The City Documents Lynn (Mass.), 1908 Places that the map can't contain: Poetics in the Anthropocene Julia Fiedorczuk, Paweł Piszczatowski, 2023-07-10 Inspired by Lynn Keller's notion of the self-conscious Anthropocene the book sets out to consider poetry as a privileged space for rethinking our basic epistemological assumptions Poetry does not have the kind of agency a direct political intervention has in fact as W. H. Auden famously put it poetry makes nothing happen On the other hand poetry is crucial when it comes to awakening our individual and collective imagination Considering the statement by Lawrence Buell that the current ecological crisis is in the first place a crisis of the imagination this function of poetry comes through as particularly important

The Children's Reading Frances Jenkins Olcott, 1912
School Documents [of The] Boston Public Schools, 1892 Poetry Notebook: Reflections on the Intensity of Language Clive James, 2015-03-30 Legendary poet and critic Clive James provides an unforgettably eloquent book on how to read and appreciate modern poetry Since its initial publication Poetry Notebook has become a must-read for any lover of poetry Somewhat of an iconoclast Clive James gets to the heart of truths about poetry not always addressed some hard but always firmly committed to celebration Martin Amis He presents a distillation of all he's learned about the art form that matters to him most James examines the poems and legacies of a panorama of twentieth-century poets from Hart Crane to Ezra Pound a mad old amateur fascist with a panscopic grab bag from Ted Hughes to Anne Sexton Whether demanding that poetry be heard beyond the world of letters or opining on his five favorite poets Yeats Frost Auden Wilbur and Larkin his generosity of attention his willingness to trawl through pages of verse in search of the hair-raising line is his most appealing quality as a critic Adam Kirsch Wall Street Journal The Long Apprenticeship David Pierce, 2012 After an established career as a literary critic David Pierce turns his attention to the story of his own life From a working-class upbringing to an education in Catholic boarding schools and seminaries in Sussex and Surrey and then onto university at Lancaster his story is both personal and evocative of the changes that Britain underwent from the post-war period until the present With chapters on his father's lost Jewish family and his mother's Irish heritage this is a memoir that celebrates continuity and difference Whether as a child witnessing the disappearing house dances in the west of Ireland or commenting on the impact of change and the new Pierce is a compelling storyteller who lets us into the chosen scene with a mixture of emotional engagement honesty and humour In Pierce's record of his life his writing is sensitive thoughtful and committed At each stage he digs deep to reflect on what was happening to him and these reflections ensure that the reading experience is both full and rewarding Whether he is discussing his earliest memories or a photo of himself as the eleven year old boy he once knew each episode is part of a larger inquiry into the nature of consciousness and how we record and internalise the world On every page we are invited to reflect with Pierce on what we are reading and on what constitutes the material that comprises a memoir We accompany the author from a destiny obscure to a prose writer of distinction The Long Apprenticeship which contains 28 illustrations will appeal to fans of biographies and memoirs It covers the following life experiences the discovery of oneself as a writer the process involved in writing a memoir and in the uncovering of memory the attention to the self within a social history the effect of a religious upbringing and the recuperation of the self thereafter Thinking about the purpose of a memoir David said A memoir is like an underground stream that comes to the surface You write for those who have gone before and for posterity as much as for yourself

The Intertextuality and Intermediality of the Anglophone Popular Song Michael Ingham, 2022-09-07 Popular song is a liminal hybrid form of cultural production As a manifestation of adaptation studies it has lacked visibility by comparison with more dominant adaptation practices especially those for the screen This book serves to fill this gap It investigates what songwriters read and write before they start singing showing that they need either to adapt material from existing sources or write their own lyrics drawn from a wide range of source texts and personal experiences They are subject to myriad influences and among these are other song lyrics poems novels plays films and hybrid cultural forms This deep structure intertextuality is embedded in the cultural flux of language and operates at both conscious and subconscious levels This book thus explores the complex and multifarious intertextual connections between popular songs of various genres styles and eras and literary works including but by no means limited to the Bible and Shakespeare As such it offers a valuable resource by exploring the deep intertextual significance of literary source material for the intellectual and emotional diversity that can be found in the popular song form the inverse reciprocal relationship while much less common is also considered in the study
