rational thought is molded and determined in forceful ways by various elements that lie outside the free choices of an

Domesticating the Invisible Melissa S. Ragain,2021-01-12 Domesticating the Invisible examines how postwar notions of form developed in response to newly perceived environmental threats in turn inspiring artists to model plastic composition on natural systems often invisible to the human eye Melissa S Ragain focuses on the history of art education in Cambridge Massachusetts to understand how an environmental approach to form inspired new art programs at Harvard and MIT As they embraced scientific theories of composition these institutions also cultivated young artists as environmental agents who could influence urban design and contribute to an ecologically sensitive public sphere Ragain combines institutional and intellectual histories to map how the emergency of environmental crisis altered foundational modernist assumptions about form transforming questions about aesthetic judgment into questions about an ethical relationship to the environment

(God) After Auschwitz Zachary Braiterman, 1998-12-13 The impact of technology enhanced mass death in the twentieth century argues Zachary Braiterman has profoundly affected the future shape of religious thought In his provocative book the author shows how key Jewish theologians faced the memory of Auschwitz by rejecting traditional theodicy abandoning any attempt to justify and vindicate the relationship between God and catastrophic suffering The author terms this rejection Antitheodicy the refusal to accept that relationship It finds voice in the writings of three particular theologians Richard Rubenstein Eliezer Berkovits and Emil Fackenheim This book is the first to bring postmodern philosophical and literary approaches into conversation with post Holocaust Jewish thought Drawing on the work of Mieke Bal Harold Bloom Jacques Derrida Umberto Eco Michel Foucault and others Braiterman assesses how Jewish intellectuals reinterpret Bible and Midrash to re create religious thought for the age after Auschwitz In this process he provides a model for reconstructing Jewish life and philosophy in the wake of the Holocaust His work contributes to the postmodern turn in contemporary Jewish studies and today s creative theology

Orthodoxy: The Fundamentalist Argument , Romanticism and Civilization Mark Kremer, 2017-05-18 Romanticism and Civilization examines romantic alternatives to modern life in Rousseau s foundational novel Julie It argues that Julie is a response to the ills of modern civilization and that Rousseau saw that the Enlightenment's combination of science and of democracy degraded human life by making it bourgeois. The bourgeois is man uprooted by science and attached to nothing but himself. He lives a commercial life and his materialism and calculations penetrate all aspects of his existence. He is neither citizen nor family man nor lover in any serious sense; his life is meaningless. Rousseau's romanticism in Julie is an attempt to find connectedness through the sentiments of private life and wholeness through love, marriage and family. The Cambridge History of Africa J. D. Fage, Roland Anthony Oliver, 1975. After the prehistory of Volume I, Volume II deals with the beginnings of history from 500 B.C. to A.D. 1050. Max Weber and the New Century Alan Sica, 2017-12-02. The most profound and enduring social theorist of sociology's classical period, Max Weber speaks as cogently to concerns of the new century as he did to those of the past. Over the past seventy years, those special ideas that have become identified as Weberian have become especially pertinent to those who would analyze today's socioeconomic and cultural life. They offer the possibility of a more acute understanding of our immediate future than reliance on the ideas of any other social theorist in the pantheon. Alan Sica demonstrates Weber's preeminent position and lasting vitality within social theory by applying them to topics of contemporary concern. The result will appeal to experts and novices alike. Max Weber and the New Century documents the continuing usefulness of Weber's unrivalled social thought. Sica offers a series of linked studies that treat Weber's concept of rationalization as expressed in different cultural forms: the role of Weberian ideas in contemporary historiography; the uses of Weber's image in the popular imagination; the rhetorical structure of Economy and Society; and Weber's relationship to modern philosophical thought. Conceptually and practically, this volume is a companion piece to the author's forthcoming Max Weber: A Comprehensive Bibliography, a 3,600-item bibliography of works by and about Weber in English, which for the first time will allow scholars to explore the universe of Weberian analysis. Max Weber and the New Century is a valuable addition to the library of social scientists, historians, philosophers, economists, and students of intellectual history. It shows that Weber, the scholar as much as his ideas, continues to inspire fruitful social and cultural analyses. Christian Apologetics Past and Present (Volume 2, From 1500) William Edgar, K. Scott Oliphant, 2011-09-13. Amid a revival of apologetics, few things could be more useful than an acquaintance with how Christian faith was defended down through the ages, say the editors in their introduction to this two-part anthology. Access to both historical and contemporary texts gives us fresh insight into how our fathers in the faith responded to the questions facing them. Volume 2 in this one-of-a-kind resource takes a sweeping look at apologetics from the Reformation to the present. Readings from twenty-six apologists including Martin Luther, John Calvin, Blaise Pascal, Jonathan Edwards, Søren Kierkegaard, Francis Schaeffer, Alvin Plantinga, and William Lane Craig are included. With editorial commentary and questions for reflection, Christian Apologetics Past and Present will prove a valuable text for students as well as a unique resource for those interested in defending the faith. Narrating the Self Tomi Suzuki, 1996. Narrating the Self examines the historical formation of modern Japanese literature through a fundamental reassessment of its most characteristic form the I novel an autobiographical narrative thought to recount the details of the writer's personal life thinly veiled as fiction. Closely analysing a range of texts from the late nineteenth century through to the present day the author argues that the I novel is not a given form of text that can be objectively identified but a historically constructed reading mode and cultural paradigm that not only regulated the production and reception of literary texts but also defined cultural identity and national tradition. Instead of emphasising as others have the thematic and formal elements of novels traditionally placed in this category she explores the historical formation of a field of discourse in which the I novel was retroactively created and defined.

The Satanward View James Kallas, 2020-01-30 I have written what I would call descriptive theology as differentiated from what could be termed applied theology. That is my primary attempt has been to show what the motifs and concepts of the New Testament meant to those people then rather than to seek to show what they might mean to us today. Only rarely and only in passing have I tried to apply. Put another way my main attempt has not been to apply these truths to our time. Indeed I am often cognizant of the fact that I cannot. I am uncomfortable with many of the conclusions that have been forced on me by these studies. My purpose then is not to argue for the relevancy of these motifs as much as it is to point out the danger we face if we fail to reckon seriously with the obvious intent of some very obvious New Testament language.
