modern Europe explores the processes involved when groups of differing confessions had to live in close proximity sometimes grudgingly but often with a benign pragmatism that stood in opposition to the will of their rulers By focussing on these themes the volume bridges the gap between our understanding of the confessional developments as they were conceived as normative visions and religious culture at the level of implementation The contributions thus measure the religious policies articulated by secular and ecclesiastical elites against the lived experience of people going about their daily business In doing this the collection shows how people perceived and experienced the religious upheavals of the confessional age and how they were able to assimilate these changes within the framework of their lives

A.L.A. Catalog, 1932-1936 Marion Horton, 1938 Art and Ideology in European Opera Rachel Cowgill, David Cooper, Clive Brown, 2010 Opera that most extravagant of the performing arts is infused with the contexts of power brokering and cultural display in which it was conceived and experienced For individual operas such contexts have shifted over time and new meanings emerged often quite remote from those intended by the original collaborators but tracing this ideological dimension in a work's creation and reception enables us to understand its cultural and political role more clearly sometimes conflicting with its status as art and sometimes enhancing it This collection is a Festschrift in honour of Julian Rushton one of the most distinguished opera scholars of his generation and highly regarded for his innovative studies of Gluck Mozart and Berlioz among many others Colleagues associates and former students pay tribute to his work with essays highlighting the interplay between opera art and ideology across three centuries Three broad themes are opened up from a variety of approaches nationalism cosmopolitanism and national opera opera class and the politics of enlightenment and opera and otherness British opera is represented by studies of Grabu Purcell Dibdin Holst Stanford and Britten but the collection sustains a truly European perspective rounded out with essays on French opera funding Bizet Mozart Mendelssohn Verdi Puccini Janacek Nielsen Rimsky Korsakov and Schreker Several works receive some of their first extended discussion in English

Visions of the Press in Britain, 1850-1950 Mark Hampton, 2004 Hampton surveys a diversity of sources to demonstrate that British theories of the press were intimately tied to definitions of the public and the emergence of mass democracy in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries
